Explosion Rips Railroad Car At Portage

Propellant Fuel Was Being Taken To Badger Ordnance

PORTAGE, Wis. (AP) — A railroad car carrying propellant fuel to an Army ordnance plant exploded in a freight yard Tuesday night, rattling communities 50 miles away but causing little distress in this central Wisconsin community.

There were no injuries. The blast demolished the boxcar carrying 640 drums of propellant, caused a fire that damaged six other cars, and illuminated the night sky in cities 50 miles away.

But although witnesses in Oshkosh more than 40 miles to the northeast reported having felt a concussion, there was little shock felt in Portage itself.

Firefighter Clayton Simonson was driving a fire truck across a viaduct over the railroad tracks less than 200 feet from the car when it exploded.

Fire Engine

Yet he said he thought at the moment it was his truck that had exploded.

His truck and another fire engine were returning from a hose-testing session. The two crews promptly attacked flames which spread from the demolished car to trackside grass areas.

Flames were brought under control in minutes, except in two freight cars which, carrying lumber, smouldered four hours later.

The Milwaukee Road freight train was en route to Chicago from Minneapolis.

Fire officials said the 640 drums of propellant were being shipped by a New Jersey explosives firm to the Army's Badger munitions plant in Baraboo.

Passing Engines

Large metal portions of the car were hurled 100 feet, one of them clattering onto the pavement of the viaduct near the passing fire engines.

Simonson said firefighters initially assumed the car had been a tank car containing chemicals or liquid petroleum gas. He said it was too thoroughly destroyed to be immediately recognized as a box car.

The blast knocked down power lines, leaving portions of Portage without electric service for several hours.

Residents in Madison 40 miles to the south reported seeing a flash against the night sky.

Persons 50 miles away in Fort Atkinson said house lights dimmed simultaneously with the flash.

But a Portage resident remarked: "There didn't seem to be much of a concussion here—just a big bang."

"All there was to see around the tracks was some grass fires," he said.

Judy Bochenski of Eugene, Ore., a member of the United States table tennis team, shakes hands with Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai today in Peking.

A New Era, Chou Tells Americans

PEKING (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai told a U.S. table tennis delegation today their visit to mainland China had opened "a new page in relations" between the peoples of China and the United States.

He added he believed their visit would lead to visits soon of more Americans, including newsmen.

Chou, 73, regarded as Red China's leading moderate, spoke at a two-hour reception for table tennis teams from the United States, Britain, Canada, Nigeria and Colombia. They were invited to visit Communist China when the world table tennis championships ended in Japan a week ago.

Chou En-lai

Chou asked the 15-member U.S. delegation—the first American group to visit the People's Republic of China—to extend the regards of the Chinese people to the American people.

Numerous Exchanges

"In the past," he said, "exchanges between the peoples of China and the United States have been very numerous. They have been cut off for a long time. Now, with your acceptance of our invitation, you have opened a new page in the relations of the Chinese and American people. I am confident that this beginning again of our friendship will certainly meet with the majority support of our two peoples."

Chou paused, then asked the Americans: "Don't you agree with me?"

The Americans applauded.

Chou, who had recognized me earlier despite my absence of 23 years from mainland China, then turned to me and in a reference to visits by more American newsmen said: "Mr. Roderick, you have opened the door."

Deeper Understanding

I replied that the presence of U.S. correspondents could lead to deeper understanding between our two countries.

Jack Howard of Seattle, Wash., the captain of the American team, told Chou he hoped a Chinese team would come to the United States.

Chou said this was up to Graham Steenhoven, the president of the U.S. Table Tennis Association, and Steenhoven said afterward the Chinese had been invited to the United States.

Chou said China wants to have contacts with all countries, even those which it has no diplomatic relations.

More Friends

Chou said many "American friends" came to China in the past.

"You have made a start here, and I believe in the future more American friends will come to China," he said.

The peoples of China and the United States will "in the near future be able to have many contacts," he went on. "I believe it will not be slow in coming."

During the reception in the Great Hall of the Peoples in the heart of the Chinese capital, Chou also engaged in a philosophical discussion of hippies with 19-year-old Glenn Cowan of Santa Monica, Calif., whose long hair and outlandish garb have been the talk of the Chinese.

The rest of the time he joked and bantered with the players.

This morning the Americans visited the Summer Palace, the vast and airy assemblage of lakes, pavilions and palaces built by the Manchu emperors seven miles northwest of the city. The emperors' presence is sensed by the grandeur of the conception but everywhere there are reminders of the Communist revolution and Chairman Mao Tse-tung, depicted in photographs, murals, statues and slogans.

Palace Impressive

Prof. Tim Bogan, 40, of Merrick, N.Y., a player-official, said he was impressed with the "fantastic close workmanship, the maze and symmetry of the place, the greenness, the lake, the island, the pagoda design, the stone work, the grills, the color."

"It's fantastic," said young Cowan. "The most beautiful place I've seen since we've been here. It's gorgeous."

Cowan himself was the cynosure of a thousand Chinese eyes in his flaring purple corduroy, trousers, blue denim jacket, his usual floppy suede hat and a Mao badge.

John Tannehill, 18, of Middleport, Ohio, recovering from chills, headache and stomach trouble, his roommate, George Braithwaite of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Jack Howard of Seattle, Wash., remained at the Hsin Chiao Hotel while the rest of the group went to the Summer Palace. But all were on hand for the meeting with Chou.

Display of Tact

The U.S. players met a Chinese team Tuesday before 18,000 cheering enthusiasts in a match that could be described as an exquisite display of Chinese tact and politeness.

The Chinese are among the world's best at the swift-moving game. They could have fielded powerful players and humiliated their American guests. But they didn't, and the Chinese men won by a score of only 5 to 3, while in the women's division the score was 5-4.

"They played us in what they had billed as a friendly match, and I believe their selection of players and the match they played were unquestionably friendly, since they provided entertainment for thousands of people rather than trying to destroy us with a quick victory," said Steenhoven, 59.

"We are sure they used this demonstration as a means of providing their younger players a chance to learn something from the American-type game. The whole world is aware of the strength of the Chinese players. They could have humiliated us if they wished."

New Troops Go to Base 6

Fight Raging Around Besieged Outpost In Highlands Area

SAIGON (AP) — More fighting raged near Fire Base 6 today, and a U.S. helicopter lifted out four of the five American advisers at the besieged outpost in the central highlands.

Meanwhile, 4,000 South Vietnamese reinforcements poured into the area.

The Americans were not wounded, and no reason was given for bringing them out. But there was speculation that they were exhausted by the two-week-old siege and were being given a rest.

Field reports said that when the helicopter landed at the base, about 40 South Vietnamese soldiers swarmed to it trying to flee from the base.

Some Flown Out

Eight of them got into the chopper and were flown out with the Americans. Others tried to hang on to the landing skids—as South Vietnamese troops did during the retreat from Laos—but the pilots kicked them off.

The new fighting broke out half a mile northwest of the base Tuesday night and lasted until shortly before noon.

South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon claimed 96 North Vietnamese killed in the battle today, 50 of them by artillery and by U.S. and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers. A spokesman claimed more than 2,500 of the enemy have been killed since the North Vietnamese first attacked the base in the western central highlands two weeks ago. Other sources estimated the enemy toll at perhaps 1,500.

The lead column of the eight relief battalions reached the hilltop base near the juncture of the Laotian and Cambodian borders Tuesday night without encountering opposition.

Economic Aides Suddenly Are Optimistic

Report of Quickened Rate of Growth Has Been Forecast

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the evidence due later this week, White House economic advisers suddenly are brimming with optimism over the nation's economic performance in the first three months of the year.

"We are not only going to see a strong gain," predicted chief economic adviser Paul W. McCracken, "but there is some evidence the pace of the economy quickened as we moved toward the end of the first quarter."

McCracken, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, referred to the upcoming release of gross national product figures, the output of the country's goods and services in January, February and March.

Although other statistical indicators have pointed to a possible weak showing by GNP during the first quarter, McCracken sees the situation differently.

Sales Increases

He told newsmen Tuesday auto sales and retail sales, in particular, stepped up sharply during the last part of the three-month period.

"This is usually a harbinger of things to come in the economy," he said. As to the impact on reducing inflation and unemployment, "It'll take a little time. It always does."

GNP, the broadest measure of the pace of the economy, is tentatively scheduled to be released Friday. The council has predicted it will grow by 9 per cent this year and has stuck by the prediction despite lower forecasts by private economists.

The faster growth of the economy, as the council sees it, is supposed to bring down unemployment to 4.5 per cent and reduce the rate of inflation to 3 per cent by mid-1972.

Growth Target

The administration is shooting for a first-quarter growth of about $30 billion in GNP to keep the economy on the track Nixon has laid out. His advisers are hoping a strong rebound in auto production will provide most of the early impetus.

McCracken made his comments on the economy's performance as the White House released its third "inflation alert," a report on wage and price developments in the last three months.

The alert said the steel industry would be hurt by sharply reduced employment and its competitive position would be jeopardized if steelworkers win a large increase in wages during upcoming negotiations.

Pine Bluff Changeover

Chemicals for Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government today began the first major conversion of its chemical and biological war complex to peaceful uses.

A Defense Department plant at Pine Bluff, Ark., that once developed killer germs will become a center for research into the effects on man of everyday chemicals.

In line with President Nixon's announcement last November ending production of chemicals and germ warfare agents, the Defense Dtpartment is presenting to the Food and Drug Administration a "right of entry" letter, that begins the new role for a portion of the Pine Bluff arsenal.

Within one year, the FDA and other federal units are scheduled to occupy all 33 buildings at Pine Bluff.

They will constitute the new National Center for Toxicological Research investigating long-term health effects of food additives, industrial and household chemicals, pesticides, cosmetics and drugs.

Extend Knowledge

The purpose, said FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards in remarks prepared for a ceremony at Pine Bluff, is "to extend our knowledge of the chronic, persistent and often insidious effects of an increasing array of chemical substances found in man's environment.

"Through past research we already know many of the short-term effects of high rates of exposure to chemicals. This is the easy part.

"But this center hopefully will enable us to develop a vital new knowledge about cumulative effects and possible connection to mutations, birth defects, cancer, or other diseases and debilities."

Edwards emphasized the center is intended to be not a national testing laboratory but a research complex that will develop test methods for others to employ.

"The work here will in no way relieve manufacturers of their individual responsibilities for assuring the safety of their own products," he said.

Environmental groups, some scientists and members of Congress have recently questioned the long-term safety of common chemicals, particularly food additives and pesticides.

Possibility Still Exists

Vietnam Volunteer Program Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration appears to have backed off the idea of sending only volunteers to Vietnam.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday the possibility is still under study, but spoke of enlistment problems and reservation about asking soldiers to volunteer for war duty.

Within a few months, the number of U.S. troops in Vietnam will have reached a level at which Laird had said previously it might be possible to assign only volunteers, as was done before the big American buildup began in 1965.

"The study we have," Laird said in January 1970, "would indicate that you would have to have a force of between 200,000 and 240,000 before you could entertain a new program that would limit your forces in Vietnam to volunteers."

184,000 Men

President Nixon announced last week he would withdraw another 100,000 troops by Dec. 1, bringing the U.S. force down to 184,000 men.

But when asked at a Tuesday news conference when it would be possible to send only volunteers to Vietnam, Laird replied this could seriously affect the administration's efforts to raise an army without the draft, a mid-1973 goal.

"There are certain problems if we split the all-volunteer force up and apply it just to South Vietnam and not as a worldwide sort of proposition," he explained.

After personally interviewing enlisted men and officers, Laird said, he found many volunteers are willing to serve in Vietnam. "But it's rather difficult to go home and explain to one's wife and family that they have decided they want to go to Vietnam and serve a year or two years.

"They can go home and explain this very easily if they are actually ordered to serve there," he said. Nevertheless, the defense chief said, it's a matter "we continue to study."

Pentagon sources said the idea of sending only volunteers to Vietnam was an attractive one a year ago, but now officials are leery of it.

"Studies show it's so complex and would have a serious impact on the military's over-all manpower system," these sources said.

Will it ever become a reality? "The odds aren't very good."

Rural Neenah Man Dies

Ex-Wife Held in Slaying

NEENAH — A rural Wisconsin Rapids mother of six was to be arraigned this afternoon in Winnebago County Court on a first degree murder charge in the shooting death of her ex-husband, Mack Harn, 57, route 1, Neenah.

Mrs. Harn, 53, was being held in the Winnebago jail under a $50,000 bond set by County Judge James V. Sitter.

Coroner Duane Moore said that a postmortem examination was scheduled for late this morning at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, Neenah. He said that he would review all the facts of the case and confer with Dist. Atty. William Carver on legal proceedings before deciding whether to hold an inquest.

Details Checked

Harn died at 8:53 a.m. today at Theda Clark of a single gunshot wound in the abdomen. Lt. Wilbur Fuller, Winnebago Sheriff's Department detective, said the wound was from a .22 caliber rifle found at the scene and owned by Mrs. Harn.

Mrs. Harn found out that her ex-husband had died as she was about to be arraigned on a charge of attempting to murder him.

She was set to be arraigned at 9:30 a. m. today on a charge of attempted first degree murder.

Shortly after 9:30, she was asked out in the hall outside the courtroom by Winnebago County sheriff's investigators. She was then told that Harn had died.

When she returned to the courtroom, she sat alongside a county jail matron, sobbing and clutching at the hair brush, cigarettes, matches, glasses and other items held in her hands.

A county police investigator gave her a handkerchief to wipe away the tears.

Shortly thereafter, Mrs. Harn was escorted from the courtroom and transported back to county jail in Oshkosh to await arraignment at 2 p.m. today.

It was shortly after 3:20 p.m. Tuesday when Neenah police were notified of the incident at the Harn home south of Neenah. Authorities said an anonymous caller asked an operator for an ambulance at the address.

Police do not know who the caller was. The directions given were apparently vague, however, because the Menasha city ambulance first went to the intersection of State 150 and U.S. 45.

Authorities said an ex-policemen driving in the area heard of the incident over a police radio in his car and tipped them off to the whereabouts of the shooting.

There was a witness at the scene, according to Moore who said more information on this would be released at a planned 1:30 p.m. news conference. However, it was learned later and disabled aid.

The county's cost for Medical Assistance in each of these categories during 1970 were as follows:

Old Age Assistance — $192,081; Aid to Families with Dependent Children — $49,082; Blind Aid — $3,103; Aid to Disabled — $69,707.

Money payments to families with dependent children were $346,880 in 1970, with $230,851 of this reimbursed.

Aids Children

The A.F.D.C. program cares for dependent children in their own homes or in the homes of relatives. Department children are those children who are deprived of parental support or care because of the death, continued absence from the home or incapacitation of the parent.

There were 139 cases in this program at the beginning of 1970; 98 new cases were accepted; 94 cases were discontinued and there were 143 remaining at the end of the year. In addition, there were 43 children in foster homes and three in institutions at the end of 1970.

Payette said, "The one bright hope of this program is the Work Incentive program, commonly called WIN. Its goal is to develop capacities and motivation of individual family members with a potential for self-support through job placement, education and training.

"In March, 1969, there were 33 enrollees in the WIN program and at the end of 1970 there were 16 enrollees. There were 12 who had been employed 1-6 months. Seven cases were closed with employment, and three supplemented by employment.

"The 12 enrollees who have been employed brought a reduction of $1,656 in welfare payments."

The county cost for blind aid was $2,882 and the number on the program remains about the same from year to year.

The county cost for aid to the disabled was $80,256. The medical costs were exceptionally high in this category the past year, because the disabled person requires more than the usual amount of medical care, plus the fact that 26 cases are residing in the Colonies.

Expenditures for administration of the department totalled $204,318 during the past year. Federal and State reimbursements were $167,362 and the county's share was 18 per cent, or $35,956.

would be possible to figure the cost on a per hour formula which could be charged back to the indigent defendant.

To Start June 1

Schreiter also said he does not think the county would have any trouble finding attorneys to fill the two posts. They would start work June 1 if the board approves the plan next Tuesday.

In other business Tuesday, the courts committee:

— Recommended that part-time clerical help be hired for Clayton Smith, the county's Huber Law officer. The committee agreed that Smith needs assistance in his record keeping functions so he would have more time to seek jobs for prisoners jailed under the work release program.

— Adopted a resolution seeking an additional $1,500 expenditure to cover the county's share of the cost of a court study by the Institute for Judicial Administration. The board in February approved a $1,000 expenditure but it was since learned $2,500 would be needed. The county has applied for federal funding to cover part of the cost.

— Designated the clerk of courts office as the central record keeping facility for the county's indigent reimbursement system. The designation was made in an attempt to eliminate confusion that has resulted from several county offices collecting and classifying the collections.

— Heard from County Administrator Alvin E. Woehler that he will submit the name of a corporation counsel nominee to the board next Tuesday. Woehler said however, that it may be some time before the attorney, if he is approved for appointment, can clear up the business in his own office. Woehler has not revealed the name of the candidate.

New London Project

Jaycees Announce 75 Sand Requests

NEW LONDON — Response to the Jaycees "Sandbox Fill" project has been overwhelming, according to committee members. More than 75 requests have been submitted

The annual project provides free washed sand for home sandboxes, delivered at no charge by Jaycee members. Deadline for the program is Friday.

People who want sand should call 982-4701 during the day Deliveries will begin the week of April 26

The Jaycee auction committee reminded area residents to save any saleable items, that may be discarded during spring cleaning, for the Jaycee auction scheduled June 12.

Portable items can be taken to Wisconsin Finance, Murphy-Meartz Insurance, and the New London National Bank.

The Jaycees will pick up items that are too bulky to be dropped off. For pickup persons are asked to call 982-2008, 982-3631, or 982-5775.

Proceeds from the auction will go towards the Jaycee's mortgage on the Pfeifer Park shelter.

Hospital Needs Help For Reception Desk

CLINTONVILLE — Volunteer workers are needed for the reception desk at the Clintonville Community Hospital, auxiliary members were told at a meeting this week.

The work includes visitor card checking, sorting and delivering mail and delivering plants and gifts.

Interested persons should contact Mrs. Forest Schafer.

Girl and Boy Scout troops, 4-H Clubs and any other groups are welcome to assist in making holiday tray favors for patients. Mrs. Chet Jurkovac is in charge of the project.

Magazines Needed

New magazines are needed for the hospital lobby. Persons who have recent editions in their homes and no longer want them are asked to drop them off at the hospital. Mrs. Fred Holmes is checking the subscription list and making renewals.

Over 60 Easter Bunnies were sold by the auxiliary in the gift shop during the Easter season. The group will sponsor a gift shop in the hospital addition also. Items will be made by members.

Some 32 Girl Scouts are making toys for the Treasure Chest. These gifts are for hospitalized children to play with during their stay in the hospital and to take home when they are discharged.

Mrs. Arthur Tornow, a retired practical nurse, presented a topic on the "Early Days of the Hospital."

Members are reminded to renew their memberships in the auxiliary now.

Power Firm Official Receives Transfer

MARION — Kenneth Halpop, operating assistant for Wisconsin Power and Light Co. for the past eight years, has been transferred to Mineral Point, where he will be assistant operating superintendent for the Southwest Division.

Halpop, who has been associated with the power company for 23 years, began his career here in Marion after he returned from military service during World War II. After seven years, he was transferred to Wautoma, but returned to Marion in five years. He will begin his new duties on April 19. His family will move to Mineral Point after school is out.

Graduates From Kimberly Class Continue School

KIMBERLY — A survey by the high school guidance department reveals that 39 per cent of the 1970 graduating class are continuing some type of education, according to Principal Darrell Larson.

Of this amount, 25.4 per cent are enrolled in four-year colleges. Wisconsin State Universities attracted 37 students, University of Wisconsin reports eight students and seven are attending private schools. Twenty-three students are enrolled in technical schools and five are in other schools.

Eighteen graduates are working in the paper industry, 82 are employed in other areas, 14 are in military service, six of the girls are housewifes, eight are unemployed and the department was unable to locate three students.

Smith Is Chairman Of Waupaca Board

Lloyd Eggleston, Clintonville city clerk, pointed out that the number of persons seeking general relief is increasing with rising unemployment and people moving into the area; that determining eligibility is growing more complicated and that some areas are hit with high costs.

He suggested that the Department of Social Services has a qualified staff to handle the claims more equitably, and said that the county system is growing more popular and proving more economical.

Robert Payette, director of the Department of Social Services, told the board that his department could handle it, with the addition of one-half-time person and that it would probably cost the county $30,000 a year instead of the $20,000 it paid last year under the unit system.

Must Cooperate

"I am not recommending this: I am not saying that I want it," he said. "If I can have the cooperation of all townships and cities, so I can put them to work, that will be fine.

"I do not want to build an empire and I do not want to accept the accompanying criticism that will come with it," he added. "If it is your wish, I'll do whatever you say."

The matter was referred to the County Health Committee for further study and recommendations by next fall. There is no money in the budget at this time to handle the shift, Smith advised.

Vern Johnson, acting director of the county's Civil Defense, was made permanent director and given the authority to act in all matters if a disaster should strike in the county. This authority is considered necessary in the event that the governor or President should declare any portion of the county a disaster area. All applications for financial relief would be filed by the county through the Civil Defense office.

the board to this suggestion from the Waupaca Teachers Association.

The board favored the proposal of the superintendent to make the following changes in student placement for 1971-72:

—All seventh and eighth grade students will be housed in the Central Elementary School

—One fourth grade, one fifth grade and six sixth grades will be placed in the old junior high school annex, or the Middle School.

These proposals will provide for a minimum movement of students outside these two buildings and place a principal in each building.

Reporting on teacher contract negotiations, Comm Laurie Anderson told the board, "We are progressing — slow but sure We have not reached into the financial area as yet. Salaries will come under discussion at our next meeting April 22.

All teachers in the system who wish to renew their contracts for the 1971-72 school year have been requested to have their signed contracts in the superintendent's office by Thursday.

The board approved six contracts for the coming year. Mrs. Shon Rathke will teach eighth grade English and reading; John Oxley, eighth grade self-contained; Douglas Krueger, high school industrial arts; Miss Dorothy Ford, first grade at Golden Hill School; Robert Dixon, sixth grade and Mrs. Marilynn Dixon, fourth grade.

Students Plan Church Tour

4 Scheduled for Visit to Lutheran Colleges, Seminaries

CLINTONVILLE — Four local students will be in a group touring Missouri Synod Lutheran schools this weekend. They are Joan LaViolette, Jim Christian, Peter Kirchner and David Peters.

This trip is planned by the St. Martin Lutheran Church here and other area congregations. Miss Connie Peterson, second grade teacher, and Miss Carolyn Hoffmar, fourth grade teacher, from St. Martin will chaperone the group.

The group will leave Clintonville Friday by chartered bus and will stop for tours and meals at Concordia College, Milwaukee, and Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Ill.

It also will stop at Concordia Seminary, Springfield, Ill. and at the seminary in St. Louis, Mo.

Board Approval

New London May Have Director for Recreation by Fall

NEW LONDON — The city and school district are another step closer to having a recreation director.

School board members Monday night approved hiring a recreation director jointly with the city. The director probably will be hired in the fall. His duties would include providing leisure-time and recreational programs for persons of all ages.

The City Council tentatively approved the proposal, pending school board action.

In other board action, members approved dropping the school's present method of ranking students on a schoolwide scholastic basis. In place of this program, outstanding students in the various departments of the school will be recommended for recognition by the faculty.

Budget Talks

The board will discuss the preliminary school budget for the coming year on April 26.

The board approved using six students, under the Neighborhood Youth Corps Project, to perform various duties around the school between April and June 1.

The students come from families who qualify financially for the program. They work 10 hours per week at raking, cleaning and routine office work. The students are paid $1.60 per hour. The funds come from the government Youth Corps program.

The board continued its discussion on the possibility of construction of tennis courts for the district.

Weyauwega High Has 9 Lettermen

WEYAUWEGA — Defending Central Wisconsin Conference king Weyauwega finds itself in the East Central Conference this year with virtually the same team that won a year ago.

Lettermen back are Jim Rupno, third base; J. P. Nolan, catcher; Greg Oehlke, short stop; Chuck Abraham, second base; Doug Gehrke, outfield; Chip Wall, pitcher; Tom Fuller, catcher; David Aegerter, pitcher, and Jerry Doede, outfield.

Non-lettermen expected to bolster the Indians are juniors George Radtke, outfield, and transfer Jeff Gast, outfield.

Other Candidates

Others out for the team are Bruce Shostak, outfield, a senior; and freshmen Mike Abraham, outfield; Gerry Nolan, right field; Jim Shostak, shortstop; Steve Baitinger, pitcher; Bill Rupno, catcher; Brian Bucholz, first base; Terry Block, outfield, and Bruce Owen, outfield.

Last season the Indians compiled a 7-5 record overall and 5-1 in the CWC.

Mike Flanagan is in his first season as coach. Flanagan sees the team as being strong at short, third and catching.

Regular Pitchers

"Both Wall and Aegerter were the regular pitchers last season," Flanagan said, "so we should be alright there."

Weyauwega plays Manawa in a non-conference game on the road April 16. Other non-league contests are April 27, at Menasha St. Marys; May 1, Stevens Point, Pacelli, and May 8, St. Marys. The latter two games are home.

ECC games scheduled are April 22, Omro; April 29, at Hortonville; May 4, Berlin; May 6, at New London; May 11, Winneconne; May 13, at Ripon, and May 18, Waupaca.

Bowling Scores

BRILLION — Hal Kabat led American League bowlers here Monday by posting a 588 series, while Fran Waldecker had a 586 and Ken Stellbrink had 582.

Other high scores recorded were by George Beilke, 246-578; Bob Behnke, 577; Lyle Krizenesky, 575; John Saubert, 574; Don Barnard, 571; Bill Strueb-ing, 569; John Behnke and Roger Raschke, 562; and Milt Maertz had a 559 series.

Nies' Bar team had the week's high game of 949 and Kabat's Country Gardens team had a 2,696 high series.

Horn Fords team leads the league with a 51½-35½ record, followed by Brillion Sport Shop team, 49½-37½, and Kabat's, 48-39.

Marion Wins Over Tigerton

Mike Daley Has Perfect Day in 10-3 Triumph

MARION — Mike Daley starred as a pitcher and a batter as Marion High School scored a 10-3 decision over Tigerton in a non-conference opener here Tuesday.

Daley had a perfect day in three appearances at the plate, including a double. Randy Carley slashed a triple for the winners.

Daley fanned seven and walked four in four innings. Kent Brandenburg fanned five of the six men he faced in two innings. Goodwin, Peterson, working the seventh, fanned two and walked one. Loser Charles Kielblock went the route and struck out six, while walking nine.

All interested persons are invited to attend. Lunch and refreshments will be served.

Brillion Society

Christian Mothers Hear Parish History

BRILLION — A history of the St. Mary Christian Mothers Society and memories of the early parish school and church were discussed by Mrs. Frank Bohman at a recent society meeting here.

Mrs. Bohman's mother was among the 33 charter members when the Christian Mothers Society organized here in 1892. Medals presented to members then and now were shown. Currently there are five 50-year medal holders, according to Mrs. Bohman.

She recalled that in 1939 the group had a special meeting for 16 members over 65 years of age. Grandchildren of those members presented a program. It was labeled a "fond memory" by Mrs. Bohman.

The gavel used at meetings was made by Mrs. Bohman's son, Clarence, in 1954 when she was society president.

Pictures of the first school and church and church reports were shown to the women. The grades were organized in 1905 and the first class graduated in 1906 with seven members, Mrs. Bohman said.

The 39 members present at the recent meeting signed a petition opposing the Abortion Bill which is now pending in Legislature. The petition was sent to Wisconsin Citizens Concerned for the Unborn to support the group in its opposition.

Brochures concerning Camp Tekakwitha, summer camp for girls at Shawano, are available from Mrs. Robert Ambrosius, it was announced.

Mrs. Allen Wittmann, dinner chairman, reported that the women will be serving the high school honor roll dinner Sunday and the Jaycees' athletic dinner April 26.

New Books

Some 181 books have been added to the school library as a result of the recent book fair.

A $15 donation to the Sacred Heart TV program was approved. A recollection meeting is being planned for May by Mrs. Donald Emmer.

The last parish card party for the season will be at 8 p.m. April 25. Members were urged to bring towels to replenish the school kitchen's depleted supply.

It was decided to forgo the group's annual spring rummage sale.

Damage From Fire at Kaukauna High School Could Total $17,000

KAUKAUNA — The board of education learned Tuesday that fire damage at the high school which occurred in a stairwell last month could run as high as $17,000.

Business manager Thomas Nytes reported that walls had to be repainted as washing proved inadequate. There also was damage to an electrical system and drain downspouts. He reported that the damage would be covered by insurance and that no cause of the fire had been determined.

Board Secretary Olin Dryer was instructed to write letters of commendation to the fire department, school faculty and custodial staff for prompt action during the fire which prevented it from becoming more serious.

The building and grounds committee was authorized to increase the size of the primary and kindergarten playground area at Haen School by approximately 600 square yards after it was learned that the preliminary play area was inadequate. Cost is expected to be under $2,000. Low bids of $3,091 for playground equipment at the school and $7,943 for kitchen equipment were accepted.

Other Equipment

Nytes was instructed to attempt to secure prices on a milk cooler and a cargo net for the playground, items not included in low bid prices accepted, but which are needed at the school.

Board members approved sixth grade participation in canoe instruction, with parental consent, during the annual campout classroom experience to be held May 3 through 7 at the Green Bay YMCA camp.

Approval was given to install a railing at the northeast entrance to the high school at a cost of about $185. The building and grounds committee was authorized to investigate prices for landscaping at Haen School. The High School English department was authorized to seek a state grant to finance an evaluation program for the elective English classes being offered. Cost of the evaluation was estimated at $651.

A special meeting was set for 2 p.m. May 14 to open bids on preliminary remodeling work on the school auditorium. WIAA insurance was renewed for athletes and board members decided to contact local insurance men to determine whether they could offer student accident insurance for parents not covered by some other family insurance. Richard U. Landreman and Co. was hired to audit the books.

The resignation of Miss Bonnie Fischer as elementary vocal teacher was accepted and teacher contracts were approved for Phyllis Frey, Eugene Lasko and Ann Christensen, fifth grade teachers; Stephen Allen, fourth grade; Kathleen Greif, junior high mathematics; Gary Bootz, industrial arts, and Ronald Micolay, high school mathematics.

Supt. Julian Bichler announced plans to hire teacher aides to serve in libraries at Nicolet and Park schools at a cost of $1.90 per hour, thus enabling the school district to save about $2,465 by not having to hire a full-time librarian.

Clintonville Play

Students to Present 'One Foot in Heaven'

CLINTONVILLE — On April 26 and 27, the high school senior class will present Hartzell Spence's "One Foot In Heaven." The play will be at 8 p.m. in the junior high school auditorium.

"One Foot In Heaven" is a comedy about a minister and his rambunctious family.

It begins with the shock of the Rev. William H. Spence, his wife and children as they walk into the rundown parsonage of their new parish.

Spence finds the church building starting to disintegrate, the congregation split into warring factions, and the church choir "a cross between the devil's grandmother and a swarm of mountain wildcats" — and that's not the worst.

The town is being poisoned by bigotry, and Eileen and Hartzell, his teen-age children, are disgusted at having been yanked out of a comfortable parsonage and a fine high school. But then Hartzell meets pretty Louise, and Eileen is introduced to the football captain.

The humorous complications that result make even more difficulties for Spence. His struggle to build the new church, organize a new choir, and crush intolerance, leads to a pitched battle among his flock, and then the very threat of being dismissed from the clergy.

Those in the lead are Tom Fox, Spence; Sarah Johnson, his wife, and Debbie Sasse and Randy Nelson, their children.

Others in the cast are Craig LeBeau, Guiseppina Piubel, Sarah Moreland, Rod Reinke, Valerie Routhieaux, Debby Duffey, Ann Nelson, Dave Dieck, Peggy Mullarkey, Kam Marshek, Dan Kelly, Mark Smith, Linda Kirchner and Dave Olk.

The play is directed by Dennis Bessette and Miss Ellen Buchberger.

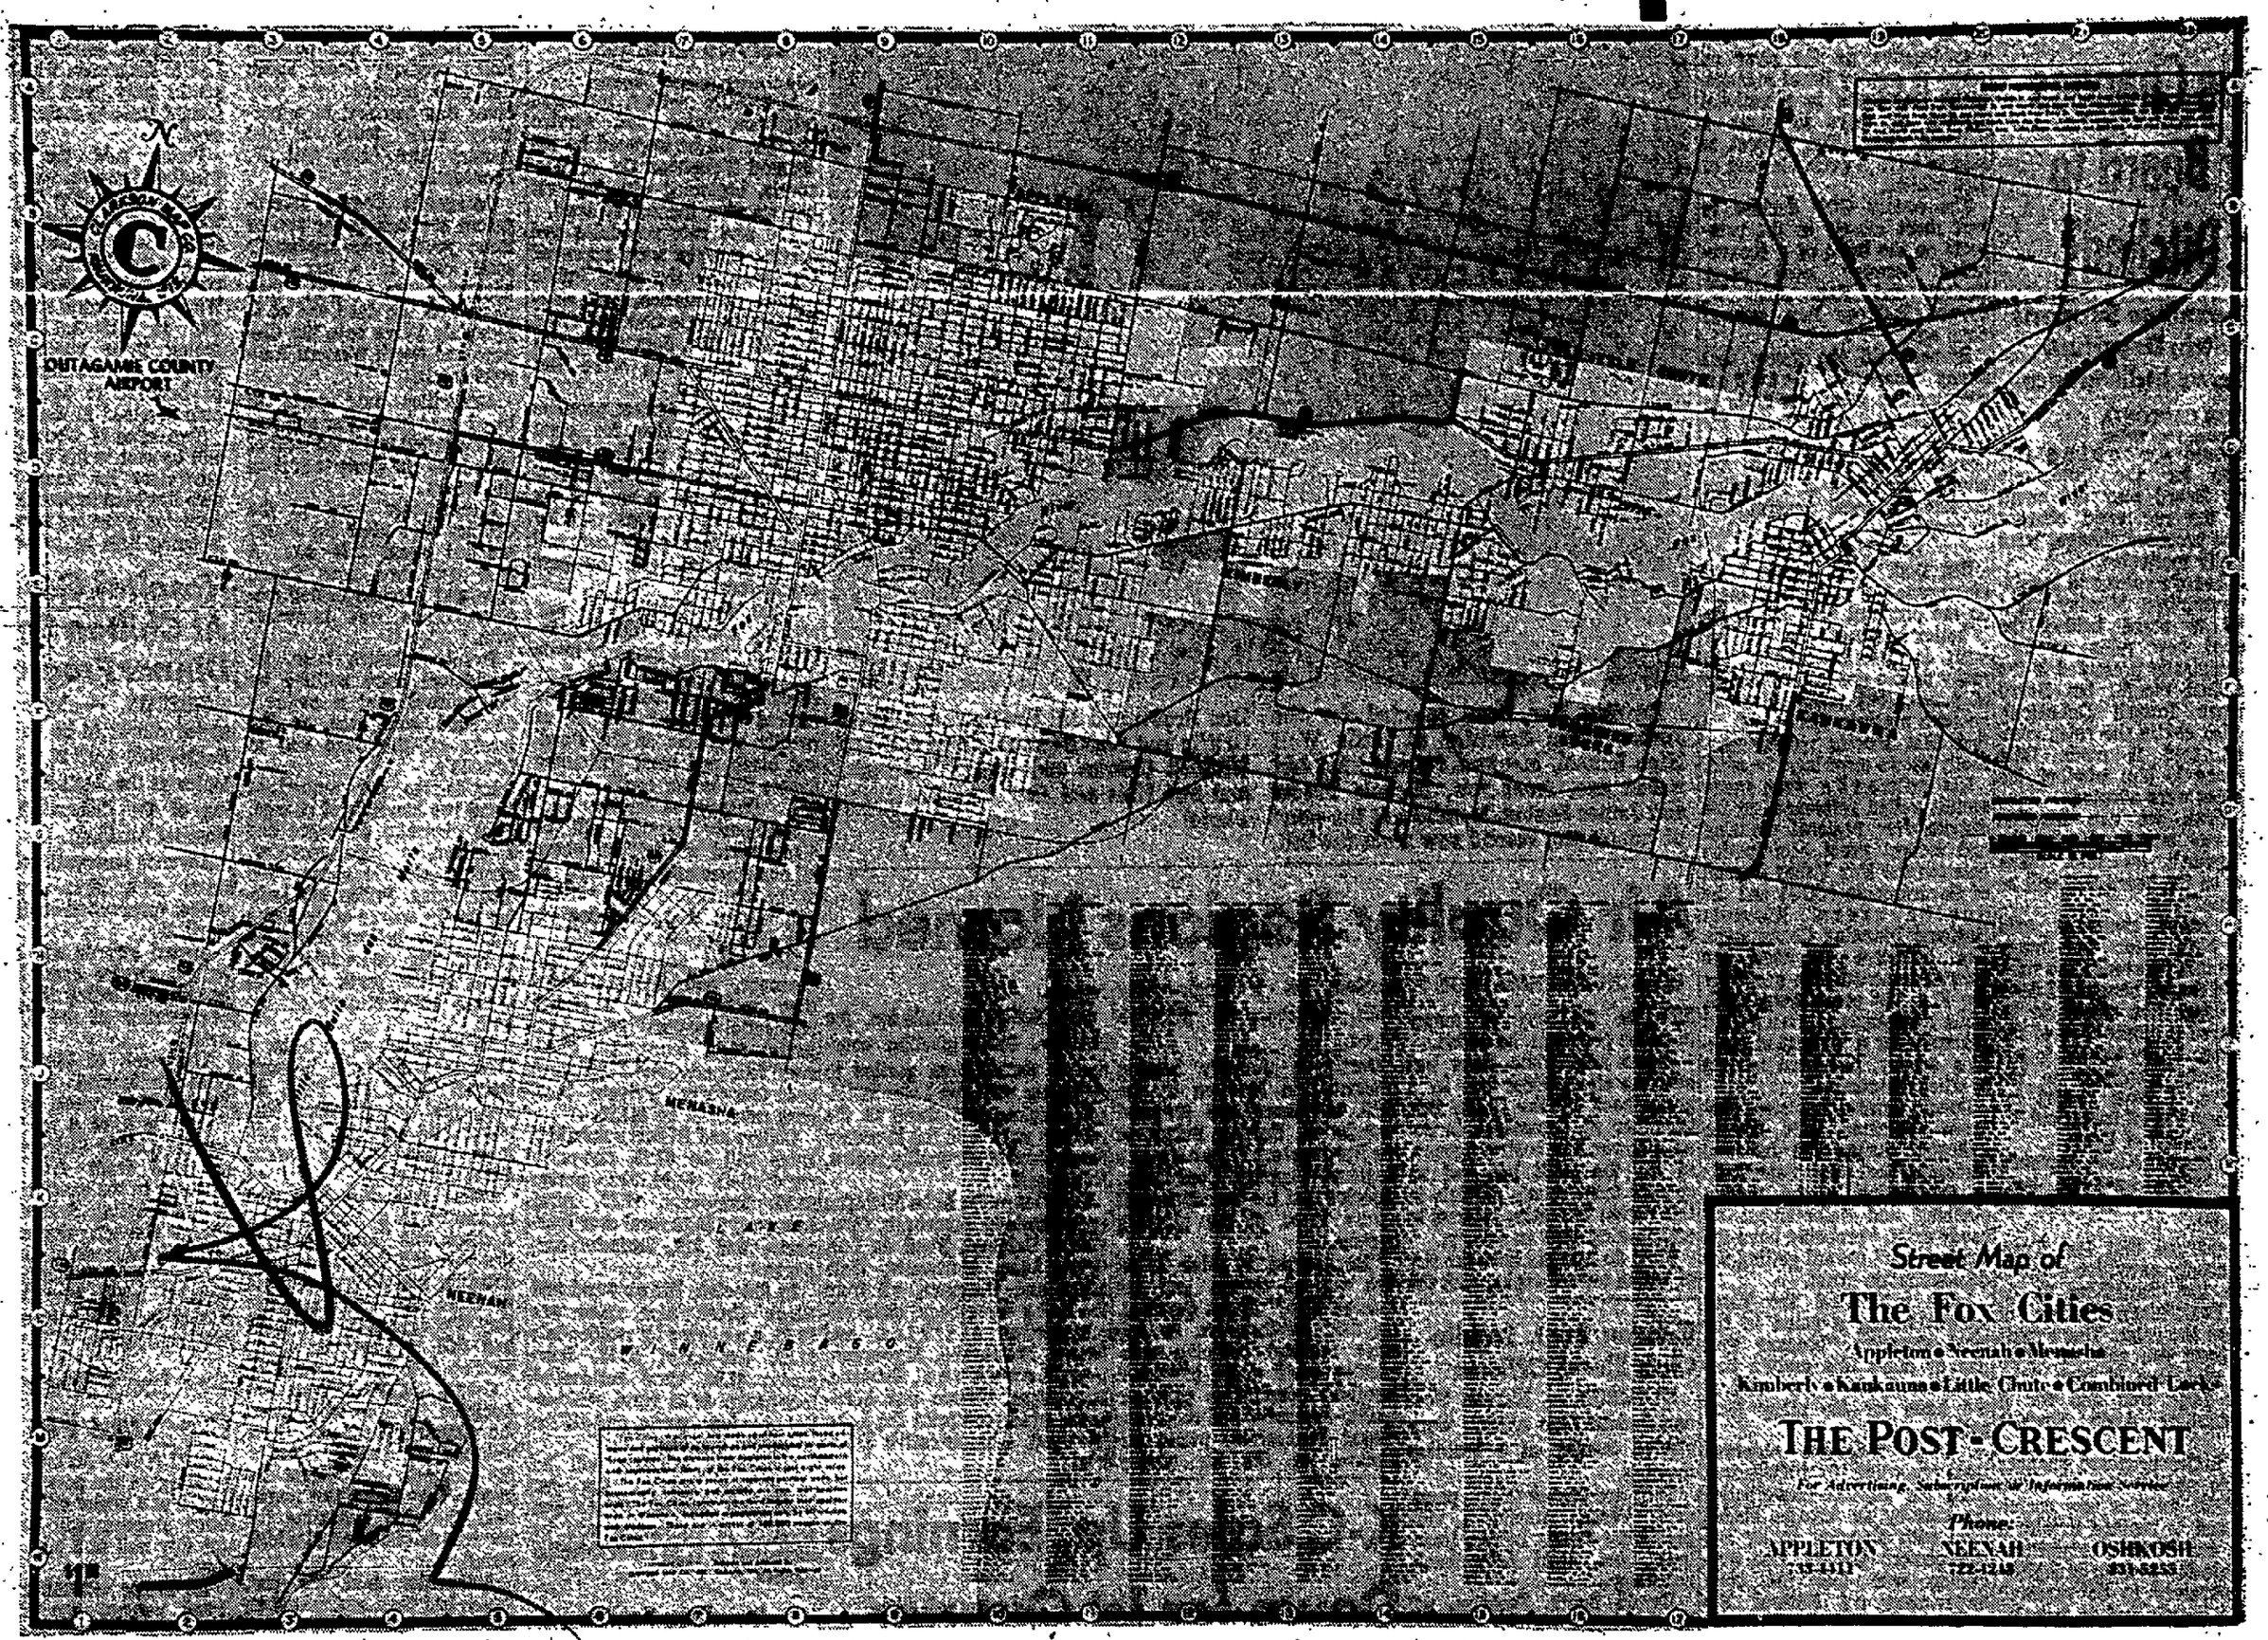
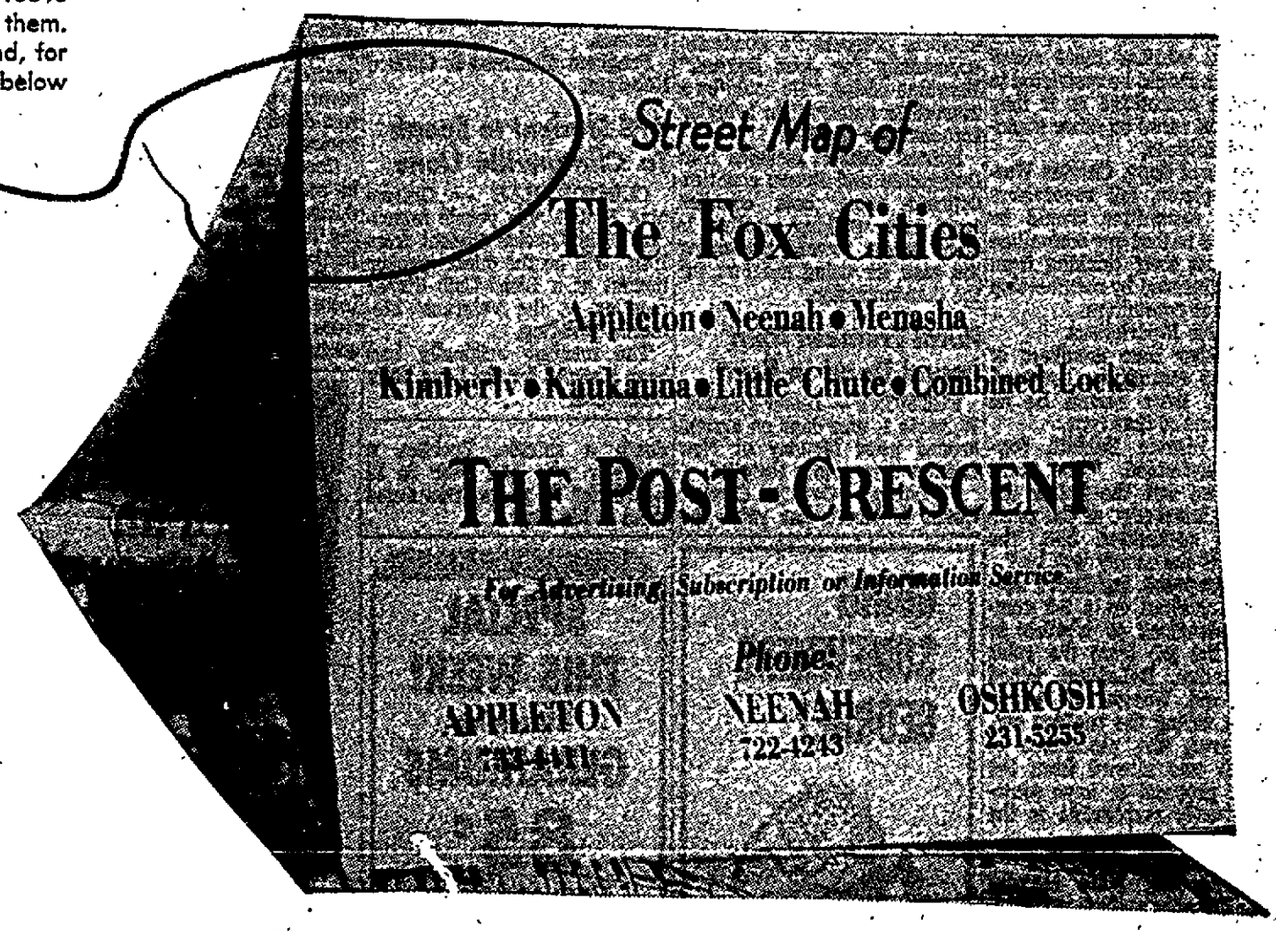
Fox Cities Maps



- Present and Proposed Freeways
- New Scale-in Feet
- New Interchanges
- New Streets
- New Colors
- Actual size 34"x24½"

A great number of changes have taken place since the last Post-Crescent Fox Cities maps were prepared in 1966. Many new streets, freeway extensions and interchanges have been installed. Town areas have grown, city areas extended. These changes are all reflected in the new, 1970 Fox Cities maps just now available. While it is almost impossible for city planners and engineers, from whom most of the information is obtained, to be 100% accurate, the 1970 maps are as complete as it is possible to make them. Stop by the Post-Crescent offices in Appleton, Neenah or Oshkosh and, for just one dollar, get your new map. You may use the handy order form below for mailing purposes if you desire.

Available Folded or Unfolded



Following several requests for a more convenient carrying size, the new, 1970 Fox Cities maps are now available folded to an approximate 8½"x6" size. However, unfolded maps are still available for those who desire to mount them.

Ex-Stockbroker Faces Sentence

DePere Man Enters Guilty Plea on 5 Charges of Fraud

Sentencing of a former De Pere stockbroker on five fraud counts, four of them consolidated here Tuesday from Brown County, will take place April 27.

John Van Dreel, 37, pleaded guilty to the charges Tuesday. He had earlier requested a jury trial on the only count in Outagamie County, lodged by an Appleton couple.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller directed a presentence investigation Tuesday, after finding Van Dreel guilty on the five counts. He freed Van Dreel on a $1,500 signature bond.

Van Dreel took and used for himself $2,500 he received from an Appleton couple on the pretense he would invest it for them. The offenses, detectives said, occurred between Dec. 19, 1969 and last March 11.

Four Brown County residents charged Van Dreel defrauded them using similar methods. Two of the offenses occurred in the Town of Holland in March, September and October of 1969. Two remaining counts were lodged in connection with incidents in Wrightstown in January of 1970.

Van Dreel faces a maximum of five years in prison, and fines of $5,000, or both, on each of the counts.

Sales, Earnings Rise Modestly At Consolidated

Consolidated Papers, Inc., Wisconsin Rapids-based corporation with an Appleton plant, has reported a modest increase in sales and a decline in earnings for the first quarter of 1971, but noted earnings were "substantially ahead" of the final quarter of last year.

For the first three months, sales were $34,109,250 compared with $33,530,166 for the same period in 1970. Earnings for the period were $978,635 or 38 cents per share compared with earnings of $1,181,993 or 46 cents per share in 1970.

"While earnings were off for the first quarter, they were substantially ahead of the last quarter of 1970," George W. Mead, II, president, said. "Measures to reduce overhead costs and improve operating efficiencies are taking hold even through some of our plants have been operating at less than capacity in adjustments to slower market demand.

"At the same time, we continued to experience escalation in costs of materials, labor and transportation without relief through price increases."

Consolidated has scheduled its annual meeting of shareholders for April 21 in Wisconsin Rapids when company officials will report on current operations.

Association for the Hearing-Impaired Sets Meeting in Sheboygan

Wisconites for Hearing-Impaired Children will conduct its spring meeting April 25 at the Security First National bank in Sheboygan.

The program will begin at 9 a.m. Reservations for the luncheon at a cost of $3 can be made through Harold E. Kober, 1904 N. 20th St., Sheboygan.

Topic will be "Testing of the Newborn Child" and "Hearing Aids."

Clothing, Furniture Drive Set for Indians

Sing-Out Fox Cities is sponsoring a clothing and furniture drive for Menominee Indians at Neopit.

The group asks that Valley residents bring such items to the basement of St. Therese School, 213 E. Wisconsin Ave., Appleton. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. during vacation and on Saturdays, from 1 to 9 p.m. Sundays and from 5 to 9 p.m. on school days. The drive will continue through April 24.

Bigger Faculty OK'd By Hortonville Board

HORTONVILLE — The board of education decided at its last meeting to employ additional teachers for high school instruction in art, vocal music and industrial arts.

The board will search for instructors with minors in English, social studies and science to alleviate its personnel shortage.

The school administration reported that it could employ half-time business education and home economics teachers for additional time, but this would not be enough to serve needs.

Discussion at the meeting also centered on building plans for the new high school.

The group was informed that a construction company representative would attend its next meeting to describe use of temporary interior walls. Such uses, the board was told, would provide flexibility and reduced costs.

The board approved the hiring of Ryan Hmielewski, an Ashland College graduate to teach 7th and 8th grade mathematics. Hmielewski was a varsity letter winner in three sports at Ashland and was named to the all-conference basketball team.

The resignation of Gerald Laemmrich, industrial arts teacher and basketball coach was accepted by the board.

In other action the board approved the sale of a 1958 Ford bus. Sealed price quotations should be submitted to the school district office for the May 10 meeting.

The name of George Deimer was placed in nomination for the CESA 8 school reorganization committee. The position is presently vacant.

The next negotiation session between the welfare committee of the Hortonville Education Association and the board is scheduled for Wednesday evening, April 14. This will be the seventh session for the two groups.

New Ecology Post Established At Bergstrom

NEENAH — Three key appointments have been made in the production area of Bergstrom Paper Co.

William Rice, formerly director of research and development, has been named to the new post of director of environmental systems. Meanwhile Orville Ross will become manager of the firm's water management center.

Kenneth Maves, formerly assistant director of research and development, will succeed Rice as head of that department.

In naming Rice, H. R. Moore, president, said: "The technical and legal complexities of a company's ecological stance have assumed new and burdensome proportions. The current strong emphasis on the environmental factors on business requires us to devote our time and energy competently to cope with them if we are to remain a part of the environment.

Rice joined Bergstrom in 1967 as director of research and development while Ross joined the firm in 1946 and Maves in 1954.

Speaker Scheduled for Meeting of Accountants

Leo W. Mack, Counsel for the Wisconsin Inheritance Tax Bureau of the Wisconsin Department of Revenue, will be the speaker at the April meeting of the Northern Wisconsin Chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

The meeting will be Tuesday at Nino's in Green Bay. This is a change in location from the original announcement.

Federal Campground Fee May Go Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department has a plan that would cost the camping family much more for a season of tenting on the old federal campground.

Though the department's proposal has its origins with some members of Congress, the legislation still faces tough opposition.

First, the department recommends abandoning the Golden Eagle Passport, which for a $10 fee allows a carload of people admission to any park all year.

Instead, the department proposes a $4 annual permit for each member of a family, young children excepted, and a charge of $3 to $4 for each night's stay at a recreation area or campground.

For a family of five, with three teen-agers along, camping Friday and Saturday night for 10 summer weekends, the cost would be at least $80 instead of the present $10.

The department figures the new charges would bring in $25 million a year for buying and developing more federal recreation areas. The Golden Eagle program is bringing in $10 million.

The proposal faces its first test in the Senate and House Interior committees, with the House starting its hearings in May.

Both committees directed last year, as they extended the Golden Eagle program through 1971, that the department come up with recommendations for an other fee system.

Thirteen members of both committees, including the chairmen, Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., and Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., also were members of the Public Land Law Review Commission which favored an individual fee system. The commission said the fee should be "minimal, $1-$3."

Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., has been getting loads of unfavorable mail. He stands at important congressional intersections the bill must pass through: chairman of the Interior parks subcommittees and the Appropriations subcommittee which handles the department's budget.

Referring to his mail, Bible said, "We are being beat over the head. Grandma and Grandpa spent a lifetime working, giving sons to the military, and saving, and now all they have is a car and a trailer. They can't afford to pay $3 or $4 a night to camp."

Many pensioners, he said, live in trailers moving from camp to camp.

Ex-Wife Held in Slaying

this morning that a 32-year-old Oshkosh woman apparently was in the rural Neenah man's home at the time of the shooting.

Mrs. Harn reportedly entered the home with the rifle after driving up to the single-family residence. The shooting took place about 3:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Arrested at Home

Mrs. Harn was arrested at her ex-husband's home.

Harn was the owner of Harn's Barn, rural Neenah. He had recently moved from Oshkosh to rural Neenah.

The Harns were married in 1936 and divorced in Mexico on June 21, 1969, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. The divorce was validated in Winnebago in April, 1970, when Harn was living in Oshkosh.

The Harns had five sons and one daughter. Some of the children apparently were living with Mrs. Harn at her route 2, Wisconsin Rapids, home.

First Japanese-American Elected

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Norman Y. Mineta has won a commanding victory in a 15-way race for mayor of California's fourth largest city and become the first Japanese-American elected to lead a major American metropolis.

The 39-year-old mayor-elect, who spent two boyhood years in World War II relocation camps, hailed the victory as "a breakthrough" for Japanese-Americans.

"It shows that political success is not just a possibility for Japanese-Americans in Hawaii but on the mainland as well," he said early today.

Of 49,777 votes cast Tuesday in all 147 precincts, Mineta polled 30,496. City Councilman David J. Goglio, his closest challenger, had 6,902.

Mineta, a partner in an insurance firm founded by his father, was elected to the San Jose City Council in 1966 and became vice mayor in 1969.

Surgery Planned for TV's 'Grandpa Jones'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Grandpa Jones of CBS-TV's "Hee Haw" program will undergo open heart surgery at a hospital here Thursday.

The Grand Ole Opry star suffered a heart attack in October and doctors said surgery will be performed to bypass troublesome coronary arteries.

Jones entered the hospital Tuesday.

TV's Doc Adams In Fair Condition

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Milburn Stone, the actor who plays Doc Adams on the "Gunsmoke" television series, is reported improving more rapidly as he recovers from open heart surgery.

Stone, 66, underwent the surgery March 15 at University Hospital to improve the flow of blood to his heart.

A hospital spokesman said Tuesday Stone was in fair condition and improving more rapidly, exercising in his room and eating a regular diet.

Troops, Rioters Battle In Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — For seven hours a thousand British troops battled 2,000 Protestants trying to firebomb a Roman Catholic church Tuesday night in the bloodiest rioting in Northern Ireland in weeks.

Four soldiers were set ablaze by Molotov cocktails at the height of the fight, but other troops doused the flames before they suffered serious injury.

The violence was triggered when a 12-year-old Protestant, Harry Martin, was felled by a burst of automatic fire as a Protestant parade wound up four days of Easter demonstrations that until then had been peaceful.

Martin was either in the parade or watching it when some of the 3,000 young marchers broke through a protective police cordon around a Catholic section. The Protestants waved Union Jacks, the Catholics waved the Irish Republic's tricolor; then the burst of firing came, wounding young Martin and grazing three adults.

Bullet Removed

A bullet was removed from the child's thigh and he was reported in satisfactory condition. But an angry crowd of Protestants gathered and after an hour attacked St. Matthew's church, which the Protestants charge is a sanctuary and snipers' post for the terrorist Irish Republican Army.

The British troops threw up barriers of barbed wire and armor to keep back the mobs. The Protestants attacked with gasoline bombs, concrete slabs, bottles, rocks and iron.

When the mob was finally put to flight, at least 13 civilians and several soldiers had been injured, and 27 persons had been arrested.

Several missiles hit the church but caused little damage.

A shop was set afire and windows of other stores were smashed and their contents strewn in the roadway. An army water cannon put out the blaze, and the troops fired several rounds of rubber bullets.

It was the first serious encounter between the troops and the Protestants since last October. Recently the trouble has been between the British and IRA extremists fighting to reunite Ireland.

Easter weekend in other years brought violence between Catholics and Protestants as the Catholic minority commemorated the 1916 Easter Rebellion. Until Monday night, a massive show of strength by British forces had helped ward off major strife this year.

7 Die as Fire Hits Hotel in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Flames raced through the 10-story Pick Carter Hotel Tuesday night. Fire officials said seven persons were killed, including four relatives of members of a road company of the musical "Hair."

Smoke streamed from windows of all the hotel floors and guests yelled from windows for help as firemen urged them to remain calm and wait for evacuation.

Many guests climbed down ladders provided by firemen. Others escaped on stairways and elevators. In all, about 220 guests and 80 hotel staff members were evacuated from the 500-room structure.

Eight persons were hospitalized, five for smoke inhalation, two for injuries suffered in falls, and one for treatment of burns.

"By the time I got to the lobby it was already ablaze," said Andrew T. Ginnan, general manager of the hotel, who had been summoned from his eighth-floor suite. "We literally had to run through fire to get to the door. All I know is it happened very, very fast."

A battalion fire chief, Bernard Campbell, listed the cause as undetermined pending a check of the building by the arson squad. An aide said there were "a few details" the chief wanted the arson squad to check before issuing a probable cause.

Campbell estimated the loss at $200,000—including $175,000 to the building and $25,000 to contents.

Firemen said seven bodies were found in a room-to-room search.

The victims inclued Mrs. Jonathon Johnson, 18, of Renton, Wash., wife of a "Hair" cast member, and her daughter, Melissa, 1; and Mrs. Russell F. Carlson, 23, of St. Louis, wife of the "Hair" stage manager, and her daughter, Corrine, 11 months.

Also killed was Gaston LeBlanc, 69, of Pittsburgh, former president of the Stone and Allied Workers union, which merged Jan. 1 with the United Steelworkers of America. A USW official said LeBlanc since had been a Steelworkers staff representative, handling his former union.

Earth Day Rally Spying by FBI Brings Muskie Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie charged today that the FBI conducted massive spying operations on 40 to 60 of last year's Earth Day antipollution rallies.

He called such activity "a threat to our freedom" and urged creation by Congress of an independent board to oversee the FBI and other federal intelligence agencies.

In a Senate speech, the Maine Democrat said "there is no justification for any part of the federal intelligence community surreptitiously observing and reporting on legitimate political events which do not affect our national security or which do not involve a potential crime."

Muskie accompanied his speech with an FBI report detailing his and other participants' activities in Earth Day activities in Washington last April 22 and said "This document raises far-reaching questions over the present surveillance operations of the FBI.

"Surveillance is more than excessive zeal by the FBI," he said. "It is a threat to our freedom. Surveillance leads to fear.

"Secret surveillance which produces secret files to be used by unknown persons; these are the ingredients for fear," he said.

Muskie noted that "a large percentage of congressmen believe their phones are tapped."

"If this is what our congressional leaders think," he asked, "how does an ordinary citizen feel when deciding whether to participate in a rally, to write a letter, or give a speech critical of the policy of the government which also keeps notes on his activities?"

Tenure and Power in Politics

One of the archaic rules of governmental operation that survives in many of the states of the country is an absolute limit on the tenure of important public officials, most frequently the governor. The other day Gov. John McKeithen, one of the leading state executives of the deep South, complained about the consequences of the two term limit that applies to the governorship of his state of Louisiana.

The practical result of the constitutional provision, he said, is that an elected executive becomes a "lame duck", in the jargon of the politician, on the day that he takes the oath of office for his second two-year term. He spoke with knowledge bred of his own experience. He is now serving a second term, having succeeded earlier in leading a movement for a change of an original constitutional provision in his state limiting the state executive to a single two-year term. Perhaps that rule related to the colorful but reprehensible shenanigans indulged by some of his less distinguished predecessors, and notably the "Kingfish," as he called himself, former Gov. Huey Long.

Typically the tenure limitations in the state constitutions related to the suspicion and the worry of early Americans about unrestricted power of high public officials and the motivations of men who have sought high place.

Some of the reserve remains. One of the late Dwight Eisenhower's final contributions to the debate about the structure of American government, it will be remembered, was his idea that members of the United States Congress should be limited in the number of terms they could serve, by law, rather than according to the judgment of the voters of their states.

Wisconsin has been relatively free of such arbitrary rules on length of service of elected leaders and government chiefs. Yet it was only a few years ago that this state at long last, after false starts in earlier decades, deleted from the state constitution the arbitrary two successive term limitation that historically applied to the county sheriffs. Here we had our own manifestation of the unwillingness of our pioneers to trust men to use wisely and well great power over an extended period — even if that distrust displayed an uncertainty about their own judgment as the electorate.

On the frontier, the sheriff was the most important of the local public officials and his power and jurisdiction were so extensive and so important that for most of the early settlers he tended to be more important than the remote man in the state capitol who was governor of the territory and later, the infant state.

But Gov. McKeithen is quite right. A term limitation inevitably defeats the authority and the opportunity of a governor to serve effectively as he wins the last of those to which he is constitutionally entitled. Wisconsin has had its own examples lately, even under the informal tradition of a three term limit of the tenure of its governors. Former Gov. Knowles found the going hard in legislative relations in his third term two years ago, precisely because it was clear that he would not run again.

Such rules are gradually being abandoned in American states. Wisconsin now has taken another step in authorizing a four-year term for its governors. It will have the result, we may hope, of enlarging the prestige and authority of the executive office for productive work. Whether a second four - year term will tend to be assumed as the limit, even as was the third two-year term earlier, will be demonstrated by experience and can only be a matter of speculation now. It seems reasonable to suppose however, that few men will have the energy to permit them to aspire to more than eight years in what has become the most difficult and demanding of American elective offices below the presidency.

How Much Has Man Developed?

Anthropologists continue to argue about the intelligence of early man, particularly of the Cro-Magnon variety who lived more than 34,000 years ago. It's a fascinating business even though proof one way or the other probably never will be forthcoming.

Alexander Marshack, a research associate at Harvard's Peabody Museum, contends that Cro-Magnon man created and used abstract symbols to keep track of the lunar cycle. Understanding the abstract is a sign of intelligence and in fact is one of the major differences between man and other animals.

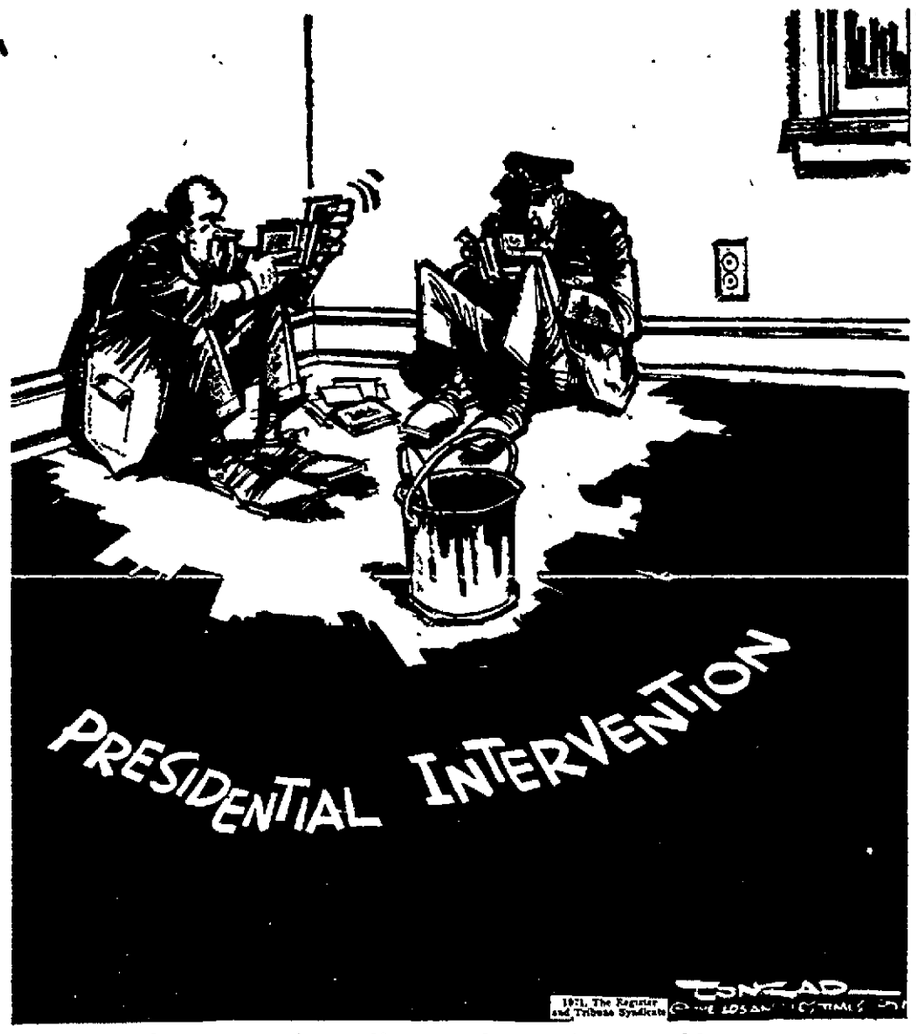
The earliest symbols Marshack has found and which have been accepted by some other specialists in the field involved only a chain of holes punched in various ways into a plate of stone, bone or tusk. It took some 10,000 years for the system to be developed into a more complex record-keeping of notches cut into eagle bones. Only with high magnification was it discovered that what appeared to be identical notches were in fact distinguishable from each other in tiny ways. According to Marshack, they spell out the phases of the moon which apparently was important in early man's effort to understand the universe and to keep track of time. Even the comprehension of time itself is an indication of intelligence.

Cro-Magnon's brain capacity was apparently at least as large as that of modern man and perhaps larger. This in itself does not indicate brain capability of course. But some anthropologists theorize that actually over the centuries man has become involved in "degenerative evolution" for two reasons. First, the increasing ease and comforts of modern living no longer have made it necessary for man to be ever on the alert or to use his faculties to the utmost as it was with the wary cave man. The fittest have not necessarily survived. Secondly, there has been a tendency for those of less intelligence to have more children. But it all depends upon what determines the level of intelligence and statistics of the level of school attainment are not a reliable barometer. The eighth grade graduate's children often graduated from high school while their children went on to college. There is also the argument that there are other just as demanding requirements of intelligence and alertness today only in other areas than there were in the days of the Cro-Magnon. He might have had to watch for wild animals but we have to watch out for the quack, the financial cheater. He had to contend with a hostile environment that stretched his abilities but we have to contend with putting children through college while meeting payments on the car, washing machine and variety of taxes.

There also is the highly controversial theory that modern man has in a sense inherited the wisdom and findings of the centuries but no one has yet explained exactly how.

Nevertheless a lot of anthropologists contend that Cro-Magnon and other early men would have been a match for the Harvard student of today as far as basic intelligence is concerned. There is one fortunate difference, however. Dr. Jerome Bruner, professor of psychology at Harvard, argues that agriculture tended to advance the "tamer" breed of man. The Cro-Magnon boy on campus "might have been wilder than even the wildest undergraduate of today."

We must wonder just how far we have come in 34,000 years.



Despite his new status, Calley remains a prisoner in his quarters.

Dewey Spins in His Grave

Progressive Education Not Intended as Bull Session

BY JOHN P. ROCHE

One of the most difficult historical accomplishments is to modify an arbitrary, capricious, irrational authority structure without simultaneously destroying the authority principle itself. Nowhere is this problem more evident than in American educational circles. Under the banner of "progressive education," many schools and classrooms have been turned into unstructured, free-floating rap sessions.

First, this is not "progressive education in the sense that John Dewey and his associates conceived it. Their objective was to eliminate the appalling system of rote learning, to inject relevance (in its real sense) into a curriculum, and, above all, to make students and teachers into allies in a quest for knowledge.

Teachers, Students Allies

Never in his long, long life did John Dewey confuse a school with libertyville: he sought to replace an archaic and irrational authority system with a rational one. The thought of a teacher going into a classroom and asking his students, "What shall we discuss today?" would set Dewey spinning in his grave. To Dewey, Lucy Sprague Mitchell, and the other pioneers of progressive ducation, the teacher and students were allies, not peers. But the teacher had authority growing from knowledge and dedication, not from official status as a warden in a quasi-penitentiary.

Indeed, a teacher who genuinely accepts the principles of progressive education probably works twice as hard as either the old style martinets or the new wave of permissive educators. I have investigated some "dynamic, relevant, student-oriented, free-flowing, etc." courses offered both in colleges and high schools and, frankly, I think the teachers should be arrested for grand larceny. What a racket! You wouldn't believe what goes on under the protection of "innovation." I verified a situation in an unidentified college where a volley ball game determined final sociology grades: the winners got As; the losers A-.

Or take "discussion courses." There is no harder task in this world than conducting a good seminar, or small discussion class. I could, with half an hour's lead time, deliver a respectable lecture on, say, Locke or Rousseau, but it takes hours of preparation to prime a seminar on the same topics. You have to sit down and prepare the key questions, then ready yourself to play devil's advocate, set up challenges to the conventional wisdom, and above all avoid the lazy man's way out: turning on your Locke or Rousseau tapes.

Bull Sessions for Credit

Compare this with the innovative fantasy of "student taught" courses. Only an egomaniac would argue that the only things learned in college derive from the faculty. I recall bull sessions with my fellow students as a vital part of the learning process, but we never expected academic credit for it. I have known students who were helped immensely by psychiatric support, but again did not expect brownie points for their time on the couch. A good teacher will be an intellectual catalyst: his students will go off to argue and debate amongst themselves, and them return to argue with the teacher himself. That is the name of the game: for students to teach students in a formal sense is basically an anti-intellectual exercise, one which in practice results in the facile leading the docile.

To come back to the initial point, this academic nonsense is not in any proper sense progressive education; it is a shameful caricature of the fundamentally sound and genuinely innovative views of John Dewey. A believer in progressive education — and I am one — must repudiate academic anarchy with the same vigor that he condemns the academic tyranny of the fundamentalists. As usual, a true liberal finds himself fighting a two-front war.

There Are 221 Billboards Appleton to Fond du Lac

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

Recently while driving from Appleton to Fond du Lac and back, I counted 221 billboards. This does not include any billboards or signs on property on which a business is located.

There were two under construction even though there were four or five empty and looking for business. If there are 221 billboards in this distance there must be several thousand along Highway 41 in Wisconsin.

I think something should be done to regulate or eliminate these billboards or in the near future it will be like driving through a tunnel. One will not be able to see a tree let alone any other scenic land along the way.

If anyone else feels the same as I do, I suggest that you write to the governor and your state senator and assemblyman to curb the wanton use of billboards that are obliterating our landscape.

State Odd Fellows to Celebrate

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 15, 1871.

It is understood that Doty Island (Lodge) intends to commemorate the natal day of American Odd Fellowship, and invite all their neighbors on April 26th.

Hon. M. P. Lindsley, the M. W. G. Master of the State Lodge, and Sam Ryan Jr., P. G. M., have accepted invitations to address the Milwaukeeans on that day. The latter gentleman was obliged to decline a similar invitation from the Marquette, Lake Superior, Lodge.

It is earnestly hoped that wherever three or more Lodges can co-operate, some kind of celebration will be held on that day.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, April 10, 1946.

Richard Heller and Keith Jeffry were in charge of the lighting for the "Style Symphonie" fashion show presented by members of the Athena Tri-Y Club the previous night. More than 150 Hi-Y, Tri-Y members and their parents attended.

Dr. C. D. Boyd, superintendent and medical director of Riverview Sanatorium for the past 32 years, presented his resignation to the board of trustees. His resignation ended the era that began when the sanatorium first opened its doors to tuberculosis patients in the area. The Kaukauna physician's work there was to end the next June 1.

DeLyle Redmond, Menasha High School senior, was invited to participate in the first annual North-South football game sponsored by the Wisconsin High School Coaches Association. Redmond, an end, was named to the all-conference football team at the end of the 1945 season. Ade Dillon, Appleton, was to assist in coaching the North team.

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, April 12, 1961.

Cary Anderson was elected president and Mike Woehler vice president of Appleton High School Student Council for the next school year. they were chosen by an all-student vote.

Mrs. John Feldkamp was elected president of the Afternoon Homemakers Club at Kaukauna and Mrs. Stuart Black was named president of the Evening Homemakers club.

Other officers were: Afternoon Club — Mrs. Dan Janssen, vice president; Miss Idabell Glenzer, secretary; Mrs. Stanley Llon, treasurer, Evening Club — Mrs. Harold Feller, vice president; Mrs. Alois Van Dyn Hoven, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Derus, secretary.

Wisconsin Report

Roaming Reporter Finds Other Area Problems Like Home

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — The Wisconsin Capitol reporter away from home in an unfamiliar part of the country is sometimes mildly surprised about disputes involving programs and policies that are old hat in Wisconsin. But as he contemplates the speeches and the styles and the techniques of the politicians abroad he quickly feels at home again.

In St. Louis the other day the politicians and the principal editors of the city were discoursing on the fiscal outlook of the historic river city. In a nutshell, the outlook is for painfully higher city taxes, combined with less quantity and quality of municipal services.

St. Louis "at this point is a shrinking city beset with problems," lectured an editor reciting the familiar dirge about the out-migration of the affluent and the in-migration of the poor, and notably the blacks, and the need for strong leadership and vision to reverse the doleful trends and revitalize the metropolis.

Sounds Like Milwaukee

A visitor can close his eyes and imagine without much difficulty the recital of the practiced lectures delivered in Milwaukee city hall and by Mayor Maier and his disciplined cohorts when they deliver their appeals in the committee rooms at Madison.

Like Milwaukee, St. Louis hopes for succor from the state. And like Milwaukee, it cannot be sure that it will come.

Down and across the river in Tennessee, a state administration is preparing extraordinary effort to persuade its constituency of the need for a substantial new round of state taxation, even as in Wisconsin. The justification is again attached to the need for the relief of local financing and taxing.

Gov. Dunn is preparing a "grass roots" campaign, reporters relate, that will be keyed to a "local angle" system of explanation, something that is apparently regarded as novel thereabouts. Most of the new money, he argues, is intended to help local governments.

Promises Local Goodies

He carefully cites local goodies promised at every compaign stop, even as Wisconsin governors of both parties have been doing for generations and as new Gov. Lucey is doing now.

It is with mild surprise that the Wisconsin visitor notes the emphasis upon this style that is claimed to be new. At home the Capitol politician learns it in his fledgling days. More than three decades ago I observed a gubernatorial campaign at close range for the first time and watched with fascination the highly skilled simplification of the issues by the late Phil La Follette, then governor. He always carried with him four quarters like the later Captain Queeg and his steel pellets — to reduce to utterly simple terms the division of the state dollar with emphasis upon the shares with localities.

Julius Heil, who unhorsed La Follette in 1938, was the great amateur in his day. But he introduced to his own stumping repertoire as he ran for re-election the "local angle" presentation of statistics — although sometimes with unfortunate casualness.

Wrong County's Statistics

Once in Richland County one of Heil's men handed him as he walked to the platform a sheaf of statistics to buttress his bucolic style with "local angles," as he thought.

The chubby, ruddy, self-made tycoon blithely proceeded without glancing at the title.

After wading through the details of the goodies that Madison was delivering to the rural towns of Richland, "Uncle Julius" paused, stammered, and said in exasperation as he glowered at the aide:

"Hell, that dope was for Rock County."

Strictly Personal

Some More General Beliefs Are Shattered

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

In France, there is nothing that goes by the name of French toast. There are no French fried potatoes. No French beans. No French dressing. No French windows. And no orchestra, however large, contains a French horn.

In Germany, nobody ever has German measles. The Danish pastry is unknown in Denmark. There are no Dalmatian dogs in Dalmatia. I could go on, but you get the point. What we call "French" and so forth go by entirely different names in those countries, and are not practicularly identified with those countries.

French beans, for instance, are simply "haricots vers" in France. A French window is a "porte-fentre." A French horn is a "cor d'harmonie." And in Germany, German measles are merely "die Roteln," or rubella.

Certain things become associated with specific countries and are forever more inseparable. We think of the jinrikisha as quintessentially Japanese, but it was invented by an American missionary. Chop suey was wholly unknown in China until it was introduced by Western restaurateurs. And Irish stew, I am reliably informed, was never indigenous to Ireland.

These are just peculiarities, of no consequence in themselves — except that they point to more important associations that we make all the time, and with just as little justification. We not only associate products with specific countries, but personal traits as well.

We look upon the French as a "romantic" people, which is as absurd as their view of the English as "cold." We find Orientals "inscrutable," simply because their mode of emotional affect is different from ours. We look upon the dark, brooding "Russian soul" with some awe and fear; but as a famous German scholar once observed, "The 'Russian soul' is an invention of the German philosophers."

Cultures do have differences, of course; no one would ever mistake an effusive Italian for a taciturn Scotsman. But such differences are far more superficial than we imagine — they are like different accents blurring the fact that they all speak the same basic language.

As a living laboratory in anthropology, it is fascinating to see how a new state like Israel has, in a generation or so, confounded the whole stereotype of the "Jew" as know in Western society. For the Israeli seems more like a Swede than a Jew, even physically. Leopards can change their spots when the spots have only been painted on by others.

White House Might Put Zip on Letters

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — When Elmira Star-Gazette reporter Dick Baumbach learned the White House did not use its zip code in its return address, he asked why—in light of the fact that the Post Office Department urges all citizens to use zip codes.

In response, White House aide Herbert Klein replied: "I will be glad to pass along your suggestion that we use one when more stationary is ordered." The White House zip code is 20500.

Exurban Sprawl Makes Value of Farmland Soar

Homes, Recreation Areas Going Up Outside Cities

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The search by America's mobile population for space and recreation is showing up in the values of the nation's farmlands, which Agriculture Department figures show have almost doubled in the past 15 years.

The national average of farmland prices reached an index of 188 last year, based on 1957-1959 equaling 100, but the gains in certain areas have been considerably larger.

A partial explanation lies in the steady encroachment of farmland areas by Americans fleeing to exurbia from the congestion and discord of urban centers. Second homes are contributing strongly. And recreational facilities are adding to the values.

Biggest Factors

A casual review of statistics maintained by the Economic Research Service suggests in fact that some of the biggest factors in farmland prices today are hardly associated with agriculture at all.

In Vermont, for example, prices have risen 250 per cent in less than 15 years—to an average of $180 an acre—a growth explained in part by the rapid development of ski areas and vacation homes amid the dairy farmers and pastures.

And in New Jersey, where farmland values averaging $1,000 an acre are higher than in any other state, the explanation is found by counting the residential developments rather than in technological improvements.

By contrast, acreage valued at $6,000 in the California citrus area is the result of a high degree of development. Highly productive trees, mechanization, irrigation.

Real Dollars

But whatever the reasons, prices in almost every state have been rising at a rate in excess of inflation. In other words, prices have been rising in real rather than current dollars.

Last year was an exception, with the national average of values growing by only 3 per cent—and falling in Kansas and California—while inflation exceeded 5 per cent. But the longer trend suggests that the pattern of increases will resume soon

This is how the indexes—remember, they're based on 1957-1959 equaling 100—look for the various regions:

Northeast 214, Lake States 175, Corn Belt 170, Northern Plains 171, Appalachian 197, Southwest 237, Delta 253, Southern Plains 212, Mountain 168, Pacific 178. The national average is 188.

In terms of dollars per acre, the Corn Belt reports the highest value at $380, and almost solely because of agricultural rather than population reasons.

In Order

Following in order are the Northeast $356, Pacific States $353, Delta $285, Southeast $262, Appalachian $259, Lake $247, Southern Plains $152, Northern Plains $120 and Mountain States $62.

The slowdown in price increases last year resulted largely from tight credit and uncertainty over general economic conditions, a government spokesman explained.

While the money situation will be considerably eased this year, strong gains are expected only in the Northeast and Southeast, in the first instance because of spreading urban growth and the desire for rural homes and in the Southeast because of technological improvements,

But one significant statistic provides more insight than any analysis: 40 per cent of farmland transfers his year are likely to involve buyers other than farmers.

Funds Granted For Expanded Youth Program

Work Plan Covers 8 Counties, Will Hire Total of 235

A youth work experience program conducted by the Appleton school district and recently expanded to cover eight mid-Fox Valley counties has been funded for the remainder of the school year.

The U.S. Labor Department said Tuesday that $39,950 was approved for the expanded Neighborhood Youth Corps program. The Appleton district has a program for 33 youths and is expanding it for 235 youths.

NYC provides work experience, supportive services and job training for impoverished youths, encouraging them to stay in school and providing them with spending money. Students work 10 hours per week during the school year and 20 to 32 in the summer.

Jobs cover a wide range, including maintenance, clerical and teachers aides in school to work with the Appleton Police Department and the YMCA and other nonprofit organizations. The federal funds provide most of the wages.

Half Are Hired

Donald Taylor, guidance counselor and assistant director of the program, said that about half of the 235 have been hired. The expanded program was endorsed recently by the Appleton Board of Education.

There was a feeling there was a need to expand the program in this area, Taylor said.

The eight counties are Outagamie, Calumet, Fond du Lac, Winnebago, Waushara, Waupaca, Green Lake and Dodge.

The labor department said that grants of $21,050 were approved for Menominee County and $21,190 for Dane County and Madison. These two projects are for aiding youths who are out of school

The total grant to the state was $124,554 to provide work for 230 jobless or underemployed. This includes $42,240 in joint Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare funds to train 20 general office clerks under institutional training provision of the Manpower Development and Training Act at the Racine Technical Institute.

Council Formed To Deal With Consumer Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department, saying it doesn't think government should regulate all businesses because of the actions of a few fly-by-nighters, has set up a council of businessmen to encourage industry to settle consumer complaints.

Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans said he hopes to appoint about 50 businessmen to the council within the next few months. William D. Lee, deputy assistant secretary for domestic business policy in the department. was appointed executive director of the council Monday.

Stans said businessmen must be convinced "that many of today's legitimate consumer complaints can be handled through voluntary action by the business community.

"We have no sympathy with the fly-by-night businessman who will not improve his consumer relations voluntarily," he added, "but we don't think it wise to turn the government screws on the whole business community because of the few."

New Tests Show Whitney Young Died of Drowning

NEW YORK (AP) — The results of a second autopsy performed on the body of Whitney M. Young Jr., former executive director of the National Urban League, attributes his death to drowning.

The results disclosed by the league Monday contradict the finding of the first postmorten examination performed in Lagos, Nigeria, that a subarachnoid hemorrhage was the cause of death.

Young, 49, died while swimming in strong ocean surf at a beach near Lagos on March 11.

Dr. Milton Helpern, the city's chief medical examiner, performed the second autopsy at the request of Young's family. He said he found no sign of subarachnoid hemorrhage or other traumatic injury and was "compelled to the conclusion that the death resulted from submersion."

U.S. Airpower To be Centered In Thailand

Presence in Asia Expected Long After Vietnam Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say U.S. airpower in Southeast Asia probably will be concentrated mainly in Thailand by the summer of next year.

That will be about the time the United States is scheduled to end direct military support of South Vietnamese forces inside their borders.

By maintaining significant elements of airpower in Thailand and afloat in the South China Sea, the United States will be in position to continue hitting enemy supply trails in Laos and Cambodia even after U.S. troops in South Vietnam have been cut to a relatively small advisory force.

Shield for Allies

Also, American airpower based in Thailand and elsewhere in Asia will be available as a shield for American allies in that area.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday he expects the United States to maintain an air and naval presence in Asia under the long-range Nixon doctrine after American ground troops are gone from South Vietnam.

That doctrine, enunciated when President Nixon began U.S. disengagement from the Indochina war nearly two years ago, contemplates that allies will use their ground forces to defend their security while the United States backs them up with air- and seapower plus increased aid in money and arms.

Ground Troops

Withdrawal of U.S. airpower from ietnam has been slower than the cutback of American ground troops. This is because the administration's Vietnamization program calls first for replacing U.S. infantrymen with South Vietnamese soldiers in combat while development of the Vietnamese air force moves ahead at a slower pace.

But seven U.S. Air Force fighter bomber squadrons are due to leave starting this summer. By the following summer the United States will have only a few squadrons of strike planes and gunships in South Vietnam.

According to current plans, the United States will retain about a dozen squadrons of attack planes and gunships in Thailand into the summer of 1972 and probably beyond.

Fewer Bombers

In addition, the Air Force will continue to base B52s in Thailand, although the force of giant bombers will be cut from the present 50 to about 28 by next spring.

The two Navy aircraft carriers stationed off Vietnam probably will be reduced to a single vessel carrying about 50 attack aircraft.

The other two carriers in the 7th Fleet will then be available for duty elsewhere in Far Eastern waters.

The United States also has fighter bombers based at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines and is in the process of moving two fighter wings from Japan to Okinawa.

These Air Force jets, coupled with Navy and Marine war planes afloat and at Far Eastern bases, will constitute the American airpower which can be moved about as needed

An Eight-Foot Statue of Sir Winston Churchill remains partially crated Tuesday after its arrival in St. Louis. Sculptor Franta Belsky wipes off travel dust. The statue, which Belsky says shows Churchill standing four-square in the face of adversity with an expression of cheerful determination, is en route to the Churchill Memorial at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., where the British leader made his famous "Iron Curtain" speech. Editor Chides Fellow Newsmen for Superficiality

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors chided fellow editors today for what he called lazy and superficial reporting, saying they are duped as readily by the Pentagon as by the New Left.

Newbold Noyes Jr., editor of Washington's Evening Star, urged 500 ASNE members at the start of their 1971 convention to try for "a more sophisticated, a more serious perspective on our jobs."

"We cannot keep saying that we are merely spectators of the unfolding scene, charged with transmitting it to the public.

"We are not just spectators. We are the people who must, whether we like it or not, decide what is worthy of public attention, and who must determine the way it is to be presented," he said.

Both Sides

Noyes suggested newspapers have been "letting the kooks on both sides determine for us what constitutes tomorrow's news—and the kookier their activity, the bigger the news." He asked: "Can we blame our readers for sensing that something is wrong with our performance?"

"No doubt the Pentagon easily makes suckers of the press—but no more easily than the New Left does," he said. "We are, it seems to me, tragically failing to develop for our readers any meaningful perspective on the activities of such special pleaders.

"Newspaper readers, which means ordinary people, need and deserve the information, the understanding, which will permit them to sort out the forces at work in society and to decide where their true interests lie."

The most frequent criticism of newspapers, he said, seems to be that the press has forsaken objectivity, "that public confidence is being eroded by a wave of activism sweeping through our newsrooms."

Noyes disagreed but said he did find newspapers guilty of being "lazy and superficial in much of our reporting."

He asked why newspapers, including his own, "had to wait for a graduate student writing in the New Yorker magazine" to explode the myth that 28 Black Panthers had been murdered by the police.

"I have long ago stopped being amazed at my own inertia and stupidity," Noyes added, "but I am truly amazed to find that all my fellow editors were, on this particular story, as inert and stupid as I was."

Ethics Body

He disagreed, however, with a proposal under study by the ASNE to establish a body similar to the British Press Council to oversee the ethical performance of member papers.

The difficulties of the editor's task have made it convenient, Noyes said, to "hide behind simplistic, even childish formulas as to what is news . . . "

"We must find new techniques for this honorable craft . . . . I do not know what these techniques are . . . . But I know that we must grow up, must change, because our readers are changing and growing up.

"They are demanding more of us now, and they are entitled to more from us than they are getting," he said.

The ASNE Freedom of Information Committee urged the society to support a "national shield law" to protect the anonymity of news sources.

Mayor Admits Past 'Sins'

FAYETTE, Miss. (AP) — Charles Evers, the only black mayor of a Mississippi town and a likely gubernatorial candidate said today that he ran prostitution, bootlegging and numbers operations before his climb to prominence. But, he said, "I wouldn't do it again. Racism drove me to it," Evers said in an interview. "No jobs or anything."

Evers, expected to be selected Sunday as a gubernatorial candidate by loyalist Democrats, said, "I'm in politics now. I don't want anybody to support me and not know what I have been."

He made his comments when questioned about preview reports of his book, entitled "Evers," which will be published next Sunday.

His family owned funeral parlors at Philadelphia, Forest and Mount Olive, he said, when he tried bootlegging in a state that remained dry until 1966.

"I'd buy 10 or 12 cases from white bootleggers in Vicksburg," he said, "and I'd put them in the hearse. I'd drive through Jackson with my siren going and go to one of the funeral parlors. We kept the liquor in the embalming room."

In World War II in the Philippines, he said, "I supplied girls to the GI's. I would charge 10 pesos and I kept eight and gave the girls two.

"In Chicago after the war, I ran prostitution and numbers rackets. I made money on it all.

"These big shot white guys came in and wanted a girl. I made one convenient for them. It wasn't just black girls. I had all kinds—girls period."

He said while "I have no regrets about the past . . . I am not bragging about it. It is a statement of fact I hope no young people will do it. Racism drove me to it—no jobs or anything."

Washington in Spring

It's Tourist Time

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In springtime Washington's most prominent landmark has flat feet.

It isn't the pink cherry trees or the marble buildings, but the tourists.

They're everywhere. Thousands of them. Hundreds of thousands.

They coil around the Washington Monument in hour-long lines, shuffle through the White House, stare into empty Senate and House chambers vacated by congressmen off on yet another holiday.

The feet ache inside sneakers as they line up at the Justice Department to watch FBI gunslingers fire submachine gun bullets into paper people.

Camera straps bite into shoulders as they search in growing frustration for a public restroom or a place to eat, park or sit down, all surprisingly scarce in the American mecca.

More Lines

They line up to buy cheap trinkets from souvenir hawkers and eat overpriced hot dogs for lunch.

They talk in a Southern drawl, Midwestern twang, the nonaccent of Southern California, French, Japanese, everything.

Two Pennsylvania Dutch girls stand at the feet of the great stone Lincoln, looking like people from his own time in their long gingham dresses and oldfashioned shoes.

"They have rest rooms here!" a jubilant mother announces to her sons outside the memorial. "I'll meet you out front here in five minutes."

Touring the national monuments inside the blue-and-white bus-trains, the stoic sightseers suffer without a sound through the guide's corny humor: "If any of you are from California they have something inside the Commerce Department there that should make you feel right at home. It's a seismograph and they tell me they're still packing up earth tremors from the coast."

Those who think many people care about the high government figures may get a shock when the guide points out the posh Watergate Apartments, "home of Martha Mitchell and some of our Cabinet officers." So much for the secretaries of State, Transportation, Housing and Urban Development and Martha's husband, the attorney general.

For that matter, some of the tourists themselves get a wrench when the kids don't find the city as advertised.

"Mommy," shouted a disappointed young lad, "that's the only thing the Lincoln Memorial is?"

But at the end of the day, with the sun sinking blood red in the haze of auto and jet exhaust hanging over Arlington Cemetery across the Potomac, Sam Shuster of Cleveland still can tell his wife and two small sons, "It's the most beautiful city I've ever seen."

Mississippi Flood Threat Is Reduced

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Flood forecasts for the Mississippi River and its tributaries were revised downward by the National Weather Service Tuesday.

The Service said that most of the remaining snow cover over Minnesota and Wisconsin had been melted by last week's warm temperatures. But the dry and windy conditions since April 6 resulted in a reduced snowmelt.

The revised forecasts are based only on snowmelt, and do not take additional rainfall possibilities into consideration. The Weather Service said that it would issue updated forecasts if run-off producing rains occur between now and the crest forecast dates.

The Mississippi is expected to crest on Friday at 10.6 feet in St. Paul, where flood stage is 14 feet. Crests are anticipated Saturday at Alma, Wis., and Winona, Minn.

Crest Forecast

The Weather Service forecast a crest of 12.5 feet at Alma, and a 14-foot crest at Winona, one foot above flood stage.

The Chippewa River crested Tuesday morning at Eau Claire, Wis., at one-tenth of a foot above flood stage. A 13-foot crest—two feet above flood stage—was predicted for late Tuesday night at Durand.

The Wisconsin River reached 11.4 feet Tuesday at Merrill, four-tenths of a foot above flood stage. It was expected to show little change for the next 24 hours before started to fall slowly. At Wisconsin Rapids, the river was cresting at 10.8 feet. The flood stage there is 12 feet.

The Wisconsin was just a fraction below flood stage at Portage Tuesday, and a crest of 17.5 feet—half a foot above flood stage—was predicted for Thursday. The river is expected to crest Sunday at Muscoda, half a foot below the nine foot flood stage.

Plastic Toy Balls Found By FDA to be Flammable

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration, whose initial tests had shown that a plastic toy called the Nerf Ball did not appear to be flammable, has now declared the ball flammable.

Samuel M. Hart, director of the FDA office of product safety, said further tests on the softball-sized toys have shown them in violation of the 1969 Toy Safety Act.

Randolph P. Barton, executive vice president of Parker Bros. Inc., of Salem, Mass., said the firm has stopped making the old Nerf Balls and reformulated them to be less flammable.

"There is no seizure at the present time," said Hart. He said FDA officials are conferring with Parker Bros. on what to do about the Nerf Balls.

Parker Bros. sold about 4 million of the balls last year. Barton said he expects stocks of the old formula ball to be exhausted by the end of next month, when the new formulation will probably be ready for market.

Barton said production of the old formulation stopped in March, when Consumers Union of Mount Vernon, N.Y., reported its tests showed the ball to have failed the standards in the 1969 act.

Senate Favors Merchant, Assembly Backs Consumer

Buyers, Sellers Legislation Heads for Collision

MADISON, Wis (AP) — The credit card and the creditor are cruising toward a showdown in the Wisconsin Legislature over measures which would alter the relationships between the debtor and his shylock.

The Legislative Council's Uniform Consumer Credit Code Committee has scheduled a hearing April 19 to review suggestions for a state law that would utilize provisions of a proposed national code to govern credit transactions.

Wisconsin lawmakers have received two main proposals. One of them is Senate Bill 263, which critics describe as favoring creditors. The other is Assembly Bill 515, which is more likely to win the backing of consumer protection groups.

Debate is virtually assured, and the credit code committee isn't expected to be able to emerge with a proposal that will satisfy everyone. The committee is probably going to have to aim at some sort of compromise between the Assembly and Senate plans.

Long Study

The proposed national code is a result of two years of study by the National Commussioners of Uniform State laws.

It would greatly change the traditional rules governing collection of bills, the "cooling-off period" during which a consumer can change his mind about a purchase before having to pay for it, and the merchants' powers of guaranteeing consumer payment.

It would influence interest rates on charge accounts, the defiency judgments which creditors seek against over-due creditors, and even garnishments or assignment of wages to cover unpaid bills and loans.

The Senate bill has been introduced by a dozen legislators from both parties.

The Assembly bill is fashioned after a proposed National Consumer Act, which has been prepared under auspieces of the Office of Economic Opportunity by a team of lawyers whose sympathies were with consumers.

State Rep. Lloyd Barbee, D-Milwaukee, calls the Assembly version a consumers' bill of rights.

The clout of the lending business, Barbee said, "has been on the side of the creditors, an advantage which lending institutions have not failed to use when exploiting the unwary and the poor."

Consumer groups call for better rules to restran the salesman who& whether in a store or in the consumer's living room, uses a fancy sales talk to commit the unsuspecting victim to hidden interest charges, unexplained handling expenses and other bill-padding costs.

Bills such as those sponsored by Barbee are designed to give the purchaser an easy road back to financial safety, and to free him from being hounded by a bill collector for payment of an item which may prove to be defective or which the buyer finds unsatisfactory

Legislative debate probably will pivot on the differences between the Senate and Assembly approaches to the issue.

Some of the differences are sharply defined. The Senate bill would allow wage assignment and garnishment. The Assembly bill would prohibit it.

The Senate bill would allow a consumer a three-day "cooling-off period" on items sold by salesmen in the consumer's home. The Assembly bill would allow 10 days, and would also allow store patrons time to affirm a purchase of more than $50.

Interest Rates

Interest rates on loans of $500 or less would range to 36 per cent in the Senate bill, and to 15 per cent on loans greater than $1,000. There is even a clause to allow interest rates to rise if the cost of living increases.

The Assembly version would hold interest to 15 per cent on loans of $300 or less, and to only 6 per cent on loans exceeding $1,000.

Interest on revolving charge accounts, a favorite target of consumer protection groups, could be 2 per cent monthly on unpaid balance of up to $200 in the Senate bill.

The Assembly bill proposes a 1¼ per cent limit on unpaid balances of up to $300, and no more than 1 per cent on balances of up to $1,000.

As for legal fees involved in collecting bills, the Senate bill would require the debtor to pay up to 15 per cent of legal expenses. The Assembly bill would free debtors from having to pay the expenses.

File Complaint

The Senate bill contains no appreciable provisions for debt collection practices. The Assembly bill would prohibit a collector from using threats or violence.

A consumer who doesn't want to pay for an item he considers defective would be allowed 90 days to file a complaint before having to pay under the Senate bill. The Assembly bill would leave the bill collector subject to suit without a time limit.

The Senate bill would place enforcement of the code in the hands of a branch of the state banking commission office.

The Assembly bill would establish a consumer counsel division under the governor's jurisdiction.

Holy Name Mass

GREENVILLE — Holy Name Society men and boys will receive corporate communion at the 9 a.m. mass Sunday at St. Mary Catholic Church. Breakfast, a meeting and election of officers will follow in the school hall.

Unicameral Legislature Rejected

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The idea of a unicameral legislature was rejected Tuesday by the Assembly's Judiciary Committee.

The committee recommended 9-1 against a proposal for a constitutional amendment under which the state's two legislative chambers would be consolidated.

"With two houses, all you do is done twice," Rep. Lloyd Barbee said in defense of the bill. "You're fighting twice."

Canadian provinces have turned to unicameral legislatures, he argued, adding that even England's House of Lords has had most of its authority turned over to the House of Commons.

In the United States, Nebraska is noted for its single-house legislature.

Miss Gladys Walsh of Madison said she has felt obliged to testify for 36 years against unicameral proposals, saying a single chamber might lead to hasty action on bills.

"I've always advocated a legislature that takes its time," she argued.

Barbee said two houses lead to "buck passing" because one chamber expects the other to cover its errors.

Even the checks and balances that dual legislators are supposed to guarantee aren't working, "except for speeches," Barbee remarked.

Appleton to Register 18-to-20-Year-Olds

Operating on instructions recently issued by the Wisconsin secretary of state's office and backed by the attorney general, Appleton City Clerk Elden Broehm has opened the city voter registration rolls for federal elections to 18-to-20 - year-old residents.

Broehm announced Tuesday that separate alphabetical and geographic poll lists have been set up.

The first such regular election would be the April, 1972, Wisconsin presidential primary.

Under the interpretation of the U.S. Supreme Court, voters under 21 may participate in elections of federal officials, including congressmen, senators and President. States may lower the voting age for state and local elections.

Separate Polls

For that reason, the voter registration lists for those under and over 21 must be kept separate, unless pending legislation permits the younger group to vote in state and local elections.

Broehm telephoned the secretary of state's office and was told that if local college students choose to register in Appleton they may, as long as they satisfy the requirement to have lived in Wisconsin six months and Appleton 10 days prior to the election.

That would allow Lawrence University students whose parents live elsewhere to vote here.

Legislation is pending in Madison to require students to demonstrate intentions to establish permanent residency in the community where they attend school, a move to discourage them from voting in college or university towns.

'Cheapest Cops'

Pair of Hot Issues Spark Grand Chute Annual Meeting

BY PETER BACH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A heated dispute was generated at the Town of Grand Chute annual meeting Tuesday night when it was announced that laborers' pay was being raised 25 cents more per hour than patrolmen's.

This, and charges that some town residents are littering highways en route to the landfill brought volleys of hot discussion.

Road workers' pay was raised from $3 they received last year to $3.50. The hourly rate of the five deputies who patrol town roads were hiked from $2.25 to $2.50.

Riled after hearing the announcement, Constable John Arft charged, "My men are the cheapest paid cops in the country. Someone points a shotgun at my man, yet a common laborer gets a 50-cent raise."

"He's taking his life in his hands," came a voice from the back of the room. "To me, a deputy's worth a lot more."

Robert Swalby, secretary of the town's wage and salary committee said "We compromised at a quarter. The chief asked for a 50-cent raise."

After taking a voice vote of the estimated 125 persons gathered for the meeting, the town board referred the matter back to committee for study. The final decision on an additional hike for deputies wil be made by the board.

Walter Dreier, a 25-year-old town resident who lives on State 47 just north of County Trunk JJ, spoke out against conditions at the town landfill site, west of where he lives. He claimed uncovered debris at the site has been blowing onto properties all along 47.

"I can haul the stuff out to the dump," he quipped, "and it's back in my yard before I get home again. — If they had a truck to compress it, it wouldn't blow all over like that."

Dreier favored a return to residential garbage pickup which the town voted down on a referendum over a year ago.

"This man is talking litter, not garbage," replied John Freude, who lives near Treasure Island on W. College Avenue. The "turkey feathers and chicken manure" dropping off trucks en route to the dump is at fault, he said.

Livingston explained that recently the town has been unable to satisfactorily cover trash at its landfill because a Caterpillar gets mired in mud. Trash may blow over the east fence of the dump, he said.

As a result, the town authorized Town Attorney Donald Herrling to prepare an ordinance that would require residents to cover trash while it's being hauled to the landfill to prevent spills.

Herrling said he hopes to combine the ordinance with the state littering law.

In other business, the town raised the salaries of the chairman and assessor. Livingston's post was hiked to $4.000 per year, an increase of $1,000. Assessor John Stevens was boosted from $2,270 to $2,500. to $2,500. Salaries and hourly rates of other officials stayed the same.

Fire Chief Vincent Baum explained that the town's new rescue van, purchased at a cost of $10,800, should be ready for operation soon. Fifty per cent of the cost will be borne by matching federal funds.

Baum explained the van will not be used as an ambulance. Instead, the unit, when fully equipped, will respond to town emergencies, such as trapped children or traffic accidents requiring heavy equipment to extract victims.

The town voted to hold next year's annual meeting on the second Tuesday in April.

The Preparation for American citizenship is the theme of the play. "The Education of Hyman Kaplan," which will be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at Fox Valley Lutheran High. Discussing the question of Americanization are two classmates, Hyman (Dave Romberg) and Rose (Connie Baehman). (Post-Crescent Photo)

Rescue Van Proposal Sent Back to Panel

The Appleton Board of Health today sent a proposal to buy a new fire department rescue vehicle back to the City Council public safety committee.

But a proposal to enact regulations covering private ambulances is expected to be brought up separately in the near future.

Ald. Thomas Mulvihill (14th), who had the rescue vehicle question referred from the council committee to the Board of Health more than a month ago, said he still intends to seek an ordinance regulationg emergency vehicle attendants.

The proposal has been discussed a number of times in the health board, with ambulance operators and others saying a meaningful ordinance would be unworkable unless a costly staff of inspectors also was provided.

The Fire Department has sought City Council approval to replace a van in the squad at a cost of $10,520, half to be paid by federal grant.

The proposal touched off a running debate between the department and private ambulance operators, who charge that the city is in unfair competition with them.

Hietpas Annexation by City Challenged by Grand Chute

The Town of Grand Chute today served a complaint against Appleton, challenging the validity of the recent 200-acre Hietpas annexation on the northeast side.

The suit charges that the annexation was accomplished illegally, because the annexation petition lacked sufficient signatures by landowners in the territory to represent either one-half of the land area or one-half of the real estate and assessed value.

Residents living along French Road recently appeared before the City Council to complain that they had never been notified by the city that they were about to be annexed.

They also claimed that there were too few signatures on the annexation petition.

The annexation also includes city-owned land in the Northeast Industrial Park. The complaint states that "the purported annexation was not initiated upon proper authority, and the purported signature of the City of Appleton to said petition was not based upon proper and lawful authority."

Mayor George Buckley signed the petition on Jan. 8 for the city, as the owner of about 69.5 acres.

The petition also contains signatures of 67 other property owners or residents.

Donald R. Herrling, town attorney, issued a statement explaining the lawsuit.

"It has always been the position of the Town of Grand Chute that residents of Grand Chute, if they desired to be annexed to the City of Appleton, should have that privilege," Herrling said. "It has also been the Town's position that no one should be forced into the city against their wishes."

"It appears that none of the residents and property owners on the east side of the French Road joined in the petition of annexation. More importantly, there are more than 15 property owners involved in this annexation, and it appears that fewer than one-third of them signed the petition for annexation. There is a question whether or not the property owners that did sign own more than 50 per cent of the area to be annexed."

The town is asking for a Circuit Court judgment nullifying the city's actions, declaring the annexation contrary to the public interest, upholding the town's claims, restraining the city from exercising jurisdiction in the territory, declaring the annexation "arbitrary and capricious and an abuse of discretion" and giving any other relief "as may be just and proper."

The complaint also claims that the annexation is "arbitrary, unreasonable and capricious" in part because "governmental services to the territory, including zoning, can better be supplied by and through the town than the city," the shape of the area is highly irregular and the territory is "not homogenous with that of the city."

The city has 20 days to answer the complaint, which comes near the end of the legal period for such a challenge to be filed after the city's adoption of the annexation ordinance.

The annexation was enacted by the City Council Feb. 18.

Legislator Says He Might Call Hearing On Pollution of Fox

MADISON — The chairman of the State Assembly's Natural Resources Committee said today that he was inclined to call a public hearing on a recent petition demanding investigation of pollution of the Fox River.

However, State Rep. Lewis Mittness, D-Janesville, indicated that his committee would study the matter more first to determine if a hearing were advisable.

The petition, signed by over 600 Valley residents and transmitted to the State Legislature in mid-March by Gordon Bubolz, Appleton, attacked the "continued scandalous deterioration in the Fox River Valley environment" and demanded a complete and thorough investigation" by the legislature.

Bubolz is chairman of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission and an outspoken critic of industrial polluting of the Fox.

The petition was sent to Mittness, together with a cover letter, by Bubolz, a prominent Republican. Bubolz leveled similar charges against the Republican state administration last fall in an episode that was exploited during the election campaign of Patrick J. Lucey, now the Democratic governor.

Mittness strongly indicated that he wanted to investigate the charges in the petition, but said he couldn't say at this time what his precise plans are.

"We are still gathering facts and it's difficult to say at this time," he said, "but we are gathering additional information so that we know exactly what to pursue and where we are headed when and if we do engage in this hearing."

He noted that the hearing wouldn't be directed at one individual industry or group of industries but at the problem, which would include municipalities. Cities are serious polluters, too, he said.

He said one question in his prehearing investigation would be: "Can we do something more than we presently are doing to avoid polluting the river?" He answered that more can obviously be done.

He indicated there might be many reasons for holding the hearing, including as a help to

Tax Protest Turned Down By City Finance Committee

The City Council's finance committee turned down a tax protest Tuesday from a man who moved to Appleton a year ago and saw the property taxes on his home jump $151.71 in his first tax bill.

The committee told Harold K. Oswald, 622 E. Grant St., in effect that he was in the wrong place at the wrong time with his protest.

Oswald complained of "selective re-evaluation." He explained that the assessed valuation placed on his home by Assessor George Schwarzbauer was raised to $8,500, from $6,750 when he bought the home. The only basis for the increase was the price he paid for the home — $23,900 — Oswald said.

In a written statement, Oswald said that while the State Supreme Court has held that the sale price is the final factor determining assessed valuation, "it does not follow that when a home is sold or bought it should be reassessed or even considered for reassessment.

Only Fair Way

"This can only be done fairly by geographic area and on a scheduled basis."

He asked to have his tax bill reduced to $479.46, the sum Schwarzbauer calculated would have been paid by the previous owner if the valuation has been unchanged. Oswald also said his valuation should be returned to $6,750 "until all homes in my area of town have been re-evaluated."

Schwarzbauer replied that because the former owner "got away with something" doesn't entitle Oswald to the same treatment.

The committee told Oswald its authority only covers correcting mistakes in tax bills. Since Oswald is objecting to his assessed valuation, he was told he should have appeared last summer at the annual board of review. Oswald said he missed the session out of ignorance of the meaning of the notice he received saying his assessed valuation was being raised.

"We would certainly do something, but our hands are tied," said Ald. Alvin Tews (5th), committee chairman.

Interpretation of Letter

Schwarzbauer and Oswald clashed in interpreting a letter the assessor wrote offering to adjust the assessed value next year and the year after. The offer also puzzled committeemen.

Schwarzbauer proposed reducing the assessed value to $7,000 this year, resulting in lower taxes at the end of the year to "compensate you for your 1970 assessment." Then in 1972 the value would be raised to $8,000.

Oswald refused, saying the offer meant waiting until his tax bill arrives at the end of this year to receive an adjustment. "I can die in the meantime," he said, demanding immediate relief. He argued that the arrangement would be unfair to

$15,000 Needed Yearly

City Could Handle It's Reassessment

A $15,000 yearly addition to the assessor's office budget could accomplish a total reassessment of Appleton within a few years, Assessor George Schwarzbauer said Tuesday.

Schwarzbauer offered the suggestion in answer to criticism of the city's current assessment system, a topic during the City Council finance committee's annual hearing on tax protests.

"It has been 40 years since the last general reassessment, and I admit some inequities could develop," Schwarzbauer told the committee.

He said hiring a private appraisal firm could cost the city $250,000. The same end could be accomplished at a fraction of the cost by enlarging his budget so he could expand his field staff, he maintained.

Elaborating this morning, Schwarzbauer said that at present he has one field man and four office clerks on his staff. For $15,000 he could hire two more field men, and the resulting crew of theee could cover one-fourth of the city in a year, he estimated.

One of its prime jobs would be to search out home improvements made without building permits, and to inspect property that looks suspicious on the assessment rolls.

The committee refused to hear debate on the need for a reassessment. Ald. Robert Roemer (8th) told Schwarzbauer and Harold Oswald, 622 E. Grant St., a tax protester, that a special hearing has been proposed for that purpose.

But Roemer said while the proposal is expected to be on the finance committee agenda next Monday night, he doubts the committee will act. The City Council reorganizes later this month and committee memberships may be changed. For that reason, Roemer said it is likely the hearing request will be left for the new finance committee.

Oswald charged his home was reassessed solely on the basis of the purchase price he paid a year ago, and he complained thus constitutes "selective reassessment."

While he also called for a city-wide reappraisal of property for tax purposes, he disagreed that the assessor's office should do it. He said a private firm would be more impartial, and said the cost would only amount to $10 per household, more or less, which he termed "a small price to pay."

Schwarzbauer said Oswald's "newspaper campaign" against revising assessed values on the basis of recent sale prices had brought the assesor an "unusual number of complaint's." But he offered to answer any questions from taxpayers. He urged them to multiply the assessed value set by his office by 2.5, and if it doesn't equal current market value, to notify his office.

Xavier Hopes to Decrease Tuition

BY MAIJA PENIKIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Money — how to raise it and how best to distribute it to boost the enrollment at Xavier — topped the list of priorities at the Xavier High School Board meeting Monday.

Recently the board had hiked the tuition in order to meet the rising educational costs, and the members feel that the increase may be responsible in large part for the decrease in enrollment.

An auction-benefit party which is expected to raise about $40,000 or $50,000 is planned for April 24. With the event, the board hopes to cut back on the tuition cost and give some of the money for scholarships.

Tuition Decreases

After the auction the board will decide how much tuition will be decreased in each case. The increase went according to the number of children from each family at Xavier.

About $70,000 worth of merchandise has been donated for the auction by local merchants, according to George Karras, a member of the board heading the procurement committee.

A special committee to distribute the money after the auction will be set up but the proposal is to give 50 per cent of the profits for scholarships and 50 per cent for lowering of tuitions.

Distribution would be on the basis of support of Xavier's capital improvements by parishes.

Another effort to get additional funds was made through an April 2 letter to the Most Rev. Aloysius Wycislo, bishop of Green Bay.

A request for $40,000 from the Diocesan Services Appeal monies was made by the Rev. Emmet Weber, superintendent, with the blessings of the board.

The contingency fund of the annual diocesan appeal was set up for such needs.

No answer has been received from the bishop to date.

In other business, the board also agreed to stick to a policy not to accept students back into Xavier after they have left for another school.

Exceptions will require the approval of the board.

"We want to discourage trial periods because that not only is chaotic to our plans, but also harmful to the student," Weber said.

The board also asked the administration to look into various methods to better utilize the brother's house. The house has room for about 19 and only four brothers are expected for the fall term.

FVTI May Buy Land Under Option

Fox Valley Technical Institute (FVTI) officials have suggested the possibility of the district buying 103 acres of county land it has under option on a land contract in lieu of the county extending the option.

William Sirek, FVTI director, told the Outagamie County Board's executive committee today that the district could not pay the total purchase price of the land from this year's budget but could possibly pay the $206,000 over a three or four year period.

The school district's option on the 103-acre site, located west of U.S. 41 at County Trunk OO, expires May 14. A five year extension of the option has been requested by the district board but some supervisors have objected to an extension at the current option price of $2,000 per acre.

The executive committee agreed to have the county corporation counsel meet with the district's attorney to work out a purchase agreement proposal to present to the county board, probably at the May meeting.

Sirek told the committee the district was not "100 per cent ready" to buy the 103 acres but at the same time did not want to give up the rights to the property.

He said enrollment growth at the FVTI has been spectacular and that new programs are contemplated for which additional space will be needed.

He cited the existing statewide truck driver training program and said this may be expanded to include bus driving. He said land would be needed away from builings to build a driving course which could then also be used for adult driver education and high school driver education.

"This could be a driving range for all phases of driver education," he said.

Sirek also indicated agriculture and conservation programs are expanding and that land for crop test plots would be needed.

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, suggested that if the district could not exercise the present option, the new option incorporate a four per cent annual interest figure to offset increased land values. "We want to be fair to the school but we also want to be fair to the county taxpayers," he said.

Sirek said the proposals would be discussed by the district board Monday night.

his neighbors, and charged that it was an attempt to silence him.

Schwarzbauer said, "My office does not make deals." Committeemen also were read his letter to Oswald, which said the offer to alter the assessment "is not to say that your property is over-assessed," but was made "in view of some of the glaring discrepancies in your immediate neighborhood."

Former Assessment

Oswald's former-assessed value was just above 25 per cent of the price he paid for the home. The citywide average is about 43 per cent of market value, and in Oswald's neighborhood is about 36 per cent, the level to which Schwarzbauer raised it.

When a home is sold, "We have to reevaluate when they don't fit the pattern," Schwarzbauer said.

"I felt sorry for the man and this was my first mistake."

Tews told Schwarzbauer, "Your letter upsets people" because it "raises an awful lot of questions."

After Oswald had left the meeting, Ald. Robert Roemer (8th) asked Schwarzbauer why he had offered in February to lower Oswald's assessment, but now was advising the committee to deny the tax protest.

The assessor replied that his suggestion to Oswald dealt with the assessed valuation, which the law empowers the assessor to change. His advice to the committee refers to the tax bill itself, which he said is correct, since it properly reflects the assessed value, Schwarzbauer said.

The committee asked whether Schwarzbauer would consider recommending a change in the tax bill, on the assumption that the assessment is too high. Schwarzbauer began to offer a suggestion, but committeemen abruptly decided against the action and voted to deny the protest.

Giant Dairy Cooperative Formed

BY DAVID WEITZ
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

FOND DU LAC — Associated Milk Producers, Inc., (AMPI) became the largest dairy cooperative in Wisconsin Tuesday as Pure Milk Products Cooperative (PMPC) delegates okayed a merger of their bargaining organizations.

The vote came after limited discussion. Delegates cast ballots for 9,892 members with 8,035 ratifying the merger which was supported unanimously by the organization's board of directors when proposed in February. The merger will become effective May 1.

The decision to combine the cooperatives actually was favored by 81.2 per cent of the vote. A two-thirds majority is required for passage.

Pure Milk Products Cooperative, with more than 11,000 members, was the largest cooperative in the state. An official estimated its net assets at $1.5 million.

Largest Cooperative

The merger is the largest in the 19-month history of Associated Milk Producers Inc., which has mushroomed from its San Antonio headquarters to stretch to Canada. The enterprise is the largest regional dairy cooperative in the nation, claiming more than 30,000 members before the merger.

Last year PMPC members shipped an estimated 3 billion pounds of milk. AMPI members marketed an estimated 10 billion pounds of milk in 1970.

PMPC will join the Tri-State Region of the organization which encompasses parts of Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

37 New Delegates

The package also places 37 new PMPC delegates on the Tri-State Region board of directors which now totals 32 members. Operations of the PMPC headquarters here will be changed little for the present time.

Affeldt blamed "old animosities" for the 18.8 per cent vote against the merger. "There are still people who are more loyal to their own chamber of commerce and their dairy plants than to their dairy co-ops."

Present PMPC contracts with dairies will remain in force, according to Butterbrodt.

Both stressed that unification will add strength to dairymen. "I think they'll surely have a much larger unified voice in the Chicago order," said Affeldt.

Market Assured

Farmers switching from Grade B to Grade A milk production will be assured of a market, according to Affeldt. "The Grade B farmers are going to be turning Grade A and this is going to assure them of an outlet either through the order or through the standby pool."

The organizations already have been coordinating activities closely for six months, said Butterbrodt.

"When we went to the White House in March, Paul Affeldt and Bill Eckles were with us," he said. Eckles is general manager of Pure Milk Products Cooperative. AMPI and other farm organizations appealed to White House representatives for higher price support levels for milk shortly before Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin increased payment levels.

Butterbrodt said the merger will give AMPI added political wallop. "We'll be stronger in the legislative and marketing fields."

Abbot Pennings High Fund Raising Events Start Sunday

DE PERE — The campaign by the Abbot Pennings Foundation to raise funds for the support of Abbot Pennings High School will be kicked off with a Las Vegas Night party and alumni reunion Sunday at The Prom here.

Pete Peterson's Orchestra will provide music for dancing. There will be Las Vegas tables for gambling with play money and an auction of prizes with the play money won at the tables. All proceeds will go to the foundation.

The fund campaign was initiated earlier this month with a mailing to some 2,000 alumni, parents and friends of school. The present financial operations of the school were described and it was pointed out that traditional sources of income are no longer sufficient to maintain the high standards of instruction which St. Norbert High School and its successor, Abbot Pennings, have aimed for in the past.

The campaign is being conducted by the board of trustees of the foundation which includes 34 men and women from this area. The immediate goal is a $20,000 annual subsidy to the school's operating expenses, a goal which later will be expanded to meet longer-range objectives.

Graduates From Kimberly Class Continue School

KIMBERLY — A survey by the high school guidance department reveals that 39 per cent of the 1970 graduating class are continuing some type of education, according to Principal Darrell Larson.

Of this amount, 25.4 per cent are enrolled in four-year colleges. Wisconsin State Universities attracted 37 students, University of Wisconsin reports eight students and seven are attending private schools. Twenty-three students are enrolled in technical schools and five are in other schools.

Eighteen graduates are working in the paper industry, 82 are employed in other areas, 14 are in military service, six of the girls are housewives, eight are unemployed and the department was unable to locate three students.

the Fox basin being selected for a multi-million-dollar cleanup under a largely federally financed water management pilot project. He said that he and his fellow committeemen endorse the Fox for this project.

"I would support the prospect of the Fox River Valley for the demonstration river project because I think its problems are worse than the Rock River's in his Assembly district, he said, noting that the Fox is being considered and should be supported.

Mittness said the Fox might be the best river for incorporating his idea of the utility concept for controlling pollution of a river. This concept basically is setting up a regional authority with taxing and operating powers to run sewerage operations.

The legislator indicated that he had talked with Michael Long and John Armstrong, of John Armstrong and Associates, Ann Arbor, Mich., consulting firm which studied waters of the region for the Upper Great Lakes Regional Planning Commission.

The firm presented the utility concept to the commission and urged that the Fox River be the primary project area.

Mittness said he also had talked to other local officials in the Valley but remembered only Bubolz's name. "I have had a conversation with him but nothing more than asking for additional information and discussing the general proposition with him," he said of Bubulz.

A spokesman for Bubolz said that Bubolz hadn't taken any major role in the petition. "He just signed the petition; he didn't form the whole idea" by himself, the spokesman said, noting that groups from Green Bay, Neenah - Menasha and Appleton were involved in the circulating.

Appleton Fire Department Reinstates 2 Suspended Men

Two members of the Appleton Fire Department suspended without pay last year were reinstated and reported for duty Tuesday afternoon.

The men, Lt. Larry Workman, 115 Gardeners Row, and Louis B. Gerarden, 46, route 3, Appleton, an alarm room dispatcher, were summoned to report by Fire Chief Roland Kuehnl.

Earlier in the afternoon, Kuehnl received a directive from the secretary of the Fire and Police Commission to reinstate the men.

A key factor in the reinstatements was an arbitrator's ruling of March 26 in which he declared the suspensions arbitrable. The arbitration directed the parties — Local Fire Fighters Union 257 and the City of Appleton — to implement a previously arranged settlement.

Gerarden was suspended by the commission Sept. 9 for a residency violation. According to the commission rules, all public protection employes are required to live within the Appleton Public School District.

Workman was suspended by Kuehnl last Aug. 27 for conduct unbecoming an officer. Kuehnl took the action on the basis of numerous complaints filed against Workman by the Police and Health Departments since he began work with the fire department Jan. 1, 1956.

Gerarden joined the department on Feb. 1, 1961. He had lived in Mackville for the past 18 months.

The two cases went through all six steps of the city-union grievance procedure. According to that procedure, the arbitrator's ruling is final.

Appleton Personnel Director Gerald Lang said this morning the question of back pay will have to be negotiated between the city and the union later.

Irv Curry, attorney for the union, said last week that the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC), who arbitrated the cases, never got around to the issues.

Jurisdictional disputes reportedly hampered some of the grievance proceedings.

Two Appleton police officers, Patrolman Patrick Amerson and Bruce R. Peirson, who were suspended for two days in March of 1969 for the same residency violation, are awaiting the action of the state mediator in their cases.

3 Fox Valley Students Win Merit Scholarships

Three Fox Cities students have been named winners of National Merit Scholarships.

The two Appleton winners are Steven Dercks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Dercks, 1819 N. Nicholas St., an Appleton High School-West student, and Michael F. Earle, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Earle, 1523 N. Appleton St., a Xavier student.

Steven J. Hanson, a student at S.F. Shattuck High School, Neenah, received the Kimberly-Clark Merit Scholarship.

Also among the 26 Wisconsin winners is Candace Derickson, Oshkosh High School, who received the Reader's Digest Merit Scholarship.

Dercks

Earle

Dercks and Earle both won the Consolidated Papers, Inc., Merit Scholarships. Dercks plans to major in mathematics and science. He is in the National Honor Soceity, is captain of the varsity cross-country and track teams, in the Lettermens' Club, Pep Club and is a cheerleader.

Earle hopes to major in political science. He is the class valedictorian, in the National Honor Society, was a Badger Boys State delegate, attended Trees for Tomorrow Conservation Camp, is Key Club vice president, a member of the Latin Club and works on the school newspaper. He also is the local and state winner of the Elks Most Valuable Student Award.

Consolidated Papers sponsors this award through their Civic Foundation, Inc., which is endowed by the firm. Consolidated has headquarters in Wisconsin Rapids.

The announcement is the first of three major announcements of the Merit Scholarship Corporation. About 1,300 high school seniors across the country won the scholarships, all selected from the 15,000 merit finalists.

A scholarship also went to a former area student, Susan Hoffmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoffmann, formerly of Kimberly, now LaFayette, Ind.

Susan attended Gerrits Junior High, graduated from Greendale High School and is now attending St. Joseph College in Rensselaer, Ind. She is the recipient of a National Merit Scholarship.

Panel Shelves Reorganization Proposal

OSHKOSH — A plan to reorganize county committee structure was shelved Tuesday night by the coordinating committee, but they are not forgetting the task.

The committee also postponed the vote on dropping Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission until its May meeting, and agreed to contract for computerized redistricting plans that make only 43 and 47 districts. Earlier, 33 had been cited as a possibility.

The current committee structure, when laid out in an organizational chart, resembles an Aztec hieroglyph, though it is not as clear. Personnel director Richard Baumann submitted a change that put 18 of the strung-out committees under four councils and left another dozen or so special committees, boards and commissions unbagged.

Baumann said he was aiming to insure priorities and the coordination of action when duplications, overlapping and conflict of interest arose. For example, a drug resource person is being sought by several departments. Who decides which one gets him and how his time is to be split?

Criticisms of his plan, mostly leveled by Supv. Ted Neely, Menasha, centered on the advisory-only nature of the councils and the extra crust of committee they would make on the present Byzantine growths.

"I'm convinced it would just add more committees, and I'm an advocate of cutting down on the number of them," said board chairman Orrin King, Oshkosh.

King and Neely are both much in favor of changing the labyrinthine system. King, like Baumann, would group the committees into functional areas like health, protection, and transportation, but would reduce their number to about eight, rather than add more controlling units on top of the present 26.

Neely faulted Baumann's plan for not spelling out the responsibility — how the power would flow — of the councils, for not including a double handful of committees and for creating an administrative position that was "an office manager with broadened functions."

"I understand his concern," Neely said of Baumann. "We have fragmented operations in the county and have not sufficient coordination between them."

King will write to other counties in the state and get their organization charts. The coordinating committee set no deadlines and formed no subcommittee, but the consensus was that it will dig into the problem and have a report in time for next April's reorganization meeting of the board.

At last year's reorganization meeting, committees were elected for two-year terms. This and the lack of a plan blocked change at this month's board meeting. Only the highway commission is up for election; by statute it must be elected yearly.

Dropping out of Northeastern was scheduled to come before the board next Tuesday. The coordinators decided against it because a public hearing had not been held and because they were not sure the needed two-thirds vote could be had from the supervisors.

King moved to hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. on May 10 in the board room and to bring the issue before the county board at its May meeting.

The redistricting required by the census will be done by the board, but the technical leg work is being contracted out to Oshkosh State University. Dr. Milan Vuckich will oversee the computer work. King said Vuckich was instructed to give several plans for getting 43 and 47 districts which follow existing township lines as closely as possible. A cost figure from the professor is expected in two weeks.

Firemen Dispute Altered Shifts

NEENAH — Although a Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) hearing officer plans to have a decision within 30 days on the changing of the fire department's work schedule, the finding could be irrelavant.

After hearing about 75 minutes of testimony Tuesday morning, Reynolds C. Seitz, a Marquette University law professor, told representatives of the city and fire fighters local 175 that his decision may not mean a thing until a dispute whether the firemen have a valid contract is settled.

International Fire Fighters Association Local 275 had called for the Tuesday hearing to settle a dispute on the changing of the work schedule by Fire Chief Ronald Mertz.

The change, which went into effect a couple of months ago put firemen on what is commonly called the "Chicago Plan." Under the plan, firemen work every third day.

Firemen objected to the change and voiced strong support for the "California Plan." This plan has firemen working every other day for six days, then four days off.

According to the association's spokesman, Edward Durken, Madison, TAFF 5th District vice president, the practice since 1968 had been the California plan and argued that because of the practice it was assumed that the work schedule was included by reference under the work agreement.

County May Hire Indigent Counsel

A proposal to change the indigent counsel system that was revised somewhat from a recommendation made Tuesday morning by the Outagamie County Board's Courts and Justice Committee will go to the board next week.

At its morning session, the committee approved a proposal by Supv. John R. Schreiter of Appleton who called for the hiring of two attorneys at an annual salary of $8,000 each, who would serve part-time as counsel for criminal defendants who cannot afford to hire attorneys.

The plan, if adopted, would serve as an alternative to the courts appointing a large number of attorneys in indigency cases. Indigent defense costs to the county last year totalled $25,000.

Although Schreiter's proposal remained basically unchanged, some alterations were made Tuesday afternoon after the committee met with Judge Urban P. Van Susteren.

At his suggestion, the proposed salaries for two part-time defense attorneys were lowered to $500 a month. "Don't give them too much money," Van Susteren told committeemen. And he advised them, "look for kids fresh out of (law) school."

Monthly Salary

A monthly rather than an annual salary was adopted so it would be easier for the county to abandon the indigent counsel plan should it be declared illegal by the State Supreme Court. There has been some question about the legality of counties establishing indigent counsel offices as such. The committee was told that five bills are pending in the state legislature dealing with that subject.

Van Susteren telephoned William Platz, an assistant state attorney general, who, in an informal opinion, said he "sees no legal objections" to the Outagamie proposal as long as the judges name the two attorneys.

The committee had proposed that the criminal court judge appoint the two part-time attorneys. However, at Van Susteren's suggestion, the appointments would be approved by all four judges in the county, including the circuit judge.

The county last year recovered about $7,000 of the $25,000 spent on indigent counsel.

Supv. Paul Huseby of Appleton, committee chairman, asked if it would be possible to get reimbursement under the proposed indigent plan, since the part-time attorneys would be paid a flat salary rather than a per-case fee.

Schreiter said he thought it would be possible to figure the cost on a per hour formula which could be charged back to the indigent defendant.

To Start June 1

Schreiter also said he does not think the county would have any trouble finding attorneys to fill the two posts. They would start work June 1 if the board approves the plan next Tuesday.

In other business Tuesday, the courts committee:

— Recommended that part-time clerical help be hired for Clayton Smith, the county's Huber Law officer. The committee agreed that Smith needs assistance in his record keeping functions so he would have more time to seek jobs for prisoners jailed under the work release program.

— Adopted a resolution seeking an additional $1,500 expenditure to cover the county's share of the cost of a court study by the Institute for Judicial Administration. The board in February approved a $1,000 expenditure but it was since learned $2,500 would be needed. The county has applied for federal funding to cover part of the cost.

— Designated the clerk of courts office as the central record keeping facility for the county's indigent reimbursement system. The designation was made in an attempt to eliminate confusion that has resulted from several county offices collecting and classifying the collections.

— Heard from County Administrator Alvin E. Woehler that he will submit the name of a corporation counsel nominee to the board next Tuesday. Woehler said however, that it may be some time before the attorney, if he is approved for appointment, can clear up the business in his own office. Woehler has not revealed the name of the candidate.

Damage From Fire at Kaukauna High School Could Total $17,000

KAUKAUNA — The board of education learned Tuesday that fire damage at the high school which occurred in a stairwell last month could run as high as $17,000.

Business manager Thomas Nytes reported that walls had to be repainted as washing proved inadequate. There also was damage to an electrical system and drain downspouts. He reported that the damage would be covered by insurance and that no cause of the fire had been determined.

Board Secretary Olin Dryer was instructed to write letters of commendation to the fire department, school faculty and custodial staff for prompt action during the fire which prevented it from becoming more serious.

The building and grounds committee was authorized to increase the size of the primary and kindergarten playground area at Haen School by approximately 600 square yards after it was learned that the preliminary play area was inadequate. Cost is expected to be under $2,000. Low bids of $3,091 for playground equipment at the school and $7,943 for kitchen equipment were accepted.

Other Equipment

Nytes was instructed to attempt to secure prices on a milk cooler and a cargo net for the playground, items not included in low bid prices accepted, but which are needed at the school.

Board members approved sixth grade participation in canoe instruction, with parental consent, during the annual campout classroom experience to be held May 3 through 7 at the Green Bay YMCA camp.

Approval was given to install a railing at the northeast entrance to the high school at a cost of about $185. The building and grounds committee was authorized to investigate prices for landscaping at Haen School. The High School English department was authorized to seek a state grant to finance an evaluation program for the elective English classes being offered. Cost of the evaluation was estimated at $651.

A special meeting was set for 2 p.m. May 14 to open bids on preliminary remodeling work on the school auditorium. WIAA insurance was renewed for athletes and board members decided to contact local insurance men to determine whether they could offer student accident insurance for parents not covered by some other family insurance. Richard U. Landreman and Co. was hired to audit the books.

The resignation of Miss Bonnie Fischer as elementary vocal teacher was accepted and teacher contracts were approved for Phyllis Frey, Eugene Lasko and Ann Christensen, fifth grade teachers; Stephen Allen, fourth grade; Kathleen Greif, junior high mathematics; Gary Bootz, industrial arts, and Ronald Micolay, high school mathematics.

Supt. Julian Bichler announced plans to hire teacher aides to serve in libraries at Nicolet and Park schools at a cost of $1.90 per hour, thus enabling the school district to save about $2,465 by not having to hire a full-time librarian.

Neenah In Market For Planner

NEENAH — With the redevelopment authority (Racon) and the plan commission agreeing on the need for a city planner, the gears have been set in motion to start interviewing applicants for the new city post.

According to Wayne Bryan, public works director, the Racon-plan commission joint committee agreed on the need for a city planning capability.

"Initially, the planner would work out of the public works department, and the job would evolve from that point," Bryan told the plan commission Tuesday.

About a month ago, a six-man committee was appointed by Mayor Roman V. Hauser to expand on the concept of providing an in-house planning capacity for the city.

Racon has supported a city planner ever since the redevelopment plan was defeated on the council floor more than a year ago. The members had also asked for a full-time person if the plan had gone through.

Reading Program Adopted at Kimberly

KIMBERLY — The board of education Monday night approved a developmental reading class as part of the English program at the junior and senior high school levels for the 1971-72 school year.

The program was recommended by the English department in an attempt to reach and help more students and to remove the stigma associated with special classes for the correction of reading disability at the secondary level. The number and grade levels of such classes will be determined by the secondary school administrators and might vary from year to year.

Classes will be taught by a certified reading teacher to insure development of reading skills and correction of reading skill deficiencies. The program will be labeled, "English," and will meet requirements of an English program by including the development of language and writing skills. Students will be selected for classes upon the recommendation of their previous year's language arts or English teachers.

Low bid of Moe Northern for light bulbs for the coming year, amounting to $453, was accepted. Five bids were received, with the high $548. Jack Wippich was authorized use of the high school gymnasium to conduct a summer basketball clinic, patterned after last year's program.

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Jane Zima, elementary vocal music teacher, and Mrs. Patricia Cherveny, senior high librarian. A contract was approved for Robert Kopecky to teach vocal music on the junior high level, starting salary set at $7,000 per year.

Police and Fire Beat

William Jesse, 28, route 1, Seymour, was sentenced to six months in the Outagamie County jail Tuesday for driving after his license was revoked. He pleaded guilty, and his driver's license also was revoked for a year.

Jesse was cited by Seymour police early April 6 at State 55 and Pearl Street in Seymour. In passing the mandatory jail term, Keller noted it was Jesse's seventh conviction for the same charge.

Eugene R. Spaulding, 49, Shiocton, was fined $150 and costs Tuesday, and his driver's license revoked for three months, after he pleaded guilty to a count of driving while under the influence. Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller imposed the penalties in County Court Branch 2. County police arrested Spaulding April 3 at U.S. 41 and State 47.

Wayne Tesson, 37, of 829 First St., Menasha, was placed on a year's probation Tuesday for passing three worthless checks, totaling $13.05, at the Schmidt Oil Co. in Combined Locks, Sept. 13, Oct. 19 and 20 of last year.

Tesson pleaded no contest to the charges before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller, who withheld a prison sentence. Additionally, Keller fined Tesson $25 and costs, ordered him to make restitution, and reimburse the county for a court-appointed attorney. The checks were drawn off the Marine National Bank of Neenah.

Patricia Schlaefer, 18 of 506½ N. State St., was fined $50 and costs Tuesday for shoplifting a pair of gloves from the K mart store Jan. 5. She previously pleaded guilty. Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller levied the fine.

Kenneth Burton, 20, of 2129 W. Second St., changed his plea to guilty Tuesday on a charge of theft and was fined $100 and costs, or 25 days in the Outagamie County Jail. Burton was one of four who participated in the theft of six tires from Topp Standard Service Station, 111 W. Wisconsin Ave., March 22.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller imposed the fine. Three other youths who stole the tires and a fourth boy who received two of them were fined the same Thursday for those offenses.

Delafield Girl Killed In Waukesha County

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a Delafield girl has raised Wisconsin's 1971 highway fatality toll to 182—compared with 259 on this date last year.

Polly Wenninger, 16, of Delafield was killed Tuesday when the car she was in ran out of control on a Waukesha County road and overturned. Officials said she was thrown out of the vehicle.

Kaukauna Plans Tuberculin Skin Testing Clinics

KAUKAUNA — Tuberculin skin test clinics are being planned for children in kindergarten and grades one, two, seven, eight and high school seniors in the near future, according to City Nurse Mrs. Mary Yingling.

All schools will be involved and youngsters will take home parental consent slips this week. The test determines the presence of tuberculin germs in the body. A skin test is given and two days later a follow-up examination determines whether the test is positive or negative.

If it is positive, it means T B germs are in the lungs. Today, medicine can keep people well even if they have some TB germs present in their body, according to the nurse.

"Tuberculosis spreads from person to person. With regular checkups, everyone will have a better chance of staying free from tuberculosis and there should be full participation in the grades where the skin tests are being offered," concluded Mrs. Yingling.

Calley Should Not Go Free, Steiger Believes

The United States government's complaints to North Vietnam about the inhumane treatment of American prisoners of war would be turned into a mockery if Army Lt. William Calley should go fully unpunished for killing unresisting civilians at My Lai, Rep. William Steiger, R-Wis., said today.

"America plainly would be subject to severe charges that our government and the U.S. Army have no standards of morality in war," Steiger said in a statement.

The congressman said the reputation of the United States and the national conscience are at stake in the Calley case. He acknowledged that Calley had fought for his country in a cruel war and that the lieutenant is in one way a victim of that war. But, "We cannot afford to overlook anything," he said.

He pointed to a key fact that "America's soldiers have been taught from private on up that there are rules of war. We train our men to know there is a line between what is permissible in warfare and what is not permissible. Firing at unarmed civilians after an area has been pacified, for example, is not permissible for a man in the uniform of the United States Army.

"Sadly for all of us, and especially for him, military evidence showed that Calley and his men met no resistance at My Lai."

Calley failed the Army and its uniform, he said.

The personal issue of Calley is agonizing, the congressman said, "Yet we cannot sanction or simply dismiss what happened at My Lai."

Nixon May be Forced To be Firm With Israel

Collapse of Peace Efforts Seen if Israeli Don't Back Down on Demands

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's apparent inability to soften Israel's insistence on keeping key portions of the Sinai Peninsula is now leading to a new Soviet military buildup in Egypt and the likelihood of renewed shooting along the Suez Canal.

That means that two years of skillful, patient U.S. diplomacy are threatened with collapse — not tomorrow, but within the next two or three months.

This danger of renewed war

has already brought private appeals from one prominent American-Jewish leader to high State Department officials for heavier U.S. pressure on Israel. Speaking only for himself, he said he was concerned that Israel's adamant stand against President Nixon's proposal for full withdrawal from the Egyptian Sinai might turn American public opinion against Israel.

That concern dramatizes the ominous split between Washington and Jerusalem. It comes against a backdrop of increasing diplomatic efforts by U.S. allies in Europe begging Washington to back Israel down. So far, these diplomatic approaches have gotten nowhere. The U.S. and Israel are still on collision course.

Slap at Nixon

Thus, the ruling Israeli Labor Party angered U.S. officials here when it adopted a new party resolution last week demanding "substantial" changes in the pre-1967 Arab-Israeli borders. The use of that word "substantial" changes in the pre-1967 Arab-Israeli borders. The use of that word "substantial" was viewed here as a slap at the heart of President Nixon's settlement plan, which would permit only "insubstantial" changes in the pre-war borders.

Moreover, U.S. experts are convinced that Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir is now at a peak of domestic political power and that if she has chosen to ask her Labor Party to adopt a more conciliatory policy she would have had her way. Thus, Mrs. Meir's extremely hard line is one of conviction and not the result of internal political pressures.

By the same token, the hard-sell by Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban in a briefing session with almost one-half the U.S. Senate last month left a very bad taste in high administration quarters. This attempt to undercut President Nixon's policy in a closed-door meeting inside the U.S. Senate forced Secretary of State William P. Rogers to ask for equal time the following week.

What makes the U.S.-Israeli impasse so dangerous is its effect on Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's ability to hold the line against political activists in Cairo. Sadat offered to sign a peace agreement with Israel — an offer made at high risk to himself — in exchange for Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai in accordance with President Nixon's plan. With Israel flatly refusing to withdraw, Mr. Nixon's credibility in Arab eyes begins to look suspect.

Even more alarming is the undisputed fact of large quantities of new Soviet military shipments now moving to Egypt, a possible indication that Moscow believes there will be no settlement between Israel and Egypt. The urgency of getting this military hardware into Egypt is evident from the fact that almost all of it is being airlifted instead of shipped by sea.

No one here yet knows exactly what kinds of equipment are being flown in, but it appears to be earmarked for Soviet military use, not Egyptian. Thus, experts here believe the new equipment may be intended to reinforce Soviet military advisory units. That suggests only one thing: that the Russians, with some 12,000 advisory and training troops in Egypt, see a strong possibility of war again breaking out along the Suez Canal and are preparing for it.

Indeed, no one here believes that Sadat can withstand growing internal political pressures in the army and the militant Arab Socialist Union for more than another three months at the outside. Failure to break the withdrawal deadlock by then would force him to go along with demands for military action or risk a military coup d'etat.

Thus, Mr. Nixon is caught in a bind. He must decide either to use his enormous power to back Israel down or risk losing everything he has gained in two years of hard diplomacy, with another war at the end of that road.

'Sleeper' Wanted To Play Ping-Pong

BY ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — It's very rare that the CIA gets caught flat-footed, but the other day when Red China invited the United States to send a table tennis team to Peking, the Central Intelligence Agency discovered it had no champion

Buchwald

Ping-Pong players in the organization whom it could send along on the trip.

CIA officials were going crazy trying to find someone before the U.S. team left for Peking last Saturday.

In panic, the CIA officials decided to hold a crash program in Ping-Pong. Neighbors who live around Langley, Va., where the top-secret agency is located, reported seeing truckloads of Ping-Pong tables going through the gates.

They have reported that they can't sleep at night because of the noise of thousands of balls being hit back and forth across the tables set up in the CIA gymnasium.

Any agent who ever played Ping-Pong in boys' camp or at the beach had been given leave from his regular duties and brought to Langley in hopes he might be developed into a champion Ping-Pong player before the U.S. team took off for Peking.

The CIA also held an employes' Ping-Pong tournament during lunch hour with cash prizes of up to $100,000 of unaccountable funds to encourage more people to take up the sport.

Yet, despite these desperate measure, officials of the agency are pessimistic that they'll be able to develop anybody worthy of playing Red China at table tennis.

"What difference does it make if he isn't a champion?" I asked a CIA official.

"We have a serious problem," he said. "This is the first time we're playing Red China at any sport. Table tennis is the most important game in China.

"The USIA and the State Department want the United States to field the best team it can find because they believe that if we can defeat the Chinese at Ping-Pong it would be the greatest propaganda victory of the cold war.

"On the other hand, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the CIA feel it would be better to send a mediocre team and risk defeat in exchange for finding out what Mao Tse-tung is really thinking.

"The ideal, of course, would be to send a champion Ping-Pong player who also can figure out what is going on in Peking. But so far we can't find anybody."

"Why is that?" I asked. "Surely in this vast organization you must have some excellent table tennis players."

"Unfortunately, most of our agents are golfers," he said sadly. "We also have some tennis players and a few people who play croquet. But no one here ever thought to recruit Ping-Pong players."

"Couldn't you borrow a champion player from another agency of the government?"

"The only one who would have qualified was a man who worked for the FBI and had won the intercollegiate Ping-Pong championship of 1956. But unfortunately, he was fired a month ago for telling a friend that he didn't like J. Edgar Hoover's barber."

"Then it looks like the United States table tennis team may have to go to Peking without CIA representation?" I said.

"Unless we can come up with a sleeper," the official said. "Our recruiters are out on the college campuses right now and their orders are to find someone, anyone. It doesn't make any difference if he can pass a security clearance as long as he has a vicious backhand."

"Will anyone be punished because the CIA was unprepared to provide an agent for the Red China table tennis tournament?" I asked.

"Our personnel director was demoted and transferred to Iceland the other day, but at the last minute President Nixon commuted his sentence."

TIPS ABOUT YOUR RUMMAGE SALE

- If three or more persons can get together for the event, so much the better. Assign persons to act as cashier while others do the selling . . . perhaps on a rotating basis.
- Be considerate of the persons who respect your privacy by adhering to the time you have set for the sale. Do not allow customers to enter and browse around ahead of this time. Answer questions about merchandise readily and honestly. Have items clearly marked. Use different colored tags so that sales may be tallied and divided correctly.
- In consideration of people who work, set your sales time for late afternoon and evenings. Make sure your merchandise is clearly displayed and easy to "rummage" through.
- After completing your plans and arrangements call 739-0186 or 722-4243 and place an ad in The Post-Crescent classified section. A competent, experienced Ad-visor will suggest the best and most economical ad for you.
- Call at The Post-Crescent for your FREE two-color "Rummage Sale" sign available to you as soon as you order your ad.

Swelling Like Mumps Comes With Eating

BY G.C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For the last four weeks I have had swelling just in front and a little below my ears after eating, sometimes enough so it resembles mumps.

The swelling recedes rapidly when I stop eating, so when I saw my doctor there was no swelling and he was not too concerned.

Sometimes at its worst, it is painful to open my mouth, and my mouth also has been unusually dry. I am 62.

I can control the swelling by simply not eating. Please suggest something. — L.D.

From your description, the likeliest conclusion is that there is swelling in a salivary gland — the ducts opening into the mouth could be partially plugged with secretions, or there could be a stone in a duct.

When you eat, the saliva glands increase their function: the saliva can't get out at a normal rate, so it backs up, and the gland swells.

Eating something very sour often causes such swelling to recede quickly, and you can give it a try.

Since the swelling subsides readily, I doubt there is anything serious occurring. If there is a stone in a duct, an X ray would reveal it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: The question was brought up in school as to whether a girl can become pregnant and still be a virgin.

Some of us asked our parents and they say no, but others have magazines that say this is true. Could you please answer and straighten us out? — L. and M.

Your real argument isn't a physiological one. The real question is what you mean by a "virgin." Look it up in the dictionary, and you'll find that it is defined as a young woman who is chaste. Look up "chaste," and it means virtuous. Look up "virtuous" and the dictionary says it means chaste. So if you'll find out for me an exact definition of "virgin," maybe I can answer your question.

Physiologically, pregnancy is possible only if the male sperm is introduced into the female genital tract at approximately the time of ovulation — the sperm must unite with the ovum, or egg, to bring about pregnancy.

It doesn't matter how the sperm gets there, so long as it is still alive and healthy. It can, possibly, get there in the course of extreme intimacies, even if those are short of what is commonly called "sexual intercourse." (But suppose you look up what "intercourse" means, and you'll have another word-puzzle.) This has happened, anyway.

Finally, there's such a thing as artificial insemination, the sperm being introduced with instruments. This is used to bring about pregnancy. But is such a woman, who has never even seen the father of her child, a "virgin"?

See, it's as much a matter of words as of medicine.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I eat a lot at meals and am overweight, so I decided to lose, and for three weeks I ate very little but I lost only about one pound. Why did I not lose more? — L.L.

First off, how much do you want to lose in a hurry? A pound in three weeks is 17 pounds in a year, which is a pretty respectable amount.

Second, how big is the "very little" that you eat? And what is it? Third, how much do you exercise? For the only way you get rid of excess weight is to use it up as energy.

Chances are that you are doing better than you realize. How long did it take you to acquire your excess pounds? Well then, shouldn't you allow a reasonable length of time to get rid of them?

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, April 14, the 104th day of 1971. There are 261 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1865, President Abraham Lincoln was shot and mortally wounded by John Wilkes Booth at Ford's Theater in Washington.

On this date:

In 1775, the first society for abolition of slavery was organized by Quakers in Philadelphia.

In 1890, delegates to the Washington Conference of American States created what was to become the Pan American Union.

In 1912, the luxury liner Titanic struck an iceberg and sank in the North Atlantic. More than 1,500 lives were lost.

In 1931, King Alfonso of Spain went into exile as the Spanish republic was proclaimed.

In 1945, in World War II, American B29 bombers pounded Tokyo, hitting the Imperial Palace.

In 1947, more than 500 persons were killed when a French freighter loaded with nitrate exploded at a dock at Texas City, Tex.

Ten years ago—Moscow gave a great ovation to Cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin, the first man to fly into space.

Five years ago—President Lyndon B. Johnson made his first trip abroad since becoming president—an informal visit to Mexico City.

One year ago—The crippled Apollo 13 spacecraft and its three American astronauts headed back to earth after rounding the moon.

Stretch of I-94 Will be 6 Lanes

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Work was to start today on the addition of two traffic lanes on Interstate 94 through Racine and Kenosha counties.

The project also calls for resurfacing the entire six-lane highway segment. It is believed to constitute on of the biggest highway projects in Wisconsin history. It is scheduled for compleion in November.

District Construction Supervisor Richard A. Perkins of the Wisconsin Division of Highways said that, during the construction period, access to the highway would be limited and traffic reduced from two lanes to a single lane in each direction during some weekdays.

The normal 70-mile-per-hour speed limit on I-94 will be reduced to 55 miles per hour, he said.

Check All Details When Going on Charter Flight

BY SYLVIA PORTER

At the very peak of the overseas travel season last July, World Academy, a foreign study group organizer based in Cincinnati, went bankrupt — stranding more than 3,000 students who already had been flown to Europe and abruptly cancelling the tours of another 1,800 to 2,000 who had paid in full in advance for their study trips but who had not yet taken off. This was a particularly sad failure, but it served the purpose of underlining the risks in buying bargain-priced charter flights and tours.

Let me make one point unmistakably clear at the start: charter flights and the rules governing them make a lot of sense.

For instance, there is the "affinity flight" under which bona fide organizations whose members have something basic in common (a church, a social organization such as the Elks, a labor union) charter a flight for members who have belonged for at least six months and pro rate the costs among themselves.

Or there is the "inclusive tour" under which a tour operator charters a plane, arranges a tour for a fixed price (including hotel and transportation) and then sells the tour to the public.

Bargains If

Both of these are attractive deals and can be alluring bargains — if you follow the rules and thereby avoid the fringe of illegal flights and inefficient if not downright crooked tour operators.

— Don't sign for a charter "affinity flight" unless you actually have been a member of the bona fide organization for at least six months, and steer clear of any organization which offers to make you instantly eligible by back-dating your membership card. If you go on an illegal flight, you may get away with it, but as the Civil Aeronautics Board warns, "a lot of people won't."

— If you buy a bargain charter flight for transportation only, make sure it is a bargain. Compare the charter price with the lowest fare on a scheduled flight. Consider how much such side trips might boost your costs. New York to London on a charter may be a bargain, but short trips elsewhere and back to London could hike your cost above a group fare package on a scheduled flight — which usually permits some side trips at no extra charge.

Ask for Facts

— If you're sharing costs with other passengers, check the costs for accuracy. Ask the airline for the facts; it must give them. Beware of last minute surcharge, dues or fees which can raise your costs.

— If you are traveling with children under 12, be sure the charter offers them a lower rate; if not, you might do better on a scheduled flight.

— Find out, before you go, who is responsible if anything goes wrong — particularly if your daughter is planning a trip to Europe on her own this summer. The carrier may be able to shrug off liability. The charter organizers may exist only for the charter. Ask the carrier for a written outline of its responsibilities.

— Look with utmost care at the cheap student charters operated by European companies and sold under European names. What regulations govern the maintenance and safety of the planes?

— Consider the negotiability or refund value of your ticket if your charter doesn't make the return trip or you can't go back on schedule. Most of you can't join the youngsters who use the square in front of American Express in Paris as a sort of black horse for the trading of charter seats.

— Read all the literature on a tour package to satisfy yourself the trip is well-planned. Check prices item by item.

— Don't go to the air terminal until you've called the airline to confirm that your flight is taking off on schedule.

— If you have valid complaints, report to an appropriate law enforcement agency, the Better Business Bureau and-or the C.A.B.

Hiring Second Deputy Asked

Man Would Fill In for Vacationing Sheriff's Personnel

Hiring of a second floating deputy to fill in for vacationing personnel for the sheriff's department will be recommended to the Outagamie County Board by its personnel committee.

Sheriff Calvin Spice told the committee Tuesday morning that with the advent of a 40-hour work week on April 1, he is faced with a major overtime problem. Before April 1, the department was on a 42½-hour work week.

Spice had requested three additional men, two for traffic and one floating, but said the traffic department probably could get by running a man short on a shift during the summer while men were on vacation.

However, he said, in the jail and on the radio they have to have replacements for vacation and sick leave time since there is only one man per shift. Exclusive of the traffic department, Spice said, there are 58 vacation weeks which must be filled.

He said to cut down on overtime he no longer has an investigator on duty from 5 to 7 a.m.

The radio operators and jailers now each get 2½ hours overtime per week for working the same schedules as they formerly did without overtime, Spice said.

Supv. Marvin Babbitt, Seymour, personnel committee chairman, said, "I can't see where you need three men. It would be better to take this in steps. We want to stay within the budget."

Supv. George Kroes said he could go along with one additional man now and Spice agreed to try working short-handed during the vacation period.

Mrs. David Patterson To Conduct Workshop On Linkletter Proposal

Mrs. David Patterson will lead one of the workshop sessions at the State Congress of Parents and Teachers convention at Wisconsin Dells April 21-22. The topic will be the Appleton-Linkletter Plan on drug abuse.

This will be one of six workshops offered during the two-day session. Theme of the convention is Education Progresses Through Action and speaker will be Air Force Lt. Col. O. H. Entwistle, chairman of the national PTA commission on leadership training.

THE ACES
World Champions

ON BRIDGE

IRA G. CORN JR.
TEAM CAPTAIN

If being lucky is good, then being luckier must be better.

In a match between Great Britain and Poland, in the recent European Championships, a little luck for Great Britain was not enough. Poland found the same lucky combination of cards in a contract that proved much more rewarding. This was the exciting deal:

North-South vulnerable
Dealer East

♥ J 6
♦ Q 8 6 5 4 2
♣ K

WEST
♠ Q 9 7 5
♥ Q 10 4 2
♦ K

EAST
♠ 10 4 3
♥ 9 8 3
♦ J 3

SOUTH
♠ K 8
♥ A K 7 5
♦ A 10 9 7
♣ J 9 3

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	3 NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of clubs.

When the hand was first played, West opened the club five and dummy's king was captured by East's ace. When East returned the club deuce, declarer misguessed, placing the 10 with East, and played the nine.

West won the 10 and continued clubs. Fortunately for declarer, the club suit was blocked and the defense took only four club tricks. South luckily made his contract, having no trouble taking the rest of the tricks when his diamond ace dropped West's diamond king.

Even luck can be a relative matter, as events at the other table served to prove. The Polish team reached a contract of six diamonds via the following bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	2 ♥	Pass	3 ♦
Pass	4 ♦	Pass	6 ♦
Pass	Pass	Pass

The Polish declarer also dropped West's singleton king of diamonds. However, since he was in slam, this fortuitous event overshadowed the British declarer's luck of scoring three notrump, because of the blocked club suit. Poland scored the slam, losing only to East's ace of clubs.

The successful slam produced a swing of 770 points, which converts to 13 international match points — a very sizable gain.

It all proves that it is not enough to be lucky. Not if the other team is luckier.

Ecology Club to Collect Papers

The Ecology Club students of Appleton High School-East are donating their spring vacation to conduct a paper drive to clean up the area.

The youth, through the affiliate committee known as HOPE (Help Our Polluted Environment) is conducting the nonprofit drive through Thursday.

The people who would like to get rid of stacks of newspapers are asked to bring them to the school. Those who are unable to do so may call Gunny Ward at 739-5039, and the youths will pick up the papers.

Menasha Mills and Van Steen Motors have supplied trucks to help with the collection.

Appleton Man Jailed For Not Appearing On 2 Traffic Charges

OSHKOSH — An Appleton man was committed to the Winnebago County jail Monday morning after he was unable to post $230 bond on two traffic charges from last summer.

Charles E. Sonnleitner, 24, 1701 S. Lawe St., appeared in county court on a warrant issued last August when he did not appear in court to answer charges.

Sonnleitner is charged for driving after his license had been suspended and for illegal use of license plates. He pleaded not guilty to both charges.

A jury trial was set for May 13.

Unemployed Received $14 Million in March

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin paid out $14 million in benefits to jobless workers in March, compared to $8 million in the same month last year.

The Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations reported the totals Tuesday noting that at the end of last month 68,450 workers were jobless and claiming benefits. In March, 1970, the total was 42,510.

Unemployment claims filed in the week ending April 3 totaled 67,902. In the same period last year the count was 43,025.

Your Problems

Wife's Solution Backfires

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few years ago my husband used to play a lot of cards. Harry was gone five nights a week. The only time I saw him was when he'd have the card game at our house. I got fed up making sandwiches, emptying ashtrays and cutting my way through cigar smoke. One day a friend told me how she cured her husband of the same thing. She got him interested in a ham radio.

This is not a cheap hobby, buIdteeicddtiww.s oahrtit but I decided it was worth it. I bought Harry a set as a surprise birthday gift. Within weeks he gave up the cards to stay home and ham it up. Now he has started a short-wave romance with some woman who lives in San Antonio, Tex. She has a voice like Lady Bird Johnson. Their three-hour conversations are making me sick. Harry rushes home from work, bolts his dinner and makes a beeline for the radio.

Last week he couldn't contact the lady for three days and he was a wreck. When he finally reached her she explained she'd been out of town. He scolded her for not letting him know she was leaving . . . . said he was "worried sick." The whole thing was so cozy I felt like belting him one. Furthermore, this ham thing is interfering with our sex life because Harry stays up until 2 a.m. most nights. (I think she does it on purpose.)

Now I wish he were back playing cards. What should I do? — Dummy

Dear Dummy: Keep quiet. These two will probably talk themselves out. A woman who can't lure her man away from a piece of machinery has no imagination, Toots.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the writer who was ashamed of her parents because they were poor, spoke broken English and had old country ways was a disgrace. What on earth has happened to values?

The more I see of people with money, the better I like the poor people. Recently I was in the company of a woman who was born with a silver spoon in her mouth. She lives on an estate and goes to Paris and Rome for her wardrobe. When she entertains she gets a half-page in the newspaper. An invitation to her home is a command performance. Would you believe that when this elegant lady belches she says "beep beep" instead of "pardon me?" I find such behavior revolting. What about you? — 20-20 Vision

Dear Vision: People with money are expected to have better manners than people without money. Why, I do not know, because manners do not reflect what a person has, but how he was brought up.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I did something I am so ashamed of I could bite my tongue off. Please tell me if there's anything I can do to smooth it over. Also, how can I avoid making the same mistake in the future?

I telephoned a friend and her 15-year-old son answered. I though it was his sister and SAID, "Hello, Nancy, may I speak with your mother?" He replied, "This is David."

My heart sank. I know that poor kid must have wanted to die. Our own son who is now married was miserable when his voice was changing. He was so embarrased about it he barely opened his mouth for six months. lease, Ann, tell me if I should apologize to the lad? How can I avoid the same problem in the future? — Winnetka

Dear Win: Skip it. But in the future, don't call anybody by name when you ring that number. The boy can help protect himself by answering the phone: "Hello, this is David speaking."

Woman Editor Blasts Trudeau's Choice for Bride

TORONTO (AP) — Helen Gurley Brown, author of "Sex and the Single Girl" and editor of Cosmopolitan magazine, says Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's marriage to a woman "33 years younger" is "outrageous."

In a televised interview Monday night, Mrs. Brown said: "What I think your prime minister has done is set back the cause of a certain kind of equality for a long, long time.

"I know everyone is in love with the idea that this 54-, 55-year-old man married a 22-year-old woman. I think that's outrageous . . .

"I think the idea that you must go and pick someone nubile who is 33 years younger than you is not any example to set for the rest of the men in the world.

"I can say that because I am not Canadian. I would have to be more careful about criticizing my own president."

Trudeau, 51, married, 22-year-old Margaret Sinclair in Vancouver, B.C., last month.

Enrollment Quota Plan Unworkable, UW Official Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The latest proposal to limit the number of nonresidents permitted in Wisconsin state universities to equal the number of Wisconsin residents attending public universities in other states would be unworkable, according to a spokesman for the University of Wisconsin.

Harvey Breuscher a legislative liaison for the university told the Senate education committee Tuesday that the data needed to enforce such a program, as proposed by Sen. Ronald Parys D-Milwaukee is compiled only by the U. S. Office of Education and only every five years.

"We are having trouble," Breuscher said, "determining how we would abide by this law."

Arthur Browne, executive director of the Coordinating Council for Higher Education, told the committee that the state would have to at least set up a centralized admissions office for all public universities to administer the plan. Even then, he said, it would be difficult to determine what the quota should be because of the long intervals between the compilation of statistics by the Office of Education.

Not Cooperating

Parys told the committee he proposed the quota despite the fact he has opposed restricting out-of-state enrollments before because other states are not cooperating by accepting Wisconsin students. He said he estimates there are about 35,000 non-residents attending Wisconsin universities while only 5,000 or 6,000 Wisconsin residents attend public universities out of state.

His proposal, Parys said, would make about 30,000 spaces available for Wisconsin students in Wisconsin universities and result in a savings of building costs and program expansions, and provide spaces for all Wisconsin students who want to attend.

Bruescher said Wisconsin, in 1968, was educating 14,000 more non-residents than the state sends to other states, but reported that 25 states now educate more Wisconsin residents than Wisconsin educates of their residents. The obvious offenders, he said, are New York and Illinois. In 1968, he said, there were 5,821 Illinois residents in Wisconsin institutions and only 230 Wisconsin residents at Illinois state schools.

Browne said that the present enrollment quota that would limit out-of-state students to 15 per cent of total enrollment at each state school will serve to reduce the number of non-residents, and that the tuition increases amounting to 45 per cent in the University of Wisconsin and 33 per cent in the Wisconsin State Universities systems for out-of-state students has already cut out-of-state student enrollments below quotas.

Discriminatory

The CCHE director said continued tuition increases could solve the problem, but opposed the idea as discriminatory.

Parys charged that non-resident students do not pay for the cost of their education now, because building costs, library charges and the cost of research programs are not figured into the tuition. "We are subsidizing out-of-state students by several thousand dollars a year," he said. Parys said he would not be so opposed to the subsidy, he claims the state makes if the students would stay here and work after they complete their education.

The only person to speak at the hearing in addition to representatives of the state's education establishment and Parys was William Osborne Hart of Sauk County and chairman of the Socialist Party of Wisconsin. Hart called the plan a "horrible violation of our tradition," as an open university and said it would lead to the development of "incestuously inbred low-grade training facilities."

"I am glad," he said that his sons attended the Madison campus when non-resident enrollment was at its peak and the diversity was at its highest level. "I am glad they had New York Jews, New York conservatives. New York radicals and New York straight people," as classmates, he said.

3 Indicted From Green Bay

Fireman, 2 Others Accused of Selling Stolen Automobiles

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Six persons including three from Green Bay have been accused in federal grand jury indictments of shipping stolen cars from the East Coast for sale at bargain prices in eastern Wisconsin.

Government officials said Tuesday late-model Lincoln Continentals, Cadillacs and other cars with retail price tags ranging from $10,000 to $12,000 were being sold for $4,000 or less.

The cars, authorities said, were stolen from streets in Massachusetts and Maryland and were sold in the Green Bay and Manitowoc areas.

Thefts occurred between Sept. 18 and April 3, they said.

It was reported four cars were involved in the indictments, but that a dozen were listed in an investigation by the FBI and the National Automobile Theft Bureau in Chicago.

The indictments charge interstate transportation of stolen vehicles.

Named were Melbourne R. Murray Sr., 45, a lieutenant with the Green Bay Fire Department; Donald B. Guerts, 42, a Green Bay truck driver, and his wife, Starlyn, 22.

Also, Kenneth E. Witt, 24; Robert J. Magro, and John E. Mills, 37, all of Boston, Mass.

Wausau Man Is Suspect In Burglary

Marathon County authorities have issued a warrant for the arrest of a 22-year-old Wausau man whose demolished auto, linked to a burglary at the Country Aire Club, 2311 W. spencer St., early Tuesday, was found to contain stolen property from three break-ins in that county.

The whereabouts of Ronald Williams is unknown. He and one or two others are being sought by Outagamie County investigators who believe they were involved in the club break-in, and were possibly seriously injured when the car plunged off the end of S. Lynndale Drive onto railroad tracks.

Burglars, evidently frightened by an alarm, fled from the club south on Lynndale in the auto. An intensive search Tuesday by county and Appleton police uncovered nothing. Authorities said two bloodstained paths lead west from where the car came to rest on the tracks.

Marathon County police reported Tuesday that the items in the car, including cartons and loose packages of cigarettes, loose change, a tape recorder, camera and electric shaver, were traced to three burglaries in their county.

KAUKAUNA — A theme for the float to be entered in the Town 'N Country days promotion and store hours to be held in conjunction with the affair will be discussed at a dinner-meeting of the Kaukauna Business Associates and their wives at 6:30 p.m. Monday at Oakwood Hills Supper Club.

Store hours for other promotions will be discussed, plans made for the April Shower of Values days to be held April 21-24 and a report given by a special committee studying the feasibility of extending evening store hours to include Monday and Thursday evenings.

Nelson to Speak On Environment At UWGB

GREEN BAY — Students from area high schools will join collegians and the community to hear a talk on environmental issues by Sen. Gaylord Nelson at 5 p.m. Tuesday at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay. The informal lecture is free to the public.

At the senator's request, an invitation was issued to high schools in Brown, Door and Kewaunee Counties to send two delegates each to the lecture, after which they will be able to meet and talk with the senator.

The visit is one in a series being made in the state by Nelson during the week of April 18-25 to emphasize the month long attention to environmental problems.

Also scheduled for a free lecture will be Gov. Patrick Lucey, who will speak at 8:15 p.m. April 22. At the request of UWGB students, Lucey earlier designated April as Environmental Action Month for Wisconsin.

Both speakers are sponsored by the UWGB Environmental Action Committee, a student-faculty group formed to plan and coordinate ecology-oriented projects.

Study Effects on Hasty Economic Development on the Environment

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Governors of Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin agreed Tuesday to create a panel to review the environmental impact of economic assistance projects in the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission area.

The decision came after Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken said he was "appalled" by the "careless way" some economic development businesses have been developed.

Minnesota Gov. Wendell R. Anderson and Wisconsin Gov. Patrick J. Lucey endorsed Milliken's motion at a commission meeting in the Wisconsin Capitol.

The commission administers economic assistance to 113 counties in northern portions of the three states and has an annual budget of about $8 million.

"I am appalled when I see the billboards and the commercialization and the careless way" in which some projects are developing, Milliken told his fellow chief executives.

Damage Ecology

Lucey agreed that it would be "totally wrong" to permit "any kind of economic development that does violence to the ecology of the areas."

Thomas F. Schweigert of Washington, federal co-chairman of the commission, agreed with the governors, saying the influx of tourists and businesses into the areas will "present a tremendous enviornmental challenge" in the years ahead.

"We'd just darned well be ready for it," Schweigert said.

Lucey was elected co-chairman of the commission for the upcoming year, succeeding Milliken.

Schweigert said the commission's program calls for creation of about 100,000 new jobs in the 10-year period until 1980.

This, however, will fall far short of the 165,000 job deficiency anticipated for the area, he added.

Three main commission concerns for the 119-county area, Schweigert said, are dying lakes, disposal of mining residue, and disposal of pulp and paper mill wastes.

Anderson said the trio agreed they cannot approve of further discharge of taconite waste into Lake Superior by Reserve Mining Company's lakeshore plant in Silver Bay, Minn.

The company's Minnesota permit for discharging tailings has been debated in recent court hearings. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency said in Washington it is calling another enforcement conference concerning Lake Superior pollution.

The conference is to be April 22-23 in Duluth, Minn., and again will review the Silver Bay discharge, the agency said.

The Lake Superior Enforcement Conference recessed in January for 45 days to review Reserve's latest plan for resolving conservationists' objections to the tailings.

Anderson said he, Lucey and Millikin intend to insist that the tailings be dumped ashore rather than in the lake.

Strategy Decision

Timing Vital to Parochaid Passage

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The strong and determined lobby pressing for state legislation to provide tax funded tuition grants to the parents of parochial and other non-public school children to aid in the financing of private education is pondering a vital strategical decision.

Reduced to its essentials, the question is whether it will be prudent to move immediately for action on the bill that would increase state expenditures about $30 million in each biennium.

Under normal procedural rules, independent appropriation measures cannot be considered on the floor of either house until the biennial general state budget bill has been enacted into law.

Prospects are that the legislative finance committee won't be able to report out the Lucey administration budget plan for many more weeks, however, and the probability worries the parochial school aid backers. The rules permit exceptions to be made by the attachment of a so-called "emergency clause".

There are several considerations for and against such a strategical decision.

A move for action soon would exploit the effect of the considerable pressure among parents of parochial school children that has been generated since the legislature convened in January. It may lose its effect if the timing of a vote on the issue is deferred for three or four months, which now appears possible if the aid bill follows its normal course without a demand for discharge from committee for early floor action.

Action soon would make it less difficult, in all probability, to approve the relatively large appropriation involved and which would be accepted more reluctantly after the budget is approved. The lawmakers are likely to be exhausted after the inevitable dispute about the difficult tax measures to be required for budget balancing.

But there would be risks also, as capitol observers appraise the situation.

The state administration may not welcome the idea of giving the parochaid measure priority over the governor's budget and revenue bills, since the parochial aid plan would considerably increase the scope of the prospective state treasury deficit if adopted.

Such a move might give some uncertain legislators an opportunity to use the high priority importance of the state budget bill as justification for voting against the parochial aid bill.

Test votes in the legislature two years ago showed broadly that the idea of state support for private education probably commands a majority support of the lawmakers—if they are required to vote squarely on the issue without relation to other fiscal problems.

But some of the leaders of the parochaid drive now are visibly concerned that a long delay, and the prospect that the legislature later in the year will be weary after the inevitably difficult fights over general spending and taxation, will make it more difficult to win support for a substantial extra-budgetary expenditure and another tax rise.

New - Regents Give Merger Qualified OK

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Gov. Patrick Lucey's appointees to the Wisconsin State Universities Board of Regents both favor the concept of an integration of the two state university systems, but both await further detailing of the plan before they would commit themselves to the actual proposal.

John M. Lavine of Chippewa Falls and Bertram N. McNamara of Milwaukee told the Senate education committee that they still have open minds on the proposal, but endorse the idea of a merger. The committee heard from the men who would replace Siinto Wessman of Superior and David Bennett of Portage on the board, before recommending their approval to the Senate.

Lavine told the committee that he has chosen education as his avocational interest, in addition to publishing three newspapers. He is chairman of the board of trustees of a program to develop federal educational development laboratories and a member of the board of an experimental college in South Carolina, he said.

Total Interest

The young newspaperman told the committee said that his major concern would be with the state universities system, rather than with one particular campus. In response to a charge that his appointment would be a deviation from the tradition of appointing "local" regents in the WSU system to represent each campus area, Lavine said that his ties in the system are to Superior where his family lives and he has personal associations. But, he emphasized his interest in the total system over his attachment to that campus.

Sen. Everett Bidwell, R-Portage, told the committee that he has the right to disagree with the governor but on his nomination of Lavine "I agree wholeheartedly. He will weigh the facts in regard to the merger," Bidwell assured the committee in the way he runs his newspapers. "He prints both sides of the question as a rule," the senator advised his colleagues.

With a different, but equally strong commitment to education, McNamara told the committee of his involvement in adult education and workers education that has taken him to Wales on a Fulbright research grant; into advisory capacities to the State Department in International Development programs, and to the Milwaukee Technical College and University of Wisconsin. He also serves on the education committee of the United Steelworkers union and was a member of the governor's task force on medical education and the Kellett commission education study group.

Wins Endorsement

McNamara won the endorsement of Jay Franklin of Milwaukee, who represented Save our Cities, a group that opposes what it considers unwise redevelopment and freeway construction in the city. Franklin suggested the committee approved his nomination on the condition that McNamara be forced to resign his position as a member of the Milwaukee expressway commission.

Franklin cited the commission's record in relocating residents and holding secret meetings as a conflict with the need for responsible and open repre-

Students Get Day Off at Hortonville

HORTONVILLE — After having a one-day Easter vacation, students in the school district are preparing for another day off on April 23 when the Northeastern Wisconsin Teachers Convention is held in Green Bay.

The students lost most of their Easter recess in order to make up for snowdays this winter.

Finger Food Feasts . . .

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
By Lillian Mackesy

Fingers were made before forks 'tis said and so saying, there's good reason for pushing chafing dish and just plain nibble foods. They have become first with most hosts and hostesses who prefer a gather-around or informal party instead of the formal dinner.

Even the elaborate buffet has given way to finger food service in entertaining. It all makes sense, really, when talk and the exchange of ideas among friends is the idea. The food for such parties is important, but it takes a secondary place as it should when real friends or neighbors get together.

It can be a swinging cocktail party that concentrates on hot hors d' oeuvre such as Oriental Spareribs, cooked in the kitchen but glazed in a sesame sauce in a chafing dish. Cheese and Olive Empanadas can be served with the delicious riblets.

Artichokes with a Hollandaise sauce for a dip makes an elegant after-theater or concert supper for a dress-up or dress-down affair. These even are delectable after raking the lawn for those who really like artichokes.

Suggested for a teen-agers' bash are doughnut chunks, speared on fondue forks for dunking in hot chocolate sauce or maybe a hot raspberry sauce. Another doughnut variety that teens can make for a party are the Cherry Doughnuts, ready for dunking or to serve with punch, a cola drink or coffee.

Then there are the grade schoolers who need refueling throughout their busy days. For an after-school snack or play period treat keep Crunchy Candy Clusters on hand. They go for any inpromptu occasion. These are made easily from three ingredients — sweet peanut butter cereal, miniature marshmallows and melted milk chocolate bars.

So, here are the recipes for the fun foods that take a minimum of tableware and ready fingers for eating.

Oriental Spareribs

- 3 pounds spareribs, cut crosswise and then into individual ribs
- 2 cups water
- ½ cup soy sauce, divided
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon sesame seeds
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped scallions
- ¼ teaspoon ginger

In a large saucepan or kettle mix together water, ¼ cup soy sauce, salt and garlic. Place ribs in liquid and bring to boil. Reduce heat. cover and cook over low heat one hour.

Remove cover, bring to boil and cook 20 minutes longer. Drain, reserving ¼ cup cooking liquid. Mix together remaining ¼ cup soy sauce, brown sugar, cornstarch, sesame seeds, scallions and ginger. Place spareribs and reserved cooking liquid in crepe pan or skillet set over flame. Pour seasoned soy sauce mixture over ribs and cook, turning ribs often and spooning sauce over to glaze ribs until sauce is thickened and adheres to ribs, about 10 minutes. Keep warm in pan over canned heat flame. Recipe makes 12 appetizer servings.

CHEESE — OLIVE EMPANADAS

- 1½ cups shredded Cheddar cheese
- ¼ cup chopped pitted green olives
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 pkg. refrigerated crescent dinner rolls

Mix together cheese, olives and mustard. Roll each two-triangle piece of crescent dough into a rectangle 5 x 6 inches. Cut in thirds to make 3 rectangles 5 x 2 inches each.

Place tablespoon cheese mixture in center of each rectangle and fold long edges over filling, pressing together to seal. Pinch sides together to

Gourmet Club Plans Swedish Dinner

A little bit of Sweden will be the theme Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spiegelberg, 1535 N. Nicholas St., when six couples sit down to dine at 6:30 p.m.

The dinner is a special event of the Fine Arts Gourmet Group of the Appleton Junior Woman's Club. The women will be wearing long skirts with blouses embroidered in the peasant style.

The meal will be strictly Swedish in flavor. There will be the ever essential Kottbuller, or Swedish meatballs, on the smorgasbord; kalsoppe, or cabbage soup; potatisuffle, or potato souffle; pickled shrimp; ananasfromage, or Pineapple Fromage, and dessert waffles called aggvafflor.

The recipes come from Mrs. Roy F. Valitchka II, route 3, Appleton, who did all the testing and checking for the dinner party.

SWEDISH MEATBALLS

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- ½ pound ground pork
- 3 slices bread
- 2 cups water
- 1 onion
- 2 potatoes
- 3 teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 2 eggs
- Butter or fat for frying

- 4 tablespoons butter
- ½ cup flour
- 3 cups stock or beef bouillon cubes made into stock
- 1 cup cream
- Salt, pepper to taste

It is wise to grind meat several times, or have butcher do it. Soak bread in water. Mince and saute onion lightly in fat. Boil and mash potatoes.

Following first part of recipe, mix all ingredients, except fat for frying, in large bowl. Keep mixing until a smooth, spongy mass is made. Shape into small balls by using spoon and palm of hand, both wet.

Heat butter or other frying fat in fry pan. Add meatballs; brown evenly over medium heat, shaking pan occasionally so meatballs keep round shape. Remove to kettle.

Make gravy (second part of recipe) in same frying pan. Heat fat then add flour, stirring to golden paste. Add stock gradually; stir briskly to avoid lumping. Add cream, seasonings. For a darker gravy, add browning liquid or brown some sugar for purpose. Simmer sauce for about 5 minutes. Pour sauce over meatballs in kettle; simmer meat and gravy together over low heat from 40 to 60 minutes.

CABBAGE SOUP

- 1 medium cabbage
- 3 tablespoons fat
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 3 quarts meat stock
- 10 peppercorns
- Salt, pepper

Wash cabbage; turn head upside down in salt water and let stand for 30 minutes. Drain and rinse. Cut into 8 parts, quartering cabbage

Apple Pie Truly All-American

"As American as apple pie" is a true expression.

Pie to an American conjures up the image of sweetened fresh fruit sealed and baked in tender, flaky pastry.

The creators of this dessert were pioneer women who adapted fruits of the New World to the traditional English deep-dish, pastry-topped pies, except the British original contained meat.

Early American pies necessarily were shallow because commodities were scarce. For the same reason, the pie was round — literally to "cut corners" and offer precious pastry to as many as possible.

first. Melt fat in kettle; add cabbage and brown until golden. Add sugar and mix well; add stock (pork stock is excellent but other meats may be used); add peppercorns. Cover and simmer. The meat stock should be weak. Cover kettle; simmer until done, 2 to 3 hours. Stir occasionally. Season just before serving. This may be served with small meat balls in the soup or with slices of smoked, cooked sausages.

POTATO SOUFFLE

- 4 cups mashed potatoes
- ¼ cup butter
- 2 eggs
- 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1 tablespoon chopped blanched almonds
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon white pepper
- 2 tablespoons buttered crumbs

Mix 3 cups mashed potatoes with butter, beaten egg yolks first, then remaining ingredients except bread crumbs. Spoon into buttered baking dish; decorate with remaining potatoes as topping or use pastry tube; Sprinkle buttered crums on top. Brown in 450-degree oven. Recipe makes six servings.

SWEDISH PICKLED SHRIMP

- 2½ pounds raw shrimp, fresh or frozen
- ½ cup celery tops
- ¼ cup mixed pickling spices
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 cups sliced onions
- 8 bay leaves
- Pickling Marinade

Cover shrimp with boiling water; add celery tops, spices and salt. Cover and simmer for 5 minutes. Drain shrimp; peel and devein under cold water.

Place in shallow baking dish alternately the shrimp, onions and bay leaf. Pour marinating sauce over mixture. Cover and chill for at least 24 hours, spooning marinade over shrimp, occasionally. These pickled shrimp will keep about a week in refrigerator.

PICKLING MARINADE

- 1½ cups salad oil
- ¾ cup white vinegar
- 3 tablespoons capers with juice
- 2½ teaspoons celery seed
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- Tabasco sauce (few drops)

Combine all ingredients, mixing well. Pour over prepared shrimp.

DESSERT WAFFLES

- ¾ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1¼ cups sour cream
- 1 tablespoon melted butter
- Sugar

Sift together flour and baking powder, add egg yolks and cream gradually, stirring until well blended. Add melted butter. Beat egg whites until stiff, fold into batter. Brush waffle iron with butter, pour in batter few tablespoons at time and bake until golden brown. Sprinkle with sugar.

Walnut Candy for Special Occasion

Cream cheese, chopped walnuts and sifted powdered sugar combined with flavorings make excellent candies.

This mixture may be used as a fondant sort of filling for pitted prunes or dates, but ground dates, prunes or figs may be mixed with the fondant, then be rolled into small balls for a "candy" surprise.

AMBROSIA

BASIC FONDANT

- 3 ounces cream cheese, softened
- 1 tablespoon warm water
- ½ teaspoon lemon extract
- ½ teaspoon vanilla extract
- 3 cups sifted powdered sugar
- Finely chopped walnuts

Soften cream cheese; add warm water, lemon and vanilla extracts. Gradually beat in powdered sugar, blending until smooth. Mix in chopped walnuts to taste.

The ground figs, prunes or dates may be added at this point. Roll into small balls. If sticky, roll in powdered sugar. The fondant may be used to fill pitted prunes, dates, if preferred.

Disgruntled Husband Vents Spleen

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — As every husband finds out, marriage sure does seem to change a woman.

When she gets a new name she seems to unveil a new personality—rather like sweet little Miss Jekyll being transformed into terrible-tempered Mrs. Hyde.

Many a husband, as a matter of fact, begins in time to think that the little girl he wed so hopefully has turned into 15 or 20 women, all different. To understand her, he feels sometimes like keeping a card index of her moods and whims.

In the old days she used to just toss on her coat and be ready to go anywhere with him on a moment's notice. Now he feels himself aging visibly while he waits interminably for her to decide which wig to tie on and what pair of eyelashes to glue over her own.

There was a time when she would order only a sandwich in a restaurant because she said she didn't want him to spend all his money on her. Today when he takes her out to dinner she calls for black caviar and steak — and goes on from there.

He remembers when he could almost span her waist with his fingers. Now, 750 boxes of chocolates later, it is all he can do to get his arms around the site where she lost the battle of her bulge.

"I certaintly don't intend to marry you to reform you," she told him once. "I love you for faults as well as your virtues." But not a single day has passed in the last five years without her asking him why in Heaven's name he can't be more like the husband next door.

When he was courting her she told him she hated to gamble so much that even losing 50 cents at pennyante poker mader her ill. Has she changed? Verily. She has changed so much that now the neighborhood bookie calls her by her first name and phones twice a day for her racetrack bets.

Before he led her to the altar he used to love the way she relaxed him by massaging the back of his neck. Not any more. It makes him nervous for her to get her hands that close to his throat.

Wistfully he recalls how she worried about his health and fussed over him if he had the slightest sympton of a head cold. But if he came down with double pneumonia now, he feels, she would simply accuse him of being a hypochrondriac and ask him to please go into the bathroom if he has a sneeze.

Before he married her, she playfully told him that when he came home from the office she'd be waiting in the doorway with his slippers in her mouth. Now when he comes home she is sitting on the sofa with a martini in her hand. Looking up, she says, "Hi, there, Dumdum. If you want a drink, too, make it yourself."

During their engagement she enjoyed nothing better than walking hand in hand with him through the rain. Now she yelps for a cab if she has to go to the beauty shop, a block and a half away.

"One of the things I like about you best is your mind," she said, before he put the ring on her finger, and asked his opinion about everything. Now, at cocktail parties, other guests get a little weary of the way she puts her forehead against his and shouts to him her opinion about everything.

Right after the honeymoon, she used to close her big eyes when he kissed her goodbye each morning. Now she keeps her big eyes wide open—and her big mouth, too.

Now and then he wonders, a bit guiltily, whether he did something wrong to cause her to change so much. But it isn't his fault, and perhaps not hers for that matter.

The fact is that marriage is like wine. The more you take of either, the more it tends to bring out the truth.

'Boarding House Mom' Wants to Start All Over

By JAY SHARBUTT
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I wish I was starting all over again," Julie Dyer said as she gently cradled two infants. "To me, it's just the only way of living. I just love babies."

When she returns the two 8-day-old girls to the Children's Home Society today, Julie Dyer's long career as a "boarding mother" ends.

In 27 years, she has cared for 298 youngsters. She is one of 35 temporary mothers the private, nonprofit adoption agency has employed to care for infants whose mothers couldn't or wouldn't keep them.

A native of Bemidji, Minn., and herself a mother of two and grandmother of seven, Mrs. Dyer never has seen the natural or adopted mother of any child sent her, under the society's rules.

Mrs. Dyer, 67, the wife of a retired electrician Charles Dyer, is a former nurse. She became a boarding mother after reading that the society needed temporary homes for unwarted infants.

The first she received was a boy, who arrived at the Dyer home in suburban Highland Park on Valentine's Day 1944. He remained for about three months until adopted.

Although she cared for one child until he was 3 years old, most of the babies stayed only two or three weeks until adopted or their natural mothers decided they wanted to keep them, after all.

The society pays her $78 a month per child to defray the expense of feeding, clothing and housing the children at the Dyers' neat, two-bedroom home. One gaily decorated bedroom is set aside as a nursery.

Although she confesses she's grown strongly attached to her small wards, "most of the time, just after the ones you really like are adopted, a new one comes in and fills the void."

Mrs. Dyer's daughter, Margaret Adrian, said she and her brother never felt strange about the scores of children in the Dyer house while they were growing up.

"Not at all. I think it actually made us more tolerant of people," Mrs. Adrian, the mother of three, said.

"We grew up with babies of all races and I'd have to say it taught us to get along with people, that their background doesn't matter."

Psychiatrist Speaks Out

A University of Iowa psychiatrist fears what he describes as the current direction of psychiatry — toward social solutions for all the problems of the mentally ill. It has become popular to believe, he says, that solving our social problems will solve most, if not all, our psychiatric problems. In his opinion, failures of modern psychiatry are not failures of delivering care, but in discovering fundamental causes which could lead to treatment and prevention.

The psychiatrist, Albert S. Norris, M. D., stressed the importance of medical research into specific organic causes for mental ills.

Parents and Children

Improving Your Child's Reading

Part I: Why Children Have Reading Difficulties

This, and the following two articles, discuss the reading problems of children and what parents can do about them. Despite the existence of a large volume of research in reading failure, no precise figures are available on the percentage of children who suffer these difficulties, U.S. Office of Education statistics and independent studies indicate that from 15 to 30 per cent of all school children fail to read at grade level and between 2 and 5 per cent never learn to read with any degree or skill. Other researchers claim that between 30 and 50 per cent of the U.S. adult population is functionally illiterate, which means that though they appear to be able to read, substantial numbers of adults don't fully grasp the meaning of what they read.

No single cause - or cure - exists to explain or remedy the reading failure of many of our children. Some "experts" tend to lump all such difficulties under pseudo-scientific labels like "dyslexia" or "minimal brain dysfunction." But these are meaningless terms in medicine as in education. The following describe the most common causes of reading failure in children. If your child suffers such a difficulty, his special problem can only be discovered through a process of elimination. Keep in mind that 9 of the 12 listed causes are environmental. Only three can usually be diagnosed, but not necessarily treated, medically.

Causes of Reading Failure in Children: 1) Lack of warm contact in early childhood, and lack of conversation at home, between parents and children. 2) Lack of story telling by live adults or by older family members in pre-school years. 3) Lack of books available in the home — from cloth books at toddler ages, to picture and story books in later one. 4) Lack of live experience and play, in and outside the home. 5) Lack of live, reading aloud to children by older family members. 6) Lack of adult "models" whom children can observe reading at home. 7) Children's TV addiction. 8) Emotional difficulties due to home or other conditions. 9) Poor teaching at school ages. 10) A child's deviation from the perceptual norm. In other words your child may, along with about 30 per cent of all normal children, see, hear and touch in a manner that makes it difficult for him to learn to read by conventional methods. He may even be a brilliant child. But our educational system makes no allowance for inconvenient, though prevalent deviations. They interfere with educational mass-production. 11) Perceptual dysfunction suffered by a child who can be medically diagnosed as being brain damaged or who has other disorders that can be neurologically determined. 12) Congential retardation or disease.

Reading skills underlie all education. If your child fails to learn to read for any reason, he will be severely handicapped in the future, in his choice of a higher education, vocation or job throughout life. The following articles in this series detail some of the things you can do to help your child develop good reading habits and skills and to make the most of his abilities.

Which books on baby and child care, health and education are the best and most reliable? Arnold Arnold has prepared this reading list for parents, taken from his book, Your Child and You. It includes books, pamphlets and brochures from publishers, government agencies and other sources, some free, that can help parents deal with every possible problem of childhood nurturance, health and education, ranging from pre-natal care to proper diet and remedial training. Send 20 cents and a large (No. 10), stamped, self-addressed envelope to Arnold Arnold, care of this newspaper. Be sure to print ANSWER LIST on your outside envelope.

Couple Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kahler, 1520 N. Superior St., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday with their family and friends at their home.

They were married April 5, 1921 in the Town of Center in Outagamie County.

Mr. Kahler retired in 1961 after 31 years with the Appleton Post Office. The couples has two daughters, Mrs. Allen Kline, Appleton and Mrs. John Ethridge, South Pasadena, Calif.; five grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

State Dietitians to Meet April 22-23

OSHKOSH — Members of the American Dietetics Association will meet April 22-23 at The Pioneer Inn for the annual State Association meeting. These dietitians and nutritionists represent the only professionally educated group having as its primary concern the application of nutrition science to the care of people.

Continuing education is the major purpose of the meetings and the program this year includes several speakers who are well-known authorities in health care and related areas.

"Communication" will be the topic of Dr. Roberta Nelson, professor of management in the school of business administration at Oshkosh State University of Minnesota, she received her master's degree and her Ph. D. in philosophy from the same university.

Her experiences include many years in personnel work and consulting. The Murphy Foundation Distinguished Teacher Award was presented to her in 1968.

During her talk, Dr. Nelson will bring the group up to date on the techniques which may be used in teaching good health through good nutrition.

Another area speaker will be John R. Beaton, Ph. D. University of Wisconsin, Green Bay. Dean of colleges at the university, he was a professor and chairman of Department of Food and Nutritional Sciences, University of Hawaii.

He has published articles in the fields of nutrition, metabolism, endocrinology and environmental physiology and has served as a consultant to LaRoche Inc. and John Labatt Industries as well as to the Mayor's Council on Health in Honolulu. He has served as editor of the Canadian Federation of Biological Societies and was secretary of the International Conference on the Regulation of Food and Water Intake, Yokoyo, and was a chairman at International Congress of Nutrition, Prague, Czechoslovakia.

His conference topic will be on "Obesity."

Joining the dietitians will be the affiliated group of Hospital, Institutional, Educational Food Service Supervisors whose members are qualified through an approved course of training to provide food service supervision in small hospitals or nursing homes where the full-time service of a dietitian is not available.

Other guests attending will be student dietitians from the five colleges in the state which provide an approved four-year course in nutrition and dietetics. Graduate dietitians in the state who are serving internships in the hospital field prior to admission to The American Dietetics Association also will be in attendance.

Serving on the planning committee are Miss Vera Kerstell, chairman; Mrs. Ellen Humlecker, Oshkosh State University; Mrs. Devonia Fout, Winnebago State Hospital; Sister M. Martina and Mrs. Burton Gunn, Mercy Medical Center; Mrs. Ruth Brandt and Mrs Patricia Ignat, Oshkosh; Mrs. Mary Schneider, Waupun; Miss Helen Priebe, Neenah, and Mrs. Rosemary Monroe, Fond du Lac.

Fear of Seat Belts

There is no valid reason for the continued widespread resistance to the use of auto seatbelts even among physicians, William D. Alsever, M. D., writes in a recent article in American Family Physician.

The most common fear is entrapment in the car with subsequent burning or drowning. However, according to Dr. Alsever, this happens in less than 0.1 per cent of auto fatalities.

Italian Designers Give the Cold Shrug to Hot Pants

By ODETTE MENGIN
Associated Press Writer

—FLORENCE (AP) — Italian designers gave hot pants the cold shoulder at the opening of the autumn and winter read-to-wear shows in Florence.

Only three designers—including Swiss Heinz Riva—out of 17, thought them fit for cold weather. And they put them under a coat or skirt.

Trousers found more favor. Baratta introduced jodhpurs into the fashion field but sent no horse for the model. Most other designers showed trouser—suits or culottes.

French designer Andre Laug had neat little suits with straight or pleated skirts. Waistlines were marked by belts and shoulders were in proportion. Others like Gregoriana and Tiziani tended to emphasize shoulders.

More daring designers, Antonelli and Baratta, presented a couple of see-through tops for evening dresses. Baratta's evening woman came on as a "femme fatale," sinuous and sexy, in contrast to her daytime sportswoman.

Ognibene-Zendman gave a casual accent to his cocktail dresses by topping them with patchwork or knitted wool vests.

Barocco went hunting with leopard skin jackets and a long feather stuck in Robin Hood hats. Trousers had elephant legs. One amusing mid-thigh dress appeared—the only one in Monday's shows—worn with a short spangled jacket.

On the whole, lengths settled just below the knee and the word was simplicity. As Ognibene-Zendman said, "Fashion now needs stability and a return to dignity."

Centinaro showed short bell sleeves open under the arm to create a cape effect. She used a lot of beige decorated with black and rust designs.

Balestra chose to go folksy with a crowd of peasant women in black, embroidered with gold. Wide sleeved blouses were topped by short embroidered boleros. A head-scarf completed the outfit.

She also favored huge black pompons to edge a skirt or make up sleeves. For evening her women wore masculine jackets in glittering lame over a long dress.

A light wing effect on the back of lacy sleeves was Antonelli's answer for evening dresses.

Hats of all shapes and sizes were a popular item in most collections, from stocking caps to turbans and crochet bonnets or berets.

After the ladies, men's fashion took over the runway.

Men's colors were blended and often on the dark side with dark greens and browns or camel hair.

Trouser cuffs made a comeback while both single- and double-breasted jackets were shown. Most outfits, however, were casual.

Public Card Party

MACKVILLE — A public card party is being sponsored by the St. Edward Home-School Association at 8 p.m. Sunday in the school hall. Chairmen for the event are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Roltgen assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Erv Lanser. A hot lunch is being served.

WINE On the Table

By William Clifford

In Biblical times putting new wine into old bottles apparently wasn't such a good idea.

Today's wine-makers do it all the time, with the happiest results. They don't literally use second-hand glass. But new and better wines are constantly being bottled under old familiar names.

I saw this, and tasted it, on a recent visit to California, where several important wineries have new vineyards that are beginning to produce grapes superior to any they grew before.

New, Yet Old

Don't be surprised if the latest bottling of Paul Masson's Pinot Chardonnay seems to have twice as big a taste as in the past (When it was already an outstanding wine). It is twice as big, thanks to the grapes from Masson's new Pinnacles Vineyard.

This firm's exclusive called Rubion is still relatively a new wine in an old bottle. Rubion comes in the traditional Bordeaux bottle, correctly suggesting its claret character.

This wine is blended from the large inventory of red varietal grapes in ageing cellars at Saratoga, Calif. As the grapes change, so will Rubion change, growing even more powerful and complex.

Dry Wine

Like French clarets, Rubion is a completely dry wine, big in both aroma and taste. Also like Bordeaux wines, it develops well in the bottle and will improve for some years in a proper wine cellar.

But unlike both Bordeaux and the great California Cabernet Sauvignons, it isn't hard or heavily tannic to begin with. Up to three years in casks, then at least a year in the bottle, Rubion has a velvety softness from the beginning.

Therefore it's an easy wine to drink. And for a big strong dry red wine, that's a new quality to appreciate in an old bottle.

RUBION VEAL CHOPS

6 tablespoons butter
4 thick loin veal chops
Salt and pepper
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
4 tablespoons minced shallots
1 cup Rubion
1 cup heavy cream
Pinch of dried marjoram

Saute chops in 4 tablespoons of the butter over medium heat until brown on both sides. Salt and pepper generously, remove to platter in warming oven.

Saute mushrooms very briefly in remaining butter, add shallots (or white port of scallions) and three fourths cup Rubion. Cook and stir until most of the liquid has boiled away.

Add cream, stir and scrape pan to loosen meat particles, and cook until slightly thickened. Add remaining Rubion, marjoram, and more salt to taste. Cook until as thick as heavy cream.

Pour over chops, and serve with buttered broad noodles and glasses of Rubion.

Outdoor Favorite—Pork

After the long winter, you'll be ready to get outdoors. What could be better than a pork roast cooked over charcoal? There is a wide selection of pork cuts for the menus of the outdoor chef, says Quin Kolb, meat specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

In outdoor cookery, roasting and broiling are the usual cooking methods. Many pork cuts that are tasty cook well by these methods. These include pork shoulders, ham, pork chops, tenderloin, ribs and loins.

When selecting pork cuts, allow ¾ to one pound per serving for the bone-in meats, and, for boneless cuts, allow 1-3 to ½ pound. Fresh air and outdoor cookery call for generous servings. When time is limited, choose chops or other sliced pork cuts. If you have more time, pork roast or ham is a good choice.

For the rotisserie, select boneless or rolled and tied roasts, spareribs or cubes. Select chops, other sliced cuts, tenderloin or cubes on a skewer for the grill.

As in indoor cookery, low to moderate temperatures give the best results in outdoor pork cooking. The coals should glow not flame. Control the rate of cooking by adjusting the distance of the meat from the coals.

Cooking time varies depending on the size of the cut. Pork must be cooked well done. But pork roast becomes dry when overcooked. Roast fresh pork until the thermometer registers 170 degrees. When cooked correctly, pork is juicy and flavorful.

The meat thermometer needs to be inserted at a slight angle so the tip is in the center of the roast. But, it should not rest on fat or bone.

Pork roasts carve more easily if permitted to set after roasting. Since the roast continues to cook after being removed from the heat, take from the oven when the thermometer registers 5 degrees below the desired doneness.

So stock your freezer with abundant, economically priced pork, suggests Kolb. Be prepared for the outdoor cookery season.

Colsens Mark 66th Wedding Anniversary

SHAWANO — The 66th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Colsen, former Leeman residents, was observed April 4 with a family dinner at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Henry, Oconto.

The couple was married April 5, 1905 and resided in Shiocton where they operated a grocery store. They moved to Leeman where they farmed until Mr. Colsen's retirement before settling in Shawano.

Nat All Patients React the Same

When prescribing a drug, a physician must weigh "risk versus benefit." Every patient is different, and, therefore, all humans will not react identically to a specific drug.

In making this point, the executive vice-president and director of research for CIBA Corporation, Dr. George de-Stevens said ideally an effective drug would not have adverse side effects for any patient. However, he noted, "that is not in the nature of things. Any drug that is effective against a specific illness is potent enough to cause possible undesirable reactions in some patients."

seal. Repeat with remaining dough and filling to make 12 empanadas.

Place on ungreased baking sheet and bake in 375 degree oven 15 minutes, until golden. Keep warm in chafing dish set over low flame.

ARTICHOKES—HOLLANDAISE

- 4 artichokes
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar
- Water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Hollandaise Sauce

Trim stem of each artichoke and pull off tough leaves at base. Snip off sharp points at tip of each leaf with scissors. Place in bowl with cold water, to which lemon juice or vinegar has been added to prevent discoloration, while preparing remaining artichokes.

Place trimmed artichokes in large kettle with boiling salted water to cover. Cook, uncovered, 30 to 45 minutes, until leaves can be pulled easily from the base and stem end is fork tender. Remove from water and place upside down to drain. Serve with Hollandaise Sauce.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

- 6 egg yolks
- ¼ cup boiling water, divided
- ¼ cup lemon juice, at room temperature
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
- 1 cup butter, melted
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Place egg yolks in top of double boiler set over hot, not boiling, water. Cook, stirring constantly with a wire whisk, until egg yolks begin to thicken. Add one tablespoon water and cook, continuing to beat lightly, until yolks begin thickening again. Repeat until all the water is incorporated.

Stir in lemon juice and rind. Remove from heat. Add butter slowly, beating constantly, until sauce is thick and creamy. Stir in salt and pepper. To keep warm while serving, place sauce in small chafing dish over a bain Marie over liquid heat flame. Use as a dip for artichoke leaves. Recipe makes about two cups sauce.

CHOCOLATE SAUCE FOR DOUGHNUTS

- 2 cups semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ⅓ cup milk
- ¼ cup light corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt chocolate and butter in top of double boiler. Stir in milk, corn syrup and vanilla; stir until smooth. At serving time, heat in small fondue saucepan over low flame. Spear pieces of doughnuts on fondue forks and dunk in sauce.

RASPBERRY SAUCE FOR DOUGHNUTS

- 1 cup raspberry jam
- 1 cup raspberry jelly
- ¼ cup orange juice
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Mix together all ingredients in a small fondue saucepan over flame. Heat and stir until smooth. Spear pieces of doughnuts on fondue forks and dunk in sauce.

CANDY CLUSTERS

- 2 cups crunchy, sweet peanut butter cereal
- 1 cup miniature marshmallows
- 6 milk chocolate bars

Place cereal and marshmallows in greased bowl. Melt chocolate bars in top of double boiler, over hot (not boiling) water.

Pour chocolate over peanut butter cereal and marshmallows; stir to coat evenly. Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper. Chill until firm.

CHERRY DOUGHNUTS

- 6 cups enriched self-rising flour
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup sugar
- ¾ cup milk
- 3 tablespoons oil
- ½ teaspoon almond extract
- ¾ cup chopped maraschino cherries
- ¼ cup maraschino cherry juice

Stir together flour and nutmeg. Blend together remaining ingredients. Gradually add flour mixture. Chill dough if necessary for easier handling. Turn onto lightly floured surface and roll out ¼-inch thick.

Cut with floured doughnut cutter. Fry in preheated, 375 degree deep fat until golden brown, about 1 to 2 minutes on each side. Drain on absorbent paper. Roll or shake warm doughnuts in sugar, if desired.

Keep Liner in Line

To prevent eyeliner from spreading or lifting off entirely, be sure lids are oil-free before applying. Swab the lids first with a cotton puff soaked in good quality witch hazel. Let the lotion dry by itself, then apply liner.

Dress Spring Salads the Natural Way

More and more young people are discovering the natural way to food enjoyment.

Just for the fun, satisfaction and nutritious goodness of it, they are baking breads, making soups and growing and cooking their own vegetables. Cooking from scratch may take longer but many claim that foods taste better and cooking is more enjoyable.

High on the list of foods that are being discovered are homemade pour-on salad dressings.

For a new experience with salads, start with a basic oil and vinegar dressing, then go on to variations on the theme, or create new dressings.

For a creamy type mayonnaise pour-on dressing, begin with the basic mixture of real mayonnaise thinned to a pourable consistency with milk, or with almost any liquid. Stop there or go on with additional seasonings.

OIL AND VINEGAR DRESSING

- 1 cup corn oil
- ⅓ cup vinegar
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 1 clove garlic, split

Measure corn oil, vinegar, sugar, salt and garlic into a bottle or jar. Cover tightly and shake well. Chill several hours, then remove garlic. Shake thoroughly before serving. Makes about one and one-third cups dressing.

ZESTY DRESSING

Follow recipe for Oil and Vinegar Dressing, adding ½ teaspoon paprika, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons catsup, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Makes about one and one half cups dressing.

CREAMY DRESSING

Follow recipe for Oil and Vinegar Dressing, omitting garlic, increasing sugar to ¼ cup, and adding ½ cup dairy sour cream, ¼ cup catchup and ½ teaspoon paprika. Makes about two cups dressing.

VINAIGRETTE DRESSING

Follow recipe for Oil and Vinegar Dressing, omitting garlic, and adding 1 hard-cooked egg (chopped), 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento, 1 tablespoon chopped chives and 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper. Makes about one and two thirds cups dressing.

POUR-ON MAYONNAISE

- 1 cup real mayonnaise
- ¼ cup milk, or pickle juice, or tomato juice, or fruit juice

Measure mayonnaise into bowl, cup or small pitcher. Stir in milk or other thinning ingredient. For thinner consistency, increase amount of thinning ingredient. Makes about one and one fourth cups dressing.

GINGER FRUIT DRESSING

Follow recipe for Pour-On Mayonnaise, thinning with milk. Stir in ¼ cup slivered candied or preserved ginger. Makes about one and one half cups dressing.

RUSSIAN DRESSING

Follow recipe for Pour-On Mayonnaise, thinning real mayonnaise with milk. Stir in ⅔ cup chili sauce and 1 tablespoon sweet relish. Makes about one and three fourths cups dressing.

THOUSAND ISLAND DRESSING

Follow recipe for Pour-On Mayonnaise, thinning with milk. Stir in 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons sweet relish and 1 chopped hard cooked egg. Makes about one and two thirds cup dressing.

ROQUEFORT DRESSING

Follow recipe for Pour-On Mayonnaise, thinning with milk. Stir in ½ cup crumbled Roquefort cheese, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, and ⅛ teaspoon garlic powder. Makes about one and one half cups dressing.

LOUIS DRESSING

Follow recipe for Pour-On Mayonnaise, thinning real mayonnaise with tomato juice. Stir in 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons finely snipped parsley. Makes about one and one fourth cups dressing.

GREEN GODDESS DRESSING

Follow recipe for Pour-On Mayonnaise Dressing, thinning with milk. Stir in 4 minced anchovies, 2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup parsley sprigs, minced, ¼ cup finely chopped chives. Makes about one and one half cups dressing.

Smart Shopper's Recipe for Week

April is the month for eggs, both plentiful and of high quality. Despite all the cholesterol controversy, eggs still are rich in essential nutrients and should not be given up altogether.

Ample protein, a good supply of Vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, abundant amounts of iron and Vitamin D — all make an impressive line-up of nutrients packed into something as small as an egg.

This is an opportunity to provide good food for a growing family in a variety of ways. Sugested recipes include Eggs Creole, Egg and Potato Scallop and Oriental Scramble. The standby favorites are excellent; too.

EGGS CREOLE

- ¼ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons fat, melted
- 2½ cups tomatoes
- 2 cups water
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- Salt and pepper
- 6 eggs

Cook the onion and green pepper in the fat until the onion is lightly browned. Pour in tomatoes and water; bring to boiling. Add rice and cook slowly until rice is tender (25 to 35 minutes). Add more water if the rice becomes dry. Season with salt and pepper. Drop in the eggs, cover and simmer about 10 minutes or until eggs are firm.

EGG-POTATO SCALLOP

- 1 cup thin white sauce
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- Salt, pepper to taste
- Soft bread crumbs
- 2 or 3 medium-sized cooked potatoes, sliced
- 4 to 6 hard cooked eggs, sliced

Make white sauce. Add parsley, salt and pepper. Place alternate layers of potatoes and eggs in greased baking dish and pour the white sauce over. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake at 375 degrees 15 to 20 minutes.

ORIENTAL SCRAMBLE

Saute chopped onions in butter, add scrambled egg mixture. When partially done, stir in minute amount of soy sauce. Cook, until done and then serve with a generous topping of ripe olive slices or wedges.

Altar Society Holds Rummage Sale

KAUKAUNA — The Altar Society of Holy Cross Catholic Church will conduct a rummage sale from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday and Friday in the school activity room.

Parishioners having items to donate are asked to bring them to the school prior to Wednesday evening, according to chairman, Mrs. Vincent Ebben. Persons attending the sale are to use the Kaukauna Street entrance of the school to avoid interference with classes.

These "Returnables" are worth
5¢ EACH

Effective April 5, 1971 you can get a nickel for each returnable bottle you return to any outlet in your community. Frankly, we're increasing your deposit-refund because too many returnables are winding up in the garbage or as litter — the very problem returnables can help solve!

This 5c refund will affect the carry-out price but not the cost of your favorite soft drinks! The returnable bottle is still the most economical way to purchase beverages — when and if you return the bottles! If you discard them, it's expensive — for you, for us, and for the entire state.

This new, increased deposit refund on returnable bottles applies to Pepsi Cola, Diet Pepsi, Mountain Dew, Teem and Mason's Root Beer, within the franchise areas, of Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. of Oshkosh, Inc., Oshkosh, Wis. and Beverage Bottlers, Inc., Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin.

YOU CAN IMPROVE THE ECONOMY AND ECOLOGY BY KEEPING THE TWO WAY BOTTLE FROM GOING THE WRONG WAY.

Read a little of SpringClean's™ package.

Spring

Contains phosphate substitutes that re

Why SpringClean is Best
There is no such thing as a "miracle ingredient" in detergents. The secret is in the cleaning system—a technical term for how all the ingredients work together. In a perfect cleaning system, all the ingredients work together so well they actually multiply each other's cleaning strength.

That's where phosphates come in. They do two things—they make it easy to formulate a good "system"... and they pollute. Take out the phosphates, and it's harder to make a good detergent (that's why most "ecological" detergents won't clean). But it's not impossible.

SpringClean is the proof. We have developed perhaps the perfect non-polluting detergent, substituting a system of 7 safe and active cleaners for the present polluting phosphate detergent systems. In our perfected system, the individual ability of these cleaners is actually multiplied. (It's as if 7 strong ingredients, put together in the right team, became super strong.) We're happy to divulge what these 7 cleaners are, and what they do for your laundry.

1. Anionic Surfactant is the workhorse detergent ingredient; it dissolves the oil barrier around dirt particles, helps other ingredients get in and break up the dirt. It makes hard-working suds, too—but it's "biodegradable", so it will leave no sudsy residue in our streams.

2. Nonionic Surfactant adds a "booster" effect, especially in hard water. And it's low-sudsing, which makes SpringClean safe in all machines. These two Surfactants, together, are called a "mixed active" system... expensive, but worth it.

3. You wouldn't want soil particles that have been washed out of your clothes to settle back on the material. An "Anti-Redeposition Agent" prevents that by coating each particle, floating it so it's washed away, never "redeposited" on clothes.

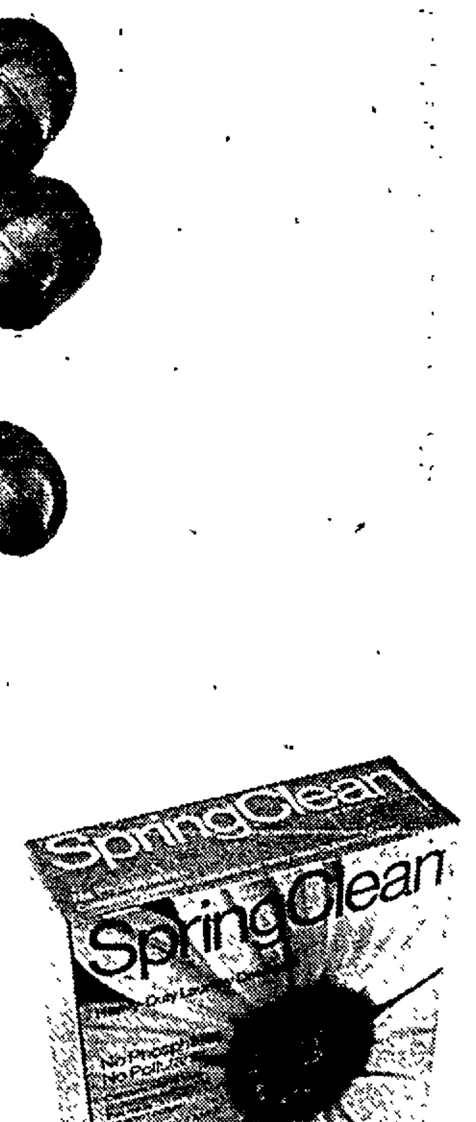
4. An Oxygen Bleach safely oxydizes (chemically destroys) soil, as sunlight does on a clothesline.

5. Borax "sweetens" fabrics—freshens, aerates—and helps soften water.

6. We add lots of "Optical Brighteners", space-age chemicals that actually brighten fabrics. How? They turn invisible ultra-violet light (which is all around us) into a blue-white glow of added brightness. Repeated washing in SpringClean will actually increase this brightening effect, to cancel the natural yellowing of fabrics.

7. Special Water Conditioners provide the right pH (alkalinity balance) for maximum cleaning effectiveness. And they have a remarkable ability to coat and protect the metal parts in your washing machine, preventing water corrosion.

These ingredients are the best available products of modern technology, blended by Darrill's experienced specialists in detergent chemistry. Most importantly, we use a costly spray-dry process to assure that each tiny bead of SpringClean contains the whole, carefully-balanced cleaning system. (In cheap low-foaming dry-mix detergents, you can find strong ingredients at the top of the box, weak ones at the bottom.) So this box of SpringClean contains millions of tiny cleaning systems. You'll see the results in your Spring clean laundry, wash after wash.



Let's make the whole world SpringClean.

Papermakers Fall

Patriots Triumph In Baseball Debut

Jeff Bergsbaken made a strong pitching debut for Appleton East Tuesday as the Patriots swamped Kimberly, 11-1, at Goodland Field.

The contest was the first baseball game in AHS-E history and also was the Fox Valley Association opener for both teams.

Bergsbaken went the distance as he struck out 12, issued only one walk and scattered three hits. Tom Aerts did nearly all of the damage for Kimberly with a pair of hits, including a double.

Bill Uelman and John Kotkosky worked for the Papermakers, 1-1 overall.

Appleton East tallied a single run in the bottom of the first, added three in the second and exploded for six runs in the fifth. Kimberly's only run came in the sixth without the benefit of a hit.

Doug Meyer turned in a 2-for-2 performance at the plate for the winners.

Kimberly pitchers issued eight walks and a total of 10 errors were committed in the field.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Norm Miller, Astros, keyed a five-run ninth-inning rally that carried Houston over the St. Louis Cardinals 8-4.

PITCHING—Vida Blue, Athletics, pitched a two-hitter and posted his second straight shutout as Oakland trimmed Milwaukee 2-0.

3 Fox Cities Stars Cited By Channel 5

GREEN BAY — Appleton West's Tim Moriarty and Rich Reitzner and Neenah's Rick Matson have won places on the sixth annual Channel 5 all-star basketball team, announced today.

Moriarty was named on more than 84 per cent of the ballots in a Northeastern Wisconsin coaches' survey. Reitzner was runnerup in the voting. Both are repeaters on the honor team.

In addition to the Fox Cities trio, Kewaunee's Dale Koehler and Manitowoc's Rick Fischer were named to the honor team.

The all-stars will be guests of Channel 5 at an Elks club banquet tonight.

Oakland Ace Hurls 2-Hitter

Brewers Singing Vida Blues

By BOB GREENE

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Vida Blue was red hot Tuesday, which means the Milwaukee Brewers were green with envy.

Blue limited the Brewers to just two singles as he hurled the Oakland A's to a 2-0 victory over Milwaukee. It was the Brewers' second straight defeat and Oakland's second consecutive shutout.

Vida Blue

"A good 99 per cent of my pitches were fast balls," Blue said. "I couldn't get my curve ball over for strikes."

Blue's "hummer" was all he needed, though. Bernie Smith tagged the Oakland lefthander for a single to left in the fifth inning, and Phil Roof slashed a one-bagger to left in the eighth.

Hit Curve

"Bernie hit a curve ball inside," Blue said. "I jammed him with it pretty good. Roof hit a good fast ball."

Oakland's offense was just a little bit better than the Brewers, but just a little bit was all that was needed. Milwaukee rookie Bill Parsons, making his first start, limited the A's to just six hits and struck out six. He also walked six.

Joe Rudi slammed a one-out double to right in the first, then scored on Don Mincher's single to center. Two innings later, Rudi walked and circled the bases on Mincher's double

Runs Stand

Only one other Oakland runner was able to reach second, but Blue made the two runs stand up.

"I didn't feel as if I was throwing as hard as I did the other night," Blue said, referring to his last time on the mound. "I wasn't as consistent. But my fast ball was really moving."

"I tried to jam the Brewers with the fast ball," he said. "I think I broke about four bats. I prefer to jam you and make you hit slow ground balls. I would rather have those infield outs than the strikeouts."

Roof said Parsons was extremely effective in his debut.

"He only made two or three mistakes," the Brewer catcher said.

Against Blue on Tuesday, that was enough.

Boston Bombs Denny; Royals Edge Twins in Bean Ball Contest, 5-3

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Denny McLain's fast ball came and went—followed closely by McLain himself after a faulty second fling for the Washington Senators.

"The harder I threw it, the harder they hit it," the controversial right-hander lamented Tuesday night following his early departure in the Senators' 5-3 loss to the Boston Red Sox.

McLain, a winner last Friday night in his 1971 debut, was tagged for all five Boston runs before leaving for a pinch hitter in the fifth inning. He gave up seven hits, including homers by Carl Yastrzemski and Duane Josephson.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City downed Minnesota 5-3 in a game marked by seven hit batsmen. Oakland blanked Milwaukee 2-0 behind Vida Blue's two-hitter. California topped the Chicago White Sox 3-1 in 10 innings and the New York Yankees beat Detroit 5-2. The Baltimore-Cleveland game was rained out.

Josephson's home run after a second inning single by George Scott, started McLain's undoing at Washington. Yastrzemski, who visited President Nixon in the afternoon, unloaded in the third and the Red Sox added runs in the fourth and fifth offsetting three unearned Washington tallies.

Lou Piniella's two-run single in the seventh was the deciding blow in the Royals' victory over Minnesota. The winners scored three times in the fifth on just one hit—a double by Paul Schaal—plus four walks and a ground out.

Four Twins and three Royals were plunked by stray pitches, tying the American League single-game mark of seven hit batsmen by Washington and Detroit in 1914.

Run-scoring singles by pinch hitter Billy Cowan and Alex Johnson in the 10th carried the Angels past Chicago, pinning the White Sox with their fourth consecutive loss.

First Ace Recorded At Golf Village

It didn't take long for the first ace to be recorded at Golf Village.

On opening day — last Saturday — Appleton's Flick Pierson, 15, hit a hole-in-1 with a 7-iron on the 120-yard fifth. Two other players witnessed the feat.

Canadien Injured In Playoff, Held For Observation

BOSTON (AP) — Montreal forward Phil Roberto was held overnight at Massachusetts General Hospital after suffering an apparent pelvic injury just after the start of the Canadiens' National Hockey League playoff game against the Boston Bruins Tuesday night.

Roberto was carried off the ice after he crashed into the boards while chasing Boston's Derek Sanderson in an attempt to get the puck just 24 seconds after the opening faceoff.

"He tried to turn with me and his foot got caught in a rut in the ice," Sanderson said. "He lost his balance and went into the boards real hard."

The seriousness of the injury was not immediately determined pending observation and examination of the x-rays.

Phil Esposito Named Top NHL Player

MONTREAL (AP) — Phil Esposito, Boston's record-smashing center, was named the top player of the 1970-71 National Hockey League season by Hockey News Monday.

The hockey publication selected Toronto's John McLellan as the top coach and William Wirtz, president of the Chicago Black Hawks, as the top executive.

Bluejays Rout Rocket '9' in FVA Opener

Bohmke Hits 'Grand Slam' to Pace 12-0 Win

MENASHA — Keyed by Tom Bohmke's first-inning grand slam homer, Menasha High School routed Neenah, 12-0, in the Fox Valley Association baseball opener for both clubs here Tuesday.

The Bluejays parlayed a bundle of Rocket walks and four errors with six hits for the one-sided triumph.

At the same time, Steve Gear and Joe Flom limited the Losers to two hits. Gear worked the first five frames and Flom the sixth. The game was called after 5½ innings because of darkness.

Gilbert Homers

Menasha tallied five runs in the first inning on four walks and Bohmke's 4-base blow, added three in the second, two in the fourth on Tom Gilbert's homer and a final pair in the fifth.

Mike Farin dropped a single over the infield in the second and Norb Deinert singled to right in the fifth for Neenah's safeties. Menasha's hurlers fanned nine and walked one.

Glen Rodgers started on the mound for Neenah, but gave way to Dene Storch in the second. Henry Murphy pitched the fifth. They combined for eight walks, whiffed nine and were backed up by four errors.

Bohmke and Gear each had two of the Jay's six safeties.

Mollen, Collar Double Award Winners

36 Athletes to be Feted

Two of the 36 athletes who are to be honored at Monday's all-Fox Cities banquet at the Darboy Club will be double award winners.

Little Chute's Steve Mollen and Appleton Xavier's Mark Collar were named to both the all-Fox Cities football and basketball teams by the Post-Crescent sports department.

Other football players to be feted are Neenah's Tom Forcey, Gary Zeinert, Mike Bouressa, Bruce Terwillegar and Dan Oehlke; Kaukauna's Dave Anderson, Pat Head and Rick Giordana; Menasha's Tom Bohmke and Paul Stinski; Kimberly's Don Lindberg; Appleton West's Dwight Mueller; St. John's Terry Johnson; Appleton East's Bob Mahlock; Fox Valley Lutheran's Jeff Grow, Dave Romberg and Bill Lecker; Xavier's Mark Kaminski; and Little Chute's Ken Hurst, and St. Mary's Chuck Johnson.

Basketball stars, other than Collar and Mollen, to be honored are Appleton West's Tim Moriarty, Rich Reitzner and Ike Chestnut; Neenah's Rick Matson, Bill Schultz and John Pierce; Appleton East's Nick Milhaupt and Don Werner; Kimberly's Don Uelman; St. Mary's Tim Wainscott; Kaukauna's Leon Franzke, FVL's Dennis Kasten; St. John's Mark Hammen and Xavier's Tim O'Dell.

The banquet, sponsored by the Little Chute Jaycees for the fifth straight year, will start at 6:30 p.m.

Marinette's Marty Crowe will be guest speaker. Oliver Larson will serve as master of ceremonies. John Paustian will be in charge of awards ceremonies. Athletes will receive awards both from the Jaycees and the Post-Crescent.

Tickets are now on sale at many Fox Cities establishments and are available from Jaycees.

Third Game Set Tonight

Laker Chances Seem Slim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Even with the home court advantage at the Forum tonight, chances of the Los Angeles Lakers surviving through the week against Milwaukee's Bucks appear slim indeed.

Down 2-0 in their best-four-of-seven National Basketball Association final Western playoff, the crippled Lakers must get a super effort to keep the Bucks from winning this third game and the fourth one Friday night.

Although 7-foot-1 Wilt Chamberlain has played strong games against Milwaukee's 7-2 Lew Alcindor, the Laker center can't do the entire job.

After the first game in this playoff series, starting guard Keith Erickson went out with appendicitis and underwent surgery in Milwaukee. The Lakers already were without superstar Jerry West who suffered torn knee ligaments late in the regular season.

For the playoffs, Coach Joe Mullaney had shifted Erickson from forward to guard to team with Gail Goodrich and put rookie Jim McMillian at forward.

Riley Starts

Then, with Erickson out, the Lakers had to put their No. 4 guard, Pat Riley, former Kentucky All-American, into a starting role.

With the new alignment, the same again tonight, the Lakers fell 91-73, scoring their season's low.

Chamberlain led the attack in that game with 26 points, yet the next high scorer was Riley with 13. In the two games, big Wilt has averaged 24 points and Alcindor 27.

Despite the two triumphs, Coach Larry Costello hasn't been happy with his Milwaukee offense saying, "Our offense has been poor. Our defense has been our salvation."

Channel 11 Slates 3 NBA Telecasts

The Milwaukee Bucks-at-Los Angeles playoff game will be telecast at 10 p.m. today by Channel 11.

Friday night, Channel 11 will present two NBA playoff games. The Knicks-Bullets contest will be on at 6:30 p.m., while the Bucks-Lakers game will be carried at 10 p.m.

13 More Racers Boost '500' Entries to 49

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP) — Thirteen cars, with drivers ranging from durable A. J. Foyt Jr., to young Swede Savage, were entered Tuesday in the 55th 500-mile race May 29 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. No drivers were named for six of the specially built speedsters.

The new entries increased the field to 49, with about a score more expected before the Thursday midnight deadline.

Foyt, who won the NASCAR 500-mile stock car race at Daytona International Speedway Feb. 14, can become the first driver to win four 500s at the old Indianapolis track. The Houston veteran captured the richest auto race in 1961, 1964 and 1967.

Savage, 24, a question mark in the field because of injuries suffered in the Ontario, Calif., Grand Prix March 28, was named to drive one of two Offenhauser-powered Eagles entered by industrialist Ozzie Olson of Detroit.

Foyt in Ford

Foyt will drive one of two Ford-powered cars entered by S. D. Murphy of Southfield, Mich.

Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., the 1968 Indianapolis winner and brother of Al Unser, last years winner, was nominated to drive one of two Eagle Fords entered by All-American Racers, Santa Ana, Calif.

Veteran Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls, Tex., who has led each of the last three Indianapolis races but has yet to win one, will drive one of three Ford-powered cars entered by Gene White Racing, Inc., of Indianapolis.

Other drivers listed included Sam Sessions, Nashville, Mich., for one of two Offenhausers entered by Federal Automotive Associates of Detroit; Dee Jones of Phoenix, Ariz., an Indianapolis rookie, for a Ford-powered car entered by Patrick O'Reilly, Lake Crystal, Minn., and Cale Yarborough, Timmonsville, S.C., a southern stock car racing veteran, named as Ruby's teammate.

$500,000 Pact for Lewis

76ers Sign Top Pick

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dana Lewis, 6-foot-10 Tulsa center, has a six-year contract worth a reported $500,000 with the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association.

According to Lewis' agent, Steve Arnold of Pro Sport of New York, the player collects a good portion of the money even if he doesn't make the team.

Arnold refused to say how much Lewis will draw from the 76ers, but he did describe the contract as the best of any 1971 No. 1 draft choice other than that of Artis Gilmore.

The agent said it took only three meetings with 76ers' general manager Don DeJardin to reach agreement on the pact.

He said that what made it easy was the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association, who also drafted Lewis.

"That gave us good leverage," observed Arnold.

The 240-pounder from Newark, N.J., answered questions at Tuesday's news conference mostly in one, two and three words. He appeared extremely nervous and cautious.

He did elaborate slightly on why he chose the NBA's 76ers over the ABA's Squires.

"The NBA is a better class and it's tougher and I want to play in a tough league," Lewis said.

Mattek Sets Pace For FVL Jayvees

Jim Mattek, a 5-11½ sophomore, led the Fox Valley Lutheran junior varsity basketball team both in scoring (252 points) and rebounding (136 during the 1970-1 season.

The next three top scorers are all freshmen. Tom Hanke scored 250 points, while Tom Grow and John Schultz totaled 156 and 151, respectively.

Jim Binversie Hits 647 Set

Nickasch Has 644 At Little Chute; Resch Rolls 244-623

Jim Binversie slammed a 233 game and 647 series to set the pace in the Allis-Chalmers League at Sabre Lanes Tuesday.

Bill Reidel had a 230 game and Dwain "Nick" Nichasch rolled a 644 series to share honors in the Tri-City League at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes last night.

Reidel finished with a 575 series while Dave Felzer rolled 566, Len Hintz had a 225 game and Gary Mignon rolled 562.

Don Resch cracked a 244 game and Bob Ross had a 623 series for leading scores in the Tri-City Men's League at Sabre Lanes last night. Resch finished with a 597 series, Ed Schultz had a 595 count and Dale Loewenhagen slammed a 576.

Gary Knaack had a 591 series and Bill Jens rolled 576 in the Universal League at the 41 Bowl.

Carol Hubbs, Mrs. Lappen Bowl 534s

Carol Hubbs and Marion Lappen each had series totals of 534, and Elaine Schmidt slammed a 223 game in women's bowling Tuesday night.

Carol and Elaine rolled their high scores in the Hit 'n Miss League at the 41 Bowl and Marsha Folkman had a 202 singleton in the same circuit.

Marion's score came in the Twilight League at the Super Bowl and included a 203 game. Phyllis Suehring also had a 203 game.

Karen Peterson slammed a 211 game in the Tag-a-Long League at the 41 Bowl Tuesday. Margaret Malloy had a 204 line and Barbara Smith had 203.

It was a close race in the American League at the 41 Bowl as Hoppy's Bar took the league championship with a 56½-33½ record to nose out APCO by ½-game. On the finals night of action, Judy Kronberg hit a 209 game and Marlyn Bergholz rolled a 211.

Grace Swamp's 202 game was the lone honor score in the Nite-Out Ladies League at Sabre Lanes.

High Water on Wolf River Pulls Fishing Rafts Loose

SHIOCTON — High water on the Wolf River is creating an annual problem for DNR wardens and fishermen.

Floating rafts have been breaking loose and are being carried down stream in violation of Outagamie County zoning ordinances.

Al VanderBloemen, warden, has recovered three floating rafts in the Shiocton area.

All floating docks and fishing shanties require a building permit and must be identified with the owner's name and address. Failure to prevent the floating raft from floating off the immediate premise constitutes a violation of the zoning ordinance.

Violations of the ordinance are subject to fines under the zoning law.

Signs 3-Year ABA Pact

Boston College's O'Brien Benefits From Cage War

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jim O'Brien is another beneficiary of the drafting war between the National and American Basketball associations.

O'Brien signed a three-year contract with the ABA's Pittsburgh Condors Tuesday for $150,000, a $10,000 bonus and a leased car for three years.

"I think a merger would have cost me quite a bit," said the 21-year-old guard from Boston College.

Condors Operations Director Mark Binstein was more direct.

"It's safe to assume," he said, "that between the contract signings of Jimmy to Howard Porter including Levi Wyatt we would have saved anywhere from $100,000 to $250,000 on each signing."

Close to $100,000

Since Villanova's Porter was the Condors' first draft pick, Wyatt of Alcorn A & M the second and O'Brien the third, it is safe to assume that O'Brien may have gained close to $100,000 because of the lack of merger.

"Next year," Binstein said, "I'll bet a 6-foot-3 player won't command more than a salary of $35,000 to $40,000."

O'Brien, from Brooklyn, N.Y., averaged 18.9 points a game and had a career total of 1,273, fourth highest in the school's history.

Appleton Coated Paper will meet Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. at 7 p.m. Thursday for the basketball championship of the 1971 Appleton YMCA Industrial Olympics.

In the semi-finals, the Power Co. beat Valley Bank, 52-44, as Bill Brown's 18 points led the way. Mark Sherman scored 14 for the losers.

Appleton Coated walloped Allis-Chalmers, 80-40, as Roger Bartman scored 28 points. Bob Olson was high fo A-C, with 11.

Tickets are now on sale for the May 6 olympics banquet.

Cleveland Signs Steve Patterson

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Cavaliers Monday signed UCLA center Steve Patterson to what team president Nick Mileti termed a "big league contract."

Patterson scored 29 points in the NCAA championship game two weeks ago to lead the Bruins to their fifth straight national basketball title. The 6-foot-9 pivotman was the second pick of the Cavaliers in the National Basketball Association draft.

We thrill to your applause.

Hernandez Sparks Pirates to 9-3 Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Alley is no Easy Rider on the Pittsburgh bench with Jackie Hernandez in the main role.

"I guess I'll just have to sit here, though, until he cools off," says the Pirate shortstop.

Jackie Hernandez? Yes, Jackie Hernandez. You remember, the good-field, no-hit utility infielder, 163 pounds with spikes and glove.

Thing is, he's playing out of character—like clouting .444 with 6 RBI, including a three-run home run Tuesday night that helped Pittsburgh level Philadelphia 9-3.

AL Castoff

"I could be playing," says Alley, the Pirates' regular shortstop for years, "but he's doing such a good job, they can't afford to take him out."

Hernandez, an American League castoff with a .209 lifetime batting average in five major league seasons, got his chance with the Pirates when Alley suffered a broken hand in spring training. Now Alley's better, but so is Hernandez' batting average.

Pittsburgh batting coach Bill Virdon worked with Hernandez in Florida, but says the diminuitive Cuban isn't doing anything differently this season.

Shelved by Flu

Cincinnati nudged Atlanta 5-4; Chicago shaded Los Angeles 3-2; Houston outscored St. Louis 8-4 and Montreal mauled the New York Mets 4-1 in Tuesday's other National League games. The San Diego—San Francisco contest was wiped out by rain.

With Danny Murtaugh shelved by the flu, Virdon was pinch-managing when Hernandez came up in the eighth with two outs and two on. He said he had a hunch Hernandez would come through.

Johnny Bench uncorked his third home run in two nights and keyed a seventh-inning rally with a single in the Cincinnati success.

"I'm happy, I can't be swinging much better than I did tonight," said the Reds' most valuable catcher.

In addition to his hits, Bench hit a screamer that was caught at the warning track in left field. He had two homers Monday night and a couple of other long-range blasts that turned into outs at the fence.

Bench jumped on a Pat Jarvis offering and sailed it into the left field seats in the third inning. A walk to Tony Perez, single by Bench and an RBI single by Willie Smith gave the Reds a 5-1 lead and what proved to be their winning run. The Braves scored three times in the eighth before reliever Joe Gibbon nipped the uprising with a double-play pitch.

Single in Eighth

Don Kessinger's eighth-inning single scored Jose Ortiz with the winning run for Chicago. Ortiz walked to start the rally, was sacrificed to second and roared home on Kessinger's bullet between shortstop and third base.

The loss was the third straight for Dodger ace Bill Singer, who only gave the Cubs two hits in the first six innings.

Joe Morgan's bases-filled single and Norm Miller's three-run homer with two out in the ninth carried Houston over St. Louis. The Astros, who took an early 3-0 lead, fell behind 4-3 when the Cards broke a tie in the eighth, and struck back against Mike Torrez in the last frame.

Montreal's Steve Renko beat New York for the second time this season, scattering eight Met hits. John Bateman's first homer of the season gave Montreal a 2-0 lead in the second for all the runs the Expos needed.

Young Penguin Ace Succumbs

Michel Briere Dies As Result of Car Accident Last May

MONTREAL (AP) — On April 12, 1970 at the Oakland Coliseum, young Michel Briere, a rookie center with the Pittsburgh Penguins, enjoyed his finest hour in the National Hockey League.

Briere scored at 8:28 of the first overtime period to give his team a 3-2 triumph over the Oakland Seals and a berth in the Stanley Cup semifinals.

Last May 15, Briere was involved in a serious car accident near his hometown of Malartic, Que., and Tuesday he succumbed to the injuries suffered in the accident, after 11 months in the hospital.

Briere suffered brain damage and a fractured skull in the accident when his sports car skidded off the road and crashed into a tree, killing one of his companions and injuring two others.

The accident took place about a month before the young hockey star was to be married.

Briere was flown to Montreal from Val d'Or and taken to Notre Dame Hospital where he underwent four brain operations.

He died about 3 p.m., CST, Tuesday at the Maria-Claraci Rehabilitation Hospital where he has been transferred three weeks ago.

New Assistant General Manager

Bob Harlan Gets Packer Job

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Robert J. (Bob) Harlan, director of public relations for the St. Louis baseball Cardinals since 1967, has been named assistant general manager of the Packers, General Manager-Coach Dan Devine announced today.

Devine also announced the promotion of personnel director Pat Peppler to the position of assistant to the general manager in what was described as "a restructuring of Packer front office operations."

Harlan, who has been the Cardinals' director of public relations for the last 3½ years after two years as the club's director of community affairs, "will supervise all Packer office personnel and the business operation," Devine's announcement said.

Retains Position

Peppler, director of player personnel since 1963, "will continue to oversee the entire player personnel operation, from selection to signing, and will be given additional front office responsibilities," Devine said, pointing out, "Scouting and personnel work are becoming increasingly more important today with the NFL now a 26-team league."

"Tom Miller will also continue to retain the position of assistant to the general manager and will continue to look after the ticket office in both Green Bay and Milwaukee, a new assignment due to the retirement of Milt Wittig, who was director of Milwaukee ticket operations," he added.

In disclosing the appointments of Harlan and Peppler, Devine said, "Our operation has outgrown our available personnel and after studying the structure of other NFL team operations, I feel that the present system will give the Packers a more efficient front office operation."

Harlan, a 34-year-old native of Des Moines, Iowa, is no stranger to Wisconsin. He is a graduate of Marquette University, where he received a B. S. degree in journalism in 1958, and later served as the school's sports information director for six years.

Bruins Assert Selves

North Stars Edge Blues; New York Stings Maple Leafs

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Rangers took less than a minute to assert themselves while Boston and Minnesota waited for the waning moments to show everyone who was boss in the National Hockey League's crucial playoff games.

Ted Irvine rammed a goal past harried Toronto netminder Bernie Parent after just 34 seconds of play and the Rangers, continuing their remarkable turnabout, blitzed the Maple Leafs 3-1.

But Boston, after building up a 5-1 lead, was wilting under Montreal's relentless assault before Johnny Bucyk's goal about seven minutes from the end deflated the Canadiens and enabled the Bruins to romp 7-3.

And Minnesota's Lou Nanne drilled in a rebound with less than four minutes to play to lift the North Stars to a 4-3 victory over the St. Louis Blues.

Tuesday night's victories—each in the fifth game of a series—gave the Rangers, Bruins and North Stars 3-2 leads in the Stanley Cup playoffs. The action resumes Thursday night in Toronto, Montreal and Minnesota.

Bid Spoiled

Goalie Eddie Giacomin, whose bid for a blanking was spoiled by Don McKenny late in the third period, shrugged: "A shutout would have been nice, but as long as we win, that's enough. I'll get one Thursday."

Toronto Coach John McLellan agreed the Leafs "didn't skate for two periods at all," when New York outshot them 25-10 to build a 2-0 lead on the goals by Irvine and Vic Hadfield. Bob Nevin made it 3-0 early in the third.

Boston's Wayne Cashman and Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal traded early goals before the defending champion Bruins raced to a four-goal lead on tallies by Phil Esposito, Mike Walton, Johnny McKenzie and Eddie Westfall.

Open Up

Then the Canadiens opened up and, as Frank Mahovlich and John Ferguson cut the margin in half, it appeared they might duplicate their second-game feat when they rallied from a 5-1 deficit to win 7-5.

But Bucyk, coming off the bench, picked up a loose puck, swerved in from the right and, as he crashed into two Montreal defensemen, fired the puck into the net with 7:13 to go to knock the steam out of the Canadiens' drive. Ken Hodge wrapped up the Boston scoring.

Coach Al McNeil said his Canadiens rallied too late. "We should have started in the first period. We didn't work hard enough. It was a bad game—but we've had bad games before and come out of it."

Jude Drouin of Minnesota and Craig Cameron of St. Louis scored two goals apiece—with one by each of them coming just seven seconds apart to set a playoff record. And Murray Oliver of the North Stars and Wayne Connolly of the Blues also had tallies that sent the game into the third period tied 3-3.

Tom Reid started the winning play, stealing the puck and passing to Oliver, who unloaded a slap shot. "Glenn Hall made a good stop," Nanne said, "but he just didn't have the angle to get me." The Minnesota right wing rammed the decided past the sprawling St. Louis goalie with 3:35 to play.

Ghosts Whip Polar Bears in Season Opener

Collect 12 Hits; Hortonville Hurlers Walk 15 Batters

KAUKAUNA — Three Hortonville pitchers doled out 15 walks, and Kaukauna pounded out 12 hits in rolling to a 19-5 non-conference victory over the Polar Bears here Tuesday afternoon.

The seasson opener for the Ghosts was halted after six innings because of darkness. Hortonvile now has a 0-2 mark.

The Ghosts scored five runs in the first inning and added two in the second for an early lead. Kaukauna wrapped things up with 12 runs in the last of the sixth.

Al Borchardt paced the hitting for the Ghosts with three singles in five trips, and he scored three runs. Dave Vanderloop had two hit and drove in two runs, Warren Hacker had a singled, scored three times and drove in a pair while Jim Sprangers and Jerry Driessen each had doubles.

Mark Everts, the starting and losing pitcher for Hortonville, had a single and double in four trips to the plate

Tom Nagan started and received credit for the win. Bob Vande Hey and Borchardt also saw duty on the mound. The three Ghost hurlers allowed eight hits, struck out eight and walked only one.

Lawrence Third In Golfing Meet

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. — Lawrence finished third with a 433 total behind first place winner, Cornell with 418, and second place finisher, Ripon (419), in a triangular golf meet that was played here Saturday afternoon.

Mark Carlson of Cornell captured low honors with a 78 and Ripon's Paul Taylor shot a 79 for second. Rick Stark, a freshman, totaled 72 for the Vikings to finish in third place. Lawrence's Bill Gannett fired a 83 for fourth. Other scores for Lawrence included Craig Christensen's 89, Kim Masterson's 89, and John France, also a freshman, 90

The Vikes will compete against Knox and Ripon next Saturday at Lawsonia in Green Lake.

Glad You Asked That

BY HY GARDNER

Q: My children have heard that Flipper died. I hope they're wrong. Are they? — Mrs. DeP., Green Bay, Wis.

A: The original Flipper (Mitzie) is alive and well and fishing down in the Florida Keys, Ivan Tors, "father" of the almost-human dolphin, informs us. One of the two stand-ins (Kathy) died; but Susie, who also performed at the Miami Seaquarium, is up to her tricks elsewhere.

Q: There are so many conflicting reports about mystery man Howard Hughes. Exactly where is he now? — Donald D. M., Washington, D. C.

A: At this writing, Mr. Hughes is occupying half of the top (ninth) floor of the lush Britannia Beach Hotel on beautiful Paradise Island, Nassau. Apparently the Hughes move from Vegas to the Bahamas was secretly planned more than a year ago. Intertel (a group of former Justice Department and FBI agents) under Bob Peloquin is providing tight security. Posted around the clock at all entrances and on the roof above his complex.

Q: I've always thought that Abraham Lincoln wrote "The Gettysburg Address" on the backs of old envelopes. My husband claims that is an old wives' tale. The facts, please. — Pam Woodson, Phoenix, Ariz.

A: The martyred President handwrote the historic document on White House stationery. You can see the original in the Library of Congress archives. Together with the first two drafts of the speech.

Q: Jane Withers — star of those "Josephine the Plumber" TV commercials — how popular was she as a child star in Hollywood? — Mrs. Gunther Reich, Seattle.

A: At age 11, "Josephine" ranked sixth in movie box-office appeal. That same year (1937) Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers ran seventh.

Q: Is it true that Burt Lancaster has hired Frank Sinatra as his vocal coach? Why? And isn't he a terribly expensive coach? — George deFriese, Fresno, Cal.

A: Frank's coaching Burt for fun — not money. To prepare Lancaster to play Peter Stuyvesant in the Maxwell Anderson-Kurt Weill musical the producers hope to bring to Broadway in the fall. After playing in San Francisco and Los Angeles this spring.

Q: Who was it, in speaking of diplomats, that said, "European diplomats are trained — they are like business. Ours makes a campaign contribution, wakes up in Belgium, and doesn't know which ocean he crossed to get there"? — P. Johnson, Detroit.

A: Will Rogers — in 1935.

Q: Who said, "Show me a man who doesn't drink and I'll show you a man I'll never invite to a party"? Dean Martin? W. C. Fields? Joe E. Lewis? Anthony Quinn? Or Johnny Carson? — Mike Henderson, St. Louis.

A: They may have thought it, but the man who actually said it was Johnny's alter ego — Ed McMahon.

Q: Everybody knows the U.S. government has money to burn — but doesn't the incineration of old bills add to air pollution? Anything being done about it? —Cabot L., Seattle

A: Plenty. Former Secretary of Treasury David Kennedy amended regulations to eliminate the requirement that unfit currency be destroyed only by incineration. Accordingly, U.S. Treasurer Dorothy Kabis studied new methods of destroying the annual $9 billion worth of torn and tattered paper money. And found a pulverization process which reduces the unfit currency to an unrecognizable pulp. Hopefully, the residue might be recycled for industrial use — including insulating material. ("Someday," her aide quips, "homes could be padded with millions of dollars.")

Bucks Out to Cinch Third Game in Row

BY TV SCOUT

10-conclusion Channel 11 — The third game of the best-of-seven series for the NBA Western Division crown will be contested between Milwaukee's Bucks and Los Angeles' Lakers, live from the Fabulous Forum. The Bucks won the first two games, both played at Milwaukee, and if the Lakers have any hopes of making it to the finals, they must win this one. It won't be easy, considering their various injuries, including superstars Jerry West and Elgin Baylor. Wilt Chamberlain (13), however, is healthy, and so is Gail Goodrich (25), who supply the bulk of LA's offense. Leading the Bucks, of course, are Lew Alcindor (33), Oscar Robertson (1), Bob Dandridge (10), Jon McGlocklin (14) and Greg Smith (4). Top reserves are Lucius Allen (7) and Bob Boozer (20). Eddie Doucette and Wayne Embry handle the play-by-play and comments.

8-9 Channels 11-9 — The fourth and last edition of Changing Scene features host Robert Culp and Barbara Eden, Heintje, the Mike Curb Congregation and Jud Strunk, plus guests Robert Goulet, the Osmond Brothers, Johnny Brown, John Denver and Bernie Kopell, who appears in several vignettes as the elderly Mr. X, who has written a best-seller, "The Sensuous Senile Person."

6:30-7:30 Channels 2-7 — Men At Law is timely, dealing with a court martial of a young soldier who has broken the arm of a sergeant about to kill a "protesting" soldier in the stockade. Some good scenes here, but the story never really goes anywhere. Jan-Michael Vincent is the soldier on trial, who did his bit in "Nam" and doesn't want to go back. William Shatner is the prosecuting officer and Ron Hayes is the wounded sergeant and principal witness against the youth.

6:30-7:30 Channels 11-9 — The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau repeats an excellent and strangely moving documentary which studies the life cycle of the sockeye salmon with the focus on the last, tortuous journey upstream to home waters to spawn and, shortly after, to die. Fine underwater filming here and tender moments, such as one of Cousteau's men petting one of the fish after freeing it from a fisherman's net.

7:30-8 Channels 11-9 — The code of teen-agers is examined on The Smith Family with young Bob (Ronny Howard) preferring to take a beating to "finking" on his schoolmates.

10:30-11:30 Channel 2 — As it must to all TV heroes, blindness comes to Dr. Gannon (Chad Everett) on Medical Center. He has been in a car wreck, caused by bad brakes which, we soon learn, were tampered with. It's not a good time for him, what with that young lady who needs heart surgery only he can perform.

8 Lettermen Head Xavier Baseball Roster

Xavier High School has eight lettermen returning from last season's teams that posted a 10-7 record.

Only losses to graduation were second baseman Mike Green, third baseman John Hurley and outfielder Joe Bourassa.

However, junior Terry Kiley, a nifty southpaw, transferred to Appleton West and first baseman Reed Polzin gave up baseball to participate in track.

Twenty-seven boys have been participating in spring drills.

Other Candidates

Other candidates are senior Tom Tillman, outfield; juniors Pat Bourassa, Gary Hurley and Kevin Hurley, first base, and Mike Wendt, outfield; sophomores Mark Ebben, outfield; Bob Lang, third base; Mike Maulik, catcher, and Tim Sullivan, third base, and freshmen Mike Ertle, Tom Floodstrand and Erich Reinl, infield, and Pete Wales, outfield.

Xavier opens its 1971 campaign Saturday with a doubleheader against Two Rivers at Goodland Field.

Probable starters for the Hawks are Beschta, pitching; Barlow, catching; Gary Hurley, first; Conolly, second, Sullivan, third; Mauthe, short, and Ebben Romenesko and Dorzweiler, outfield.

Either Jenkins or Sullivan will pitch the second game.

A strong defense should help the Hawks, but main question marks are at first and pitching.

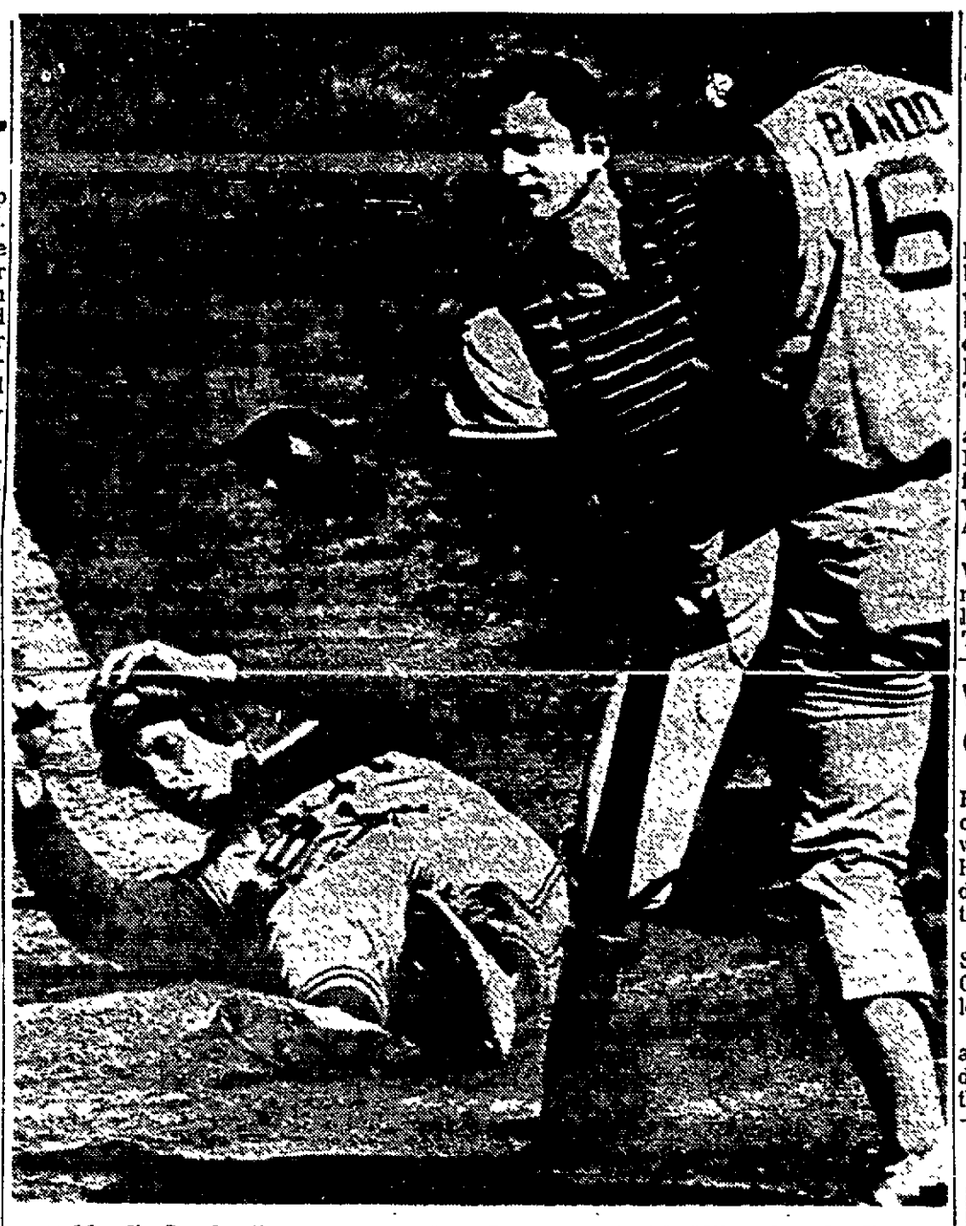
Julian Javier Given Permission to Return Home to Visit Brother

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Second baseman Julian Javier was granted permission Tuesday by the St. Louis Cardinals to return to the Dominican Republic, where his brother is critically ill.

The Cardinals said Ted Sizemore will probably fill in for Javier during an eight-game trip to the West Coast beginning Wednesday.

Utility infielder Dick Schofield played at Javier's position during the Cardinals' 8-4 loss Tuesday to the Houston Astros.



Oakland's Joe Rudi slides across the plate as Milwaukee Brewer catcher Phil Roof whirls too late with a throw from the outfield in Tuesday's American League contest in Milwaukee. Rudi scored on Don Mincher's double. The A's Sal Bando (6) is on deck. Oakland blanked the Brewers, 2-0. (AP Wirephoto)

'I'd Rather be in the Playoffs'

Bulls' Motta Named Coach of Year

CHICAGO (AP) — "That's fine," said Dick Motta of the Chicago Bulls when informed he had been selected Coach of the Year in the National Basketball Association.

"But you can't eat it," Motta added, "and I'd rather be in the playoffs than win this thing."

The Bulls were eliminated in the first round of the playoffs by the Los Angeles Lakers in seven games but Motta received the award for lifting the Bulls to a 51-31 record when the team did not figure to make the playoffs.

The Bulls record was third best in the entire league behind Milwaukee and New York.

Motta received 30 votes from a panel of three sportswriters in each of the 17 league cities. Larry Costello of Milwaukee finished a distant second with 11. The results were announced Tuesday.

Lands 3 Votes

Al Attles of San Francisco landed three votes and New York's Red Holtzman, last year's winner, collected two.

Receiving one vote each were Bob Cousy of Cincinnati, Jack Ramsey of Philadelphia, Lenny Wilkens of Seattle, Joe Mullaney of Los Angeles and Rolland Todd of Portland.

Motta, 39, came to the Bulls three years ago after a successful coaching tenure at Weber State in Utah where his teams won 237 games, lost 34 and captured six Big Sky Conference titles in 12 years.

His first Chicago team had a 33-49 record and his second team was 39-43 and made the playoffs in 1970 before hitting the jackpot this season.

Game Postponed

Top Defensive Player

DeBusschere Cited

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave DeBusschere, an unspectacular but steady all-purpose forward who is at his best against the best, has been named the top defensive player in the National Basketball Association in 1970-71, it was announced today.

The 6-foot-6, nine year veteran, who helped the New York Knicks put some glamor into defense, was the top vote-getter with 32 in the polling for the All-Defensive team.

He was joined by teammate Walt Frazier, last year's top man who got 29 votes in the balloting by the 17 NBA coaches. Two points were awarded for a first team vote, one for a second, with a maximum of 34.

Los Angeles' Jerry West was the other guard with Frazier with 25 points. Baltimore's Gus Johnson was the other forward with 22 and Nate Thurmond of San Francisco the center with 21.

3 Consecutive Years

DeBusschere, who joined the Knicks three years ago, and Frazier have made the first team three consecutive years, while West and Johnson also are repeaters from last year.

The second team included forwards John Havlicek of Boston, 15 points, and Paul Silas of Phoenix, 7; center Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee, 18, and guards Jerry Sloan of Chicago, 13, and Norm Van Lier of Cincinnati, 3.

Willie McCovey Out With Injury

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — First baseman Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants will miss games here with Houston Wednesday and Thursday because of a knee injury, the club doctor said Tuesday.

McCovey twisted his left knee Sunday batting against Bob Gibson in the opener of a doubleheader at St. Louis.

He will have to rest the damaged cartilege for at least two days and won't be in uniform, the team physician said.

Name Five Flowers To Win Crissy Dolls

BY CAPPY DICK

Five Beautiful Crissy dolls, each 17½ inches tall and with luxurious hair that can be combed, set and made to "grow" from a short bob to a flowing sweep, will be the national grand prizes in today's puzzle contest.

This contest is especially for girls, although boys are welcome to enter.

Each Crissy doll, the product of the Ideal Toy Corporation, will include a complete costume consisting of a dress with full-length sleeves and high-style shoes.

For a chance to win one of these popular dolls, a young contestant's contest entry must first win a local qualifying prize. In today's contest this prize is a magic trick called the Imp Bottle, a miniature bottle that will not remain on its side except for the person who knows the secret. Of course, the secret is delivered to each contestant who wins one of the tiny bottles. Entries will be judged for accuracy, neatness and originality. Five Imp Bottles will be awarded to contestants in the Fox Cities area. These winning entries will be matched against qualified entries from all other Hobby Club cities when the judges look for the five neatest and most original entries of all, which will win the Crissy dolls.

The contest is easy to enter. Simply unscramble the names of the five flowers in the picture above. Clip out the picture, paste it on a piece of paper, print the deciphered flower names beneath it and also print your name, age, address and Zip number.

Decorate the entry in any neat, original way with paints, crayons or cutouts. As the final step, address it to Cappy Dick's Midweek Crissy Doll Contest at The Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Names of the prize winners will be published here. The awards will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

Tomorrow: Directions for making a mib-stone novelty!

Kmart FISK TIRE GUARANTEE

TREAD WEAR OUT GUARANTEE

All Fisk tires are guaranteed against tread wear out for the number of months specified on the sales invoice. If the tread is less than 2/32" deep before the end of specified period of use, Kmart will make an allowance* on the purchase of new tire proportionate to the number of months remaining in the time guarantee. (Number of months will be computed from date of purchase.)

TREAD LIFE GUARANTEE

If a Fisk tire fails due to defects in workmanship or material or as a result of road hazard (except in cases of abuse or repairable puncture, as determined by Kmart) at any time while 2/32" or more of the original tread remains, Kmart will, at its option, either repair the tire or make an allowance* on the purchase of a new tire proportionate to the amount of original tread remaining.

This guarantee does not apply to truck or commercial use and is honored nationwide at all Kmart Tire Centers.
